On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHWAB. Mr. Speaker, instead of making a speech I offer a script.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in full on the Journal of the House.

EXTENDED REMARKS OF MR. SCHWAB

Mr. SCHWAB. Mr. Speaker the anthracite industry had for some years been experiencing a diminishing market due to the inroads of competitive fuels. In the year 1939 it found itself with a productive capacity 50% in excess of that required to meet market demands. This brought about chaotic conditions within the industry and it faced almost complete bankruptcy. Producers were unable to meet tax obligations, social security and unemployment taxes went unpaid, and the communities as well as the producers were fast reaching the state of insolvency. In a ten year period, working capital of the industry decreased from more than $100,000,000 to less than $10,000.00, and the average working time of its 100,000 employes had decreased from 225 days per year to 171 days.

In an effort to bring about an end to this chaos, labor and operators with the cooperation of the State in the early part of 1940 wholeheartedly agreed to a program which tended to relate production to market demand. This program, a voluntary one, has brought about a marked degree of stability within the industry. Producers have been enabled to meet current tax liabilities and to pay off overdue obligations. Employment has been stabilized and is showing a marked increase.

All interested parties are wholeheartedly in accord with this voluntary program and they now wish to have the Legislature approve in a formal way what they have been doing informally since January of 1940. This bill, House Bill 1661, will enable the continuance of this program on a voluntary basis, and it is the earnest plea of those who are parties to it, that all members of the House give their approval to this very constructive legislation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 95

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 95, Printer's No. 1008.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 20, 1941.

Whereas, The Polish Army Veterans' Association of America is an organization composed of veterans of the Polish Army, who enlisted as volunteers in 1917 and 1918, from the United States, for service with the Polish forces in France and in Poland; and

Whereas, By special permission of the State and War Departments, and by proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson, the Polish Military Commission was authorized to recruit from among the Poles in the United States Volunteers for the army, after this country entered as a participant in the World War on the side of the Allies; and

Whereas, In addition to the 250,000 soldiers of Polish extraction, who served in the AEF, the Poles contributed some 27,000 volunteers for service with the Polish Army in France who trained at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario at Fort Niagara, N. Y.; and

Whereas, Ninety per cent, of these men saw service in France in 1918 and later in Poland in 1919 and 1920, and upon termination of hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia, they were returned to the United States, under an agreement between this country and Poland; and

Whereas, In May 1921, the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America was formed in Cleveland, Ohio, for the sole purpose of aiding the physically disabled and otherwise incapacitated veterans; and

Whereas, The task that lay before the founders and succeeding leaders of the organization was tremendous, in as much as neither the American nor the Polish governments felt any responsibility for the care of these unfortunates, for purely technical reasons; and

Whereas, With each succeeding year, the need for aid for these disabled veterans has grown; and

Whereas, This association has found a method of raising funds by adopting the corn flower as its official flower, and selling it on the highways in a manner similar to that in which poppies are now sold; be it therefore Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to issue a proclamation setting aside May 3, 1942, and May 3rd of all succeeding years, as "Corn Flower Day," so that the corn flower may be sold by the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America, and the proceeds of such sales applied to the maintenance and upkeep of disabled Polish war veterans.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. ACHTERMAN,

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RUSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a short statement concerning the trial in the Chester Municipal Authority Water case which has just ended. In the trial which ended yesterday Judge Shull handed down a decision ousting the Mayor from office.

I would like to read part of a statement concerning those ouster proceedings. In the formation of the Chester Authority the Mayor and the members of Council set up an Authority under the Act of 1939 and appointed themselves as members of that authority. In addition to that they gave themselves remuneration. Proceedings were started on those grounds. I quote from today's Philadelphia Record:

"Judge Shull ruled that Peoples had no right to make himself a member of the Chester Municipal Authority at an extra annual salary of $1200.

"The ouster action, independent of the malfeasance trial, was brought by James L. Rankin, independent Republican Chester attorney, who represented a group of taxpayers.

"Judge Shull held that Rankin was right in insisting Mayor Peoples is no longer qualified to hold office. He said:

"The Court finds that Clifford H. Peoples is unlawfully holding and exercising the powers and functions of Mayor. The Court therefore enters judgment that the said Peoples be ousted and altogether excluded therefrom . . . and that the relator (Rankin) recover costs from Peoples."

"Judge Shull also said:

"We cannot find, under the law, that one serving as Mayor is in any different position than one serving as a member of Council of a third-class city so far as his right to serve on the board of a municipality, by action of such a municipality, is concerned."

"The office of membership in the municipal Authority, he said, is incompatible with the office of Mayor or members of Council—because they cannot hold an office to which they voted themselves compensation' if it were in their power to vote the extra power and pay.

"Judge Shull further stated that his decree is to become final 'unless exceptions are filed thereto or a request made to have the case heard before the court en banc (meaning the entire Delaware County Court of three Judges) within 10 days of this date.'

"When the malfeasance trial was completed yesterday, Judge Shull charged the jury of six men and six women in language interpreted as a virtual instruction to return a verdict of guilty.

"After waiting until 9:45 P. M. for a verdict, he sent word to the jury that it would be locked up for the night if it could not agree.

"Peoples, ex-Councilman Edward D. McLaughlin and Councilmen William P. Lear, John T. Ross, and William J. McDowell were on trial on charges of mis-, non- and malfeasance in office.

"They were guilty of these charges, the Commonwealth claimed, because they neglected the welfare of Chester's taxpayers when they followed Boss McClure's instructions blindly.

"They followed his instructions, the Commonwealth asserted, when they:

1. Formed the Chester Municipal Authority.
2. Named themselves as members of the authority.
3. Voted to pay themselves $1200 extra annually as members of the authority.

4. Purchased, for $250,000 more than necessary, the common stock of the Chester Water Service Company from the holding Federal Water Service Company of New York.

5. And later sold $6,000,000 in bonds based on the Chester company's revenue at 98.2, when they could have received much more netting McClure's associates an extra profit of $375,000.

"The $250,000, the Commonwealth claimed, was also a private profit for McClure and his gang—$85,000 of it being paid directly to McClure."

By the way that was admitted in testimony that was presented.

"The hearing on Rankin's action—which was also aimed at Lear, McDowell, Ross and McLaughlin—was held last March

"Judge Shull, however, preceded his ouster of Mayor Peoples by detonating an equally loud charge of legal dynamite—one that was also aimed at Peoples.

The Jury was locked up at 4:40 p. m. yesterday. They reached a verdict after 9:00 o'clock when the Judge had retired to his private room in Philadelphia and he did not return to receive their verdict last night, but this morning the Jury returned their verdict, and I am informed that verdict is that the defendants are guilty of misdemeanor in office.

Mr. Speaker, I make these few remarks because there is legislation pending in this House at this time that affects cases similar to this in Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I came in while the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Rush was speaking, and only heard a part of his remarks, and part of what he recounted.

I first would like to say this, however, that in the instance of the ouster proceedings against Mayor Peoples and the others, if these men are guilty of misdemeanor then the officials in forty other municipalities in Pennsylvania are guilty of the same misdemeanor; they all took office on the advice of counsel, many of them eminent counsel, that they were perfectly right in the proceedings which they were taking in these many municipalities. The opinion of Judge Small has been filed. Many lawyers, disagree with that opinion, but nevertheless, that is a matter that is in the courts. It is not a matter, it seems to me, to be discussed on the floor of the House.

I would like to correct what I think was an erroneous impression left by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Rush, as to the verdict of the jury today. The verdict of the jury was that they found the members of Council and the Mayor not guilty of all the charges pertaining to the water deal. The only thing on which they found the Mayor and the Councilmen guilty was that the elected themselves as members of the authority and had paid themselves a salary. Under the opinion of Judge Shull in the quo could do under the explicit direction of the court, but warrant proceedings, there was nothing else the jury as far as all the questions arising on the water deal were concerned, they were found not guilty.

FINAL REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES MADE IN SENATE

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Investigating Committee appointed to investigate certain charges made on the floor of the Senate by the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, on June 4th, I submit herewith the final report of the Investigating Committee.

In the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

FINAL REPORT of the Joint Investigating Committee appointed by virtue of the Concurrent Resolution of the Senate and the House of Representatives adopted June 5, 1941 to investigate certain charges made on the floor of the Senate, June 4, 1941 by the Senator from Fayette, Honorable Anthony J. Cavalcante.

Your Committee reports as follows:

On June 4, 1941, on the floor of the Senate and during the debate on House Bill No. 690, the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, made the statement that a criminal conspiracy exists in the Legislature of Pennsylvania to subvert legislation and that cash had been put on the "barrel head" by vicious and powerful interests to promote the introduction and passage of House Bill No. 690.

After a careful consideration of the information submitted by Senator Cavalcante, stated by him on the floor of the Senate to be the full and complete information upon which he predicated his remarks of June 4, 1941, the Committee respectfully reports to its respective Bodies that, in its opinion, the information fails to establish a prima facie case of criminal conspiracy in the Legislature or improper conduct on the part of Legislators and that there is no evidence submitted to justify or to warrant any further investigation on the part of the Committee.

Your Committee is of the opinion, further, that the charges of Senator Cavalcante were made without reasonable or probable cause and without a proper regard for the rights and integrity of the persons involved. Your Committee deplores the fact that any member of the General Assembly, under the guise of a doubtful constitutional immunity, should so far transgress the ordinary rules of parliamentary propriety and the concepts of proper ethics.

WHEREFORE, your Committee in making this, its final report, does so with the feeling that the Senate, by appropriate action, cause to be expunged from the Record all of the remarks made by Senator Cavalcante, on June 4th, June 9th, and June 16th, 1941 touching the premises.

Respectfully Submitted

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in submitting this report and as an individual who served on the committee I think the House should be informed as to the failure of the report to contain recommendations for disciplinary measures to be taken by the General Assembly.

I would like to call the attention of the House to the authorization contained in the concurrent resolution whereby the Committee was appointed, and point out to the Members that the sole authority vested in the Committee was to investigate and to report, and the Committee therefore felt that no recommendation for disciplinary action should be made by the Committee by reason of that express limitation of power in the appointment.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. PRESLEY N. JONES, FLETCHER and O'DARE offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1941.

Whereas, On June 14, 1941, the Honorable Charles E. Voorhees took unto himself one Dorothy Andrus for better or for worse; and

Whereas, These gay and glorious nuptials were held in the Hotel Sherry Netherlands, New York City, New York; and

REPORT AND DISCHARGE OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 510

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Conference Committee on the part of the House on House Bill 510, I wish to inform the House that this Conference Committee has been unable to agree.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien reports that the Committee on Conference on House Bill 510 Printer's No. 727 has been unable to agree. Therefore the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The question recurs on the amendments made by the Senate in House Bill 510, Printer's No. 727. The Clerk will read the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede from its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, many things go over the desk rapidly and probably are not fully understood by the Members. I think it should be called to the attention of the Members that what happened in this case was that the Conference Committee failed to agree and what we are voting on now is concurrence in the amendments as they were inserted in the bill by the Senate. I have no objection to concurrence in the amendments, and I concur in the motion made by the gentleman on the other side, that the amendments be concurred in. I think the members should realize what the situation is.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld submitted to me before this session a resolution which I understand has since been adopted. I told him that I would have no objection to its introduction and would not raise any objection to obtaining unanimous consent.

There are several things concerning the resolution, however, which I desire to call to the attention of the House. In the first place, it is a recognition on the part of the gentlemen on the other side that we are facing a shortage in gasoline and that there is very likely to be a curtailment in the use of gasoline. I say, Mr. Speaker, that the other side has seemed to recognize the imminent danger of a very prompt curtailment in the use of gasoline. I want to again call the attention of the Members of this House to the fact that curtailment of gasoline is unquestionably going to result in the reduction of revenue which will be received from gasoline taxes. This resolution is certainly a recognition of the imminent danger of prompt curtailment in the use of gasoline. Of course it is something which I think we have all recognized for the last few weeks, but many of the estimates of revenue on the other side seem to have been burying their heads in the sand and refusing to acknowledge the fact. I am glad that the Members on the other side are now admitting it to be a recognized and accepted fact.

I might also call attention to the fact that this resolution is a little too broad in its terms, because it suggests that there is an absolute shortage of gasoline throughout the country, and suggests that the House of Representatives request all manufactures of liquid fuel and its products in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to immediately cease exporting such products. I would have objected to the wording of the resolution had I been present when the resolution was adopted as I did when the gentleman submitted it to me, for several reasons.

In the first place there is no country-wide shortage of gasoline. That probable was not understood by the gentleman or he would not have worded it that way. The shortage of gasoline is on the Eastern Seaboard, and the problem of getting gasoline to the Eastern Seaboard. It is not a problem of the total amount of gasoline available in the United States as a whole. This resolution asks the oil companies not to ship any gasoline from any ports in this country nor to any other people which would of course include shipping gasoline to England. I am wondering whether this House wants to go on record as being opposed to the shipping of gasoline to England or some of the other democracies or and countries in South America. That is what the House apparently has done in the passing of this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I had intended to speak on this resolution but it was called up when I was either making a telephone call or was out of the House. I therefore did not have the opportunity to speak on it at the time, but if the House of Representatives wants to go on record in this way I think it is a mistake. I do not think that the Members of the House heard the resolution and did not consider it at the time or they would not have voted for its adoption.

I may say further that my understanding is that the Federal Government has already stepped in and has made definite arrangements with the oil companies that no more gasoline shall be shipped to certain countries, at least from the Eastern Seaboard.

Mr. Speaker, in consideration of these facts I am wondering whether the gentleman does not want to reconsider his resolution and make some changes in it. I think it would be an advisable thing for him to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ROSENFELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, I regret that I cannot agree with his comments. In the first place the increased demand in the use of gasoline for industrial purposes is facing us today, and it was for that reason it was sought to curtail the use of gasoline on Sundays. The shortage has been caused by reason of that fact and for no other reason.

In answer to the gentleman I might say that we do look for an increase of revenue by reason of the increased use of gasoline for industrial purposes. Of course the curtailment of the use of gasoline on Sundays would further cut into the amount of revenue because of the excessive use of gasoline that we have anticipated during this period of emergency.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, that I may not be misunderstood, I want to say very frankly that I think action to keep gasoline from being sent from the Eastern seaboard to certain foreign nations certainly should be taken. I do not think we should ship gasoline from the Eastern Seaboard, at least to certain foreign countries, but I wonder whether you want to make it all-inclusive so that we would not ship it to any of them. I do not think it should be so, and I personally think that is the feeling on this side of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETHERICK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have my opposition recorded to assenting to the resolution, insofar as it provides for a limitation of gasoline and gasoline products to other than the totalitarian powers. I am heartily in favor of the exportation of gasoline, gasoline products and oil products to the democracies in their struggle for existence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GATES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was in the Banking Committee when this resolution was passed and I would like to be recorded as voting against the resolution as it now reads, because I, too, am in favor of this country sending gasoline and its products to all the democracies wherever they may be in this world.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether I have the right to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the resolution passed. I do not know whether I was in the House at the time the resolution passed or whether I was not.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman was not present and did not vote he could not make such a motion. The motion must be made by a gentleman who voted upon the resolution.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the resolution presented by Mr. Rosenfeld relating to the shipment of gasoline and gasoline products was agreed to, be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, inadvertently there was omitted something which I think was quite serious and which the gentleman from Dauphin has called to our attention. I want to amend the resolution, beginning with the first resolve clause so that it reads in the following manner:

"That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request all manufacturers and producers of liquid fuel and its products in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to immediately cease exporting any such products 'to the totalitarian countries.'"

The second resolve clause to read:

"Resolved that the House of Representatives commend Secretary of the Interior Ickes for his request that all manufacturers of petroleum products cease from exporting all types of products 'to the totalitarian countries.'"

I ask the members of the House to go along on those amendments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the amendments take care of the serious objection I had to this resolution, and I request that all the Members of the House vote in favor of it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

It was adopted.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report of the Committee of Conference be recommitted to the Committee of Conference for further consideration.

On the question

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the House an error has been made in the drafting of this report. The report has not been adopted by the Senate, and therefore, a motion to recommit is in order.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, June 23, 1941, at 8 p. m.

The motion was agreed to and at (1:23 p.m.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, June 23, 1941

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, Thou hast said the earth is for those that dwell therein, for Thou hast founded it upon the seas and established it upon the floods. As evidence of Thy manifest love unto us we know we have the green in the fields and the flowers that deck the hillsides and the leafy glades throughout our Commonwealth, all of which are but the evidence of Thine own wisdom in procuring immortality for the human soul and the joy of living.

Our hearts have been nonplussed again by the further carnage and the spread of war in Europe. May we truly remember, therefore, as a people, that our trust and only haven of safety is in Thee; not in the frightfulness of war but in a clear and decisive and forceful faith in Thee, The Eternal and loving God.

In all our labors here this day may Thy Spirit direct our minds and our hearts, that in the enactment of proposed legislation we might have only the desire to do that which is right, and that which is true for all the people of our Commonwealth. We pray in Thy Holy and Blessed Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, on our desks we have folders that are placed on our desks for the purpose of having bound therein the Journal when it is printed, so that we may know what is in it. I object to approval of any Journal at this time unless we know what is in the Journal that we are approving. I can not intelligently vote on it. There have been times when a Journal has been approved and when placed on our desks did not conform strictly with the matters we had in mind.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to the reading or the approval of any Journal at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Fayette refer to the Legislative Journal of the proceedings of the preceding session?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President, the Legislative Journal that is usually placed on our desks contains the Senate Journal.

The PRESIDENT. That is the Legislative Journal. Is that not on the Senator's desk?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Not for the last meeting that we had last week, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is informed that is never on the Senators' desks the succeeding day, as it takes some time to print the Journal.

The question is on the approval of the Senate Journal of the last session of the Senate.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, may we now have the Journal read in full so that we may know whether it conforms with what we members here on the floor know it to be.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, insists that the Journal be read, the Senate Journal of the last session of the Senate. Is that correct?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Either that, Mr. President, or that we be furnished with a copy of it so that we may know what is contained in it.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette can not have a copy of the Journal until it is printed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest for the information of the gentleman from Fayette that our approval of the Journal is only a tentative approval. After the Journal is printed and copies are available to members of the Senate any corrections or amendments that have to be made thereto may be made.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, there is legislative precedent for that, that the approval we give is merely tentative approval at the time and is not binding upon the members of the Senate or the body itself. My suggestion, Mr. President, is that any reading of the proceedings of the preceding session in toto would not serve any good purpose and would merely delay the legislative business before the body at this time. I do not think that was the intention of the gentleman from Fayette, to have the Journal read in toto.

I suggest to the gentleman from Fayette, as he full well knows, that he is adequately protected in making any amendments to the Journal or to the records that he desires, after the printing of the Journal.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I think the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, has explained the matter very well.

JOURNAL APPROVED

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I therefore move that the further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and approved, at this time subject to the right of correction at any future time.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. It is the understanding of the Chair that when the Journal of a preceding session is approved it stands as approved until such time as a Senator may call the attention of the Senate to errors. Such errors have always been corrected, at least during the incumbency of the present Chair.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Barr asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGINNIS, for the balance of the week.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION DIRECTING JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO REPORT TO 1943 GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON ADVISABILITY OF A CENTRAL TESTING LABORATORY FOR THE STATE GOVERNMENT

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, June 3, 1941.

The report of the Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly on the organization and administration of Pennsylvania's State Government contains the recommendation that "consideration should be given to the feasibility of establishing a central testing laboratory to make all of the tests of the several departments and agencies of the State Government."

Laboratories are now maintained by the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Health, the Department of Property and Supplies and the Department of Highways which result in a duplication of work and expenses; therefore be it

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to undertake an investigation and study of the feasibility and advisability of establishing a central laboratory for the purpose of making such tests, experiments and research as may be required and requested by any department, board, bureau, commission or agency of the State Government and to make a report of their findings and recommendations to the General Assembly not later than February first, one thousand nine hundred forty-three: and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Chairman of the said Joint State Government Commission.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING GOVERNOR TO SET ASIDE MAY 3RD AS "CORN FLOWER DAY" IN HONOR OF POLISH WAR VETERANS

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

In the House of Representatives, May 20, 1941.

Whereas, The Polish Army Veterans Association of America, is an organization of veterans composed of the Polish Army who enlisted as volunteers in 1917 and 1918 from the United States for service with the Polish forces in France and in Poland; and

Whereas, By special permission of the State and War Department and by proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson the Polish Military Commission was authorized to recruit from among the Poles in the United States volunteers for the army after this country entered as a participant in the World War on the side of the Allies; and

Whereas, In addition to the 250,000 soldiers of Polish extraction who served in the AEF the Poles contributed some 27,000 volunteers for service with the Polish Army in France who trained at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, and at Fort Niagara, N. Y.; and

Whereas, Ninety per cent of these men saw service in France in 1918 and later in Poland in 1919 and 1920 and upon termination of hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia they were returned to the United States under an agreement between this country and Poland; and

Whereas, In May 1921 the Polish Army Veteran Association of America was formed in Cleveland, Ohio, for the sole purpose of aiding the physically disabled and otherwise incapacitated veterans; and

Whereas, The task that lay before the founders and succeeding leaders of the organization was tremendous in as much as neither the American nor the Polish governments felt any responsibility for the care of these unfortunates for purely technical reasons; and

Whereas, This association has found a method of raising funds by adopting the corn flower as its official flower and selling it on the highways in a manner similar to that in which poppies are now sold; be it therefore

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to issue a proclamation setting aside May 3 1942 and May 3rd of all succeeding years as "Corn Flower Day" so that the corn flower may be sold by the Polish Army Veterans Association of America and the proceeds of such sales applied to the maintenance and upkeep of disabled Polish war veterans.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington will proceed.

Mr. REED. Mr. President—our democratic form of constitutional government was wisely divided into three important branches, namely, the legislative, executive and judicial. This system was established to prevent concentration of power in order that independence could be generally and uninterruptedly fostered and maintained.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania in its first Article declares "All men are born equally free and independent—"

History is full of authorities in support of the proposition that independent men are the strength and bulwark of any Republic, and when people, through fear or weakness, release and surrendered their inherent right of independent thought and action democracy falls apart and disappears.

We, who love America, should ask ourselves the question, whether this great Republic is dying from the loss of that pure independence that formerly gave it life and power. In 1837, from the floor of this Senate, I discussed the drift of power from the people into the hands of the few, and today I reiterate the apprehension then expressed and emphasized the danger arising from this dictatorial tendency. However, it is not my purpose today to enter into a discussion of the National phase of this serious problem, but I do propose to point out certain unwholesome conditions that exist in our beloved Commonwealth today that vitally affect our free form of government.

Before doing so, I wish to commend the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Edmonds, for his instructive statement given to the Senate recently, and I sincerely hope that every member of this Senate will carefully read the same as a part of his public duty in this season of grave national emergency.

The legislative branch of our government is named first by the framers of our State Constitution. As the Assembly was created to make laws for the general welfare of all the people of this Commonwealth, the Constitutional fathers wisely provided proper safeguards for the guidance and protection of its members. Controlled assemblymen could never fit into a system devised to make laws for a free people. Section 11 of Article II provides, in part, "Each House shall have power . . . to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation" . . . This provision is of extreme importance, for if a member's independence is controlled or bartered away then a putrefying and destructive situation results. Much has been said in this Senate in the last few weeks touching on this subject. I do not intend to question the honor or integrity of any member, but I am compelled to assert that wherever you find conditions prevailing in your legislative halls as have existed to a noticeable degree in and about this Senate Chamber during the last several months, ugly and disturbing suspicions naturally appear. For months, this hall has been infested and overrun with high powered men and good-looking women, representatives of distinct groups and organizations, each directly interested in advancing their own cause, and freely seeking help wherever it might be found. The activities of these persons have been such as to greatly interfere with the work of the Senators at their individual desks and have taken away any privacy that might belong to the members of this body. At first their fervor and zeal led them to the rail of the Chamber, but in recent weeks, with freedom and boldness, they have taken possession of the anteroom in the rear of the President, and have swarmed through the gates and onto the floor of the Senate reserved exclusively for the members and their aides.

It seems that this unwholesome practice has been revitalized and enlarged by the competition engendered by the various groups in their efforts to out-do and overcome their respective opponents. They work on the belief that any legislation can be passed if the supporting group is of sufficient strength. They reason that their eternal presence before the eyes of the members will secure obedience to their cause.

Legislation enacted through the employment of such methods is generally lopsided and harmful. Group legislation will help some, but it will hurt others. Legislation for a republic must favor no group, must foster no monopoly, but must tend to promote the general welfare of all the people. Group legislation should be discouraged; special privileges should at all times be denied.

Firm and courageous action by the members of this Senate will be necessary to control and curb this prevailing and increasing evil. Rule 28 of this Senate provides:

"No person shall be admitted within the Senate Chamber (galleries excepted) during its sessions, unless invited by a member of the Senate, except the members and officers of the two branches of the legislature, the Governor, heads of departments, ex-members of the Legislature, and stenographers to report proceedings of the Senate for publication, under the direction of the President pro tempore. No person or persons shall be permitted to occupy the seats of Senators or pass across the floor of the Senate when the Senate is in Session; nor shall any person or persons, at any time, be permitted to enter the room of the transcribing clerks or pass before the President. All obstructions in, and passing across the enclosed circle are prohibited."

The rule is violated daily. The patient and affable presiding officer of this Senate has many times courteously pointed out to the assembled multitude the nature of the privilege extended them but without lasting effect.

Let the members of this Senate now act. Let all lobbyists, female and male, little and big, small and great, be assigned seats in the gallery, from where they may be permitted to submit to the Senate, in a proper and legal manner, any views they may have on pending legislation. With their removal from the floor of the Senate much of the suspicion and many of the ugly rumors will disappear.

There is also one other matter that should be mentioned at this time for the good of the cause. Often persons possessing the name of politicians appear at the rail of the Senate where they call into conversation members of the body. Pure motives are likely back of such practice, but in these unsettled times any and all avoidable acts that might cause distrust or affect public confidence should be dispensed with. Political bossism of all types should be belligerently opposed. Back through the years, wherever bossism's ugly hand touched legislative bodies blight and paralysis followed. Such rule is found only where public servants are willing to submit to boss domination. Political bossism cannot live in an atmosphere where freedom and independence are found.

Two great, liberal American Presidents of our day, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, clearly discerned the deleterious effect of bossism and lobbyism on our democratic form of government, and both fearlessly and openly contended for their destruction. Woodrow Wilson, on being asked his plan for abolishing bossism, said, "I would propose to abolish it, by the election to office of men who will refuse to submit to it, and who will lend all their energies to breaking it up by pitiless publicity." Two things—-independent men, and "pitiless publicity."

Say what you will about the work of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, during the last several weeks, his efforts in bringing to the attention of the public certain matters relating to these subjects will undoubtedly mark him as a disciple of the great Woodrow Wilson in his advocacy of "pitiless publicity," and will, in this respect do much good.

I have finished. I may have spoken in vain. There are those who feel our efforts are fruitless; that "we have been weighed in the balance and found wanting." I still hope that courage and independence will prevail. I still believe that a just God will support and sustain those in the public service who, fearlessly and conscientiously, look after the general welfare of His people.

L. 184) entitled "An act to provide revenue by imposing a mercantile license tax on vendors of or dealers in goods wares and merchandise and providing for the collection of said tax" as amended exempting from the mercantile license tax so much of the business of manufacturers producers and mechanics as comprises the vending of goods of their manufacture or production except business transacted at places of business operated by them apart from their factories places of production loading pockets, places of storage and workshops.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I hardly think it will be necessary to point out to my colleagues the use of a joker in a card game or in an Act of Assembly. I have become pretty experienced with the first one myself and I am learning quickly about the other.

In the legislature the joker often serves a useful purpose. With its use, we kid our political opponents and every now and then, the public. But there comes a time when the joker becomes a serious matter—a serious betrayal of our public responsibility. And such a situation has developed with House Bill No. 820, introduced in the House, and amended on third reading on June 18, 1941. This bill was introduced under the guise of clarifying the mercantile tax law of 1899.

I have the highest personal regard for the sponsors of this bill in the House, but I believe them to be innocent but willing pawns of unscrupulous schemers—the men who requested the introduction of this bill.

Gentlemen, I characterize this bill as a Trojan Horse loaded with powerful dynamite designed to destroy free, private enterprise within the state and to crush the small business man in certain fields of mercantile activity—the man who forms the very backbone of our financial independence, the component of the class so essential to the continuance of our democratic principles of existence.

The vicious feature of this bill is the simplicity with which it fools. Somehow, I cannot help thinking of the author who said: "Laws are generally found to be nets of such a texture, as the little creep through, the great break through, and the middle size are alone entangled in." This bill was not designed to aid the public welfare, but to benefit a certain handful of men, who would reap as rich a harvest of gold from its enactment as ever came from the hands of Midas.

Let us look to the record, as Al Smith used to say.

I now read from the bill, or the portions that have been amended. I refer to House Bill No. 820, as amended on third reading in the Senate on June 18, 1941.

Let us now go down to line number 9, page 1. The act of 1899 exempted manufacturers. I now note it also includes producers. Who are producers? Oil producers? This helps to clarify the bill. Go down to the next line—manufacture or production—"or production" are the amended words, as was the word "producers;" on the next line "except business transacted at places of business operated by them apart from their factories, places of production, loading pockets (up until now not exempted) places of storage (and what are places of storage) and workshops—(of course that was in before.) Let us go to page 3, where you will find the same amendments along the same lines. At the bottom of page 3, the same amendments. Now turn to page 4. The same amendments both prospectively and retroactively; in the law before and in the law today.

It must be remembered, Mr. President, that previously the act of 1899, the mercantile tax law, as construed by the courts, permitted a manufacturer to sell the very article he processed without paying a mercantile tax, provided it was sold at the place of manufacture or at the workshop. If he sold another man's product, no matter where it was, he paid the tax. This bill now before us actually proposes that the manufacturer shall henceforth be permitted to sell anybody's product providing it is sold from his place without paying the tax, as long as he sells it at the factory or at his warehouse.

The joker, as you will shortly see, is in the word "storage"—page 1 in the title, "factories, places of production, loading pockets, places of storage."

Thus, Mr President, the bill attempts to get around the decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in Commonwealth versus Lutz, 284 Pa., page 185, and the syllabus of Commonwealth versus Lutz reads: "A plumber is not liable for payment of a mercantile license tax under the act of May 2, 1899," P. L. 184, "on that portion of his business relating to contracts which he performs wherein he furnishes materials, and labor and that covering jobbing and repairing, where he also furnishes material and labor."

Paragraph two of the syllabus says: "But he is liable for that which covers the sale of materials purchased from others upon which he expends no labor. As to this he is liable for the gross volume of his business, and is not exempt if his business is less than five hundred dollars per year."

Mr. President, may I read to you the opinion as handed down by Mr. Justice Shaffer in this particular case:

"In this case we have presented the question whether a plumber is liable for the payment of the mercantile tax imposed by the act of May 2, 1899, P. L. 184, and, if he is, does liability attach to the entire volume of the business which he transacts or only part of it?

"Defendant is a registered or licensed master plumber. Under the agreed upon facts, his business divides itself into three (3) branches, (1) that relating to contracts which he performs, wherein he furnishes materials and labor, (2) jobbing or repairing, in which the like situation exists, (3) the sale of materials purchased from others, upon which he expends no labor.

"Defendant contends that he is not a dealer, and, therefore, not subject to the mercantile tax, so far as the first two branches are concerned, and, as to the third, that the gross volume of his business for the year in question amounts to $359.62, therefore he is exempt under the terms of the Act April 9, 1870, P. L. 59, which stipulates 'That hereafter manufacturers and mechanics who shall sell goods, wares or merchandise other than their own manufacture, not exceeding the sum of five hundred dollars per annum, shall not be classified or required to pay any annual tax or license fee; but if such sales shall exceed the sum or value of five hundred dollars per annum, as aforesaid, they shall be classified in the same manner, and required to pay the same annual tax as is now required to be paid by dealers in foreign merchandise. He also contends that if he be a dealer within the meaning of the Act of 1899, he is nevertheless exempt under the exceptions contained in section 10 of the Act of May 4, 1841, P. L. 307.

"As to the first and second branches of defendant's business, our conclusion is that he is not liable to pay a mercantile license tax thereon. Plumbers and like artisans and craftsmen, such as carpenters, bricklayers stone masons, plasterers, et cetera, who contract to furnish labor and materials for an undertaking, either in its construction in the first instance, or its alteration or repair, are not within the scope of the mercantile tax act and are not comprehended within the term "dealers," who are the persons from whom that particular impost is collectible.

"Such a craftsman in the language of Mr. Justice Black (quoting cases) is not a dealer because he is 'not one who buys to sell again,' in the sense in which merchants buy and sell.

"In Commonwealth versus Wormley, 173 Pa. 586, we reached the determination that a plumber was not liable for a mercantile tax where he had no store or other place at which he did business as a buyer and seller. There is nothing in the act of 1899 which would embrace within its terms a master or licensed plumber, so far as the contract and jobbing or repair features of his business are concerned, and the court below was correct in so determining.

"As to the third branch of defendant's business, where he sells materials just as any ordinary dealer would, we are of opinion that he is liable for the tax, unless the Act of April 9, 1870 P. L. 59 relieves him, and we think it does not. That act is no longer in effect, having been repealed by the General Mercantile License Tax Act of 1899, which is a comprehensive enactment, wherein the Legislature undertook to revise the whole subject of mercantile taxes and make subject to the tax 'each retail vendor of or retail dealer in goods, wares and merchandise,' without exemption of any kind, repealing 'all acts or parts of acts general, special or local inconsistent' therewith, of which the act of 1870 was one. For the same reason the cited sections of the earlier Acts of May 4, 1841, P. L. 307, April 22, 1846, P. L. 846, and February 27, 1868, P. L. 43, are of no avail in exempting the defendant.

"Our determination, therefore, must be that as to the third branch of his business, under which the gross volume of sales for the year in question amounts to $359.62, the defendant is liable for a mercantile tax, and the court erred in concluding otherwise."

Mr. President, I have a few other cases here that I will cite which I will not read at length, which I know you gentlemen will all take as the law on the subject:

Title 72 Purdun's Pennsylvania Statutes, Paragraph 18 on page 2621 reads: Manufacturers and mechanics in general. Manufacturers and mechanics who, whether at their manufacturing establishments or at a separate store or warehouse, sell goods manufactured by other persons, and upon which they have not bestowed their own care, skill and labor, are liable to the tax.

"Manufacturers and mechanics who keep a store or warehouse, distinct from their manufacturing establishments, where they sell goods, manufactured by themselves, are liable to the tax.

"All manufacturers and mechanics who bestow care, skill and labor upon the articles manufactured and sold by them, if the goods are sold—mind you, now, Mr. President—if the goods are sold at the manufacturing establishments; including blacksmiths, tinsmiths, saddlers, wheelrights, plumbers, carpenters, undertakers, millers, merchant tailors, milliners and dressmakers, are exempt from the payment of the mercantile license tax.

"Manufacturers who sell their own products at their factories, or send them to factors or commission merchants to sell are exempt, however, from the payment of the mercantile license tax."

Now, as to the oil refining companies, and they are specifically provided for in this bill under "producers and places of production," where a corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing petroleum products, maintains, apart from its factory, permanent distribution stations, to which oil is transported from the factory, and from which it is sold at wholesale and retail and distributed by motor trucks and wagons, the corporation is liable for the payment of the mercantile tax. Another case on the same subject cited in Purdens, page 2622:

"Where a corporation engaged in manufacturing petroleum products maintains apart from its factory a permanent distributing station to which oil is transported from the factory and from which it is sold by wholesale and retail and distributed by motor trucks, the corporation is liable for the mercantile tax on the business transacted at the station."

Mr. President, there are a few other cases on the same point as to oil companies. However, I will go back and touch upon some other cases.

Coal mining companies—and this is provided for in this present amendment to the bill, under loading pockets—a coal mining company which sells coal at retail from its chutes is a vendor and liable to assessment for payment of a mercantile tax. That is the present law and it has never been questioned.

Mr. President, also in title 72, paragraph 2621, "one carrying on a business of selling goods, wares and merchandise manufactured by him at a store or warehouse apart from his manufactory—(This amendment says places of storage.) What is a warehouse if not a place of storage?), is liable to taxation on the volume of his business done by him at such store or warehouse. This amendment exempts the selling of any merchandise at the storage places.

Mr. President, a few minutes ago I read at length the case of Commonwealth versus Lutz, 284 Pa. 184, but that is not all. It proposes, as I have just read that anyone who produces, and that means principally oil and coal producers among others, may sell their oil or coal at any loading pocket or at any storage yard they maintain without paying a tax. Let us see what that means. In the case of Atlantic Refining Company versus Van Valkenberg, 265 Pa. 456, it has been held that oil producers who maintain retail outlets or service stations had to pay a mercantile tax and they did in my opinion, under this amendment they do not have to pay a tax. To overcome this condition the oil companies leased out their oil stations to private individuals, who took over the tax, paying the tax while the oil companies got out of the retail field. Now they want to come back into the retail field, and by the bill before us, all they have to do to accomplish this end is to open retail service stations at every oil storage yard they own in the state and then they do not have to pay the mercantile tax, but in so doing they compete not only with the small service stations generally, but with their own lessees who are struggling against the great disadvantage of having to pay the tax.

As for manufacturers generally, whether it be in the line of dresses, candy, or what not, all they have to do to create a gold mine for themselves and stifle competition in the bargain is to open a warehouse, or what passes for a storage place, in any neighborhood of their own choice, and then retail their products without paying a dollar's worth of tax, while the small retail store keeper would have to face, in addition to paying the manufacturer's profit, probably a middleman's profit, also have to pay a mercantile tax. By this subtle method, a manufacturer could open as many retail branches as he pleased, provided he observed the outward forms of the law.

A coal operator can set up loading pockets on any railroad siding in the state and sell his coal at retail without paying the tax. It does not take much imagination, Mr. President, to see how easily this bill might be stretched to fit chain store grocers who package many of their products, mail order houses who by slight changes in their operation simply manufacture their merchandise, put up storage houses and claim they are exempt under the law and sell it to anybody as they please, without paying a tax, who by slight change in their operation become manufacturers, and a host of other large units whose monopolistic habits are well-known to you, and who are willing to accommodate themselves to its provisions by simple changes in their manner of operation.

These illustrations can be multiplied indefinitely, but the point remains that this bill opens the door wide open to a vast growth of monopoly, stifling competition, and driving the small businessman out of competition at the whims of the manufacturer or the oil producer or the coal operator.

Nor, Mr. President, is this the least of the problem, According to the very wording of the bill, it is to operate—shown on page 4, I believe, I may be wrong, but I think it is section 2, page 4—the provisions of this act shall operate prospectively and retroactively and shall be construed to exempt from the payment of the mercantile license tax manufacturers, producers and mechanics for each and every year prior to the effective date of this act, as to business transacted which is exempted by this act.

You may talk about plunderbunds and raids on the public treasury. This would put everything of that sort that ever happened in this state into the shade. Not only are the men who requested the passage of this bill asking the state to surrender to them a large and imposing part of its revenue, at a time when the Governor is crying in bitter agony for more and more economy to save closed state institutions, but they have the insufferable gall to ask refunds on all the money ever paid by them—which this bill now offers to exempt—back to 1899, a little matter of forty-two years. I ask you to consider how many millions of dollars this would syphon off from the State Treasury now, tomorrow and thereafter.

Considering all of this on top of the fact that the state would likewise lose their revenues derived from the small retail store owners, service stations operators or coal dealers forced out of business and whose employees would be forced out of employment.

Should any of you suppose that the harm this bill would do would be small, remember a small drop of ink can discolor a glass of water; that all malignant growths start with one cell but they grow rapidly; that a mountain can crumble finally when one certain grain of sand is dislodged.

United States Senator O'Mahoney, in completing a study of monopolistic practices affecting small businesses said, in his capacity as chairman of the temporary National Economy Committee, a month or two ago, that in order to preserve our democratic way of life, it is of the utmost importance to preserve small businesses and private enterprise by preventing the growth of monopolies which thrive at the expense of the little fellow.

Under this bill Mr. President, the Commonwealth is being sold short. Who is behind this bill? I think I know and I think from what I have told you, you may know too. It is certainly not the small businessman who already paid the tax; it is not the charitable institutions of the state languishing because of insufficient appropriations; it is not the worker who might lose his job if his small businessman employer is forced out of business; it is not any of these men who might be affected by the passage of this bill. It is the manufacturers, the oil men, the coal operators, in and out of this state, the chain store men, all of whom would reach into your pockets, and mine, and enrich themselves at the expense of the needy, of the general public on which monopoly feeds once it eliminates its competitors.

I say with directness that without your knowledge, the eyes of many will see and watch you, as they have done already. I say with Burke, that great English statesman of yesterday, "That a society cannot exist unless a controlling power upon will and appetite be placed somewhere, and the least of it there is within, the more there must be without." Green is a tree, whose branches are of immeasurable length, they spread everywhere and the dew that drips from them infects some chairs of authority.

If laws are the sovereigns of sovereigns, as they say, then let us say with Daniel Webster, "It has honored us; may we honor it." There is no place in this Commonwealth for the doctrine that the law should allow what honor forbids. We owe it to the Commonwealth, to the honor of the men who make its laws, that this hall shall not be the hatching place from which, nor its portals the avenues into which, greed in its many garments and subtle disguises may carry out its nefarious ends.

Mr. President, I spoke to you of a joker. This bill is worse than a joker, it is a malicious one, a vicious one, this bill is worse than a joker, it is a plain, vicious wire pulling, a threat to your honor and a challenge to your intelligence. This bill by all means should be defeated.

If there is any need for clarifying the law let us change the definition of the word or properly define the words "dealers, manufacturers, retailers and wholesalers."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with everything the gentleman from Philadelphia says about monopolies. In fact, every week we who come from western Pennsylvania have a very vivid example of what monopolies can do. We who come from western Pennsylvania and who travel the Turnpike have learned how bad food can really be when there is a monopoly which owns all of the food rights on the Turnpike and how stiff the prices can be for the same food you could get elsewhere for much less.

The one thing that disturbs me is that if we remove the word "producers" from this bill, in the amendment, and if we remove the amendment on page three, will the farmer who unloads milk at a loading platform be affected and have to pay a tax.

I agree in substance and fact with what the gentleman from Philadelphia says, but I cannot allow the bill to pass if that amendment is removed if in removing that amendment we tax the farmers.

Mr. WALKER. May I suggest, Mr. President to the gentleman from Philadelphia I was deeply interested in his remarks. My interpretation of this bill is—and if I am wrong I know the gentleman from Philadelphia will correct me, because he has read it very carefully—I started to read the proviso at the bottom of page two, line 28, where it says, "that the provisions of this section shall not apply to the taxation, for mercantile license proposes, of manufacturers, producers or mechanics vending goods of their manufacturer or production, except upon such portion of their business as is transacted at places of business, stores, yard or warehouse operated by them apart from their factories, places of production, loading pockets, storage or workshops, for the purpose of vending their goods nor," and so on.

Now, Mr. President, my interpretation of the amendment that was in House Bill No. 820, was that the tax would not apply except upon the portion of their business as is transacted at these loading pockets and storage places, that were objected to so strenuously by the gentleman from Philadelphia. May I suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, just to show the difference in coming from the country and a city like Philadelphia, that the point which worried me in arriving at a conclusion as to how to vote on this bill was the problem of the little man who operates a confectionary store or a drug store and manufactures his own ice cream and disposes of it—whether or not he would have an unfair advantage over a person who bought his ice cream from a large ice cream manufacturer like some we have in Pittsburgh.

I do not see the sinister hand of the oil producer in this, may I suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia that his illustration of a drop of ink discoloring water is very appropos, because the sinister hand of oil always seems to permeate all the legislation that the gentleman on the left objected to. I can remember reading in the newspapers that there was a time in the legislative history of Pennsylvania that, when the rain struck these windows the Democrats shivered, "it sounded like gravel," and every time we get a bill to which the Democrats object immediately you will note the hands of the oil producers appear.

In all fairness to those who are interested in protecting interests they have a right to protect, may I suggest nowhere can the oil producers be placed above the milk producers or the producers of any other commodity that is sold in Pennsylvania. I have no grief for the oil producers or the milk producers, neither do I desire to carry the flag for them, but I do not think it is fair to becloud what might be a good piece of legislation by trying to smear it with oil. That is a very common practice which was made very popular at one stage of American history, and this business of seeing an iron hand reaching surreptitiously into every piece of legislation before us is silly. I think if the gentleman from Philadelphia will read the bill carefully he will discover an exception that is noted upon line five, page three, which certainly takes the milk producers and producers of oil out of this bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not care a snap of my finger about this bill. I do want to say, however, the oil producer is not in this bill under any circumstances. We are unfortunately in a position where we do not have anything to say about whom we sell our oil or the price as the refinery comes to our tanks and takes the oil and we have nothing to do with it, nothing to do with the price.

We do not pay any mercantile tax under any construction of the law and we are not in this picture at all and nobody can drag us in, because we do not have anything to do with the mercantile tax. We do not sell any oil except to a refinery who comes and gets it and we are not in this picture at all.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I am somewhat confused by the oratory of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, and would like to interrogate him.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JASPAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I would like to ask whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, is for or against the bill as it came to the Senate from the House.

Mr. JASPAN. Definitely yes, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. Yes what, Mr. President. Is the gentleman for the bill?

Mr. JASPAN. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, asked whether I was for or against it. If I said "no" I would be against it. It is very simple.

Mr. KEPHART. I will rephrase my question so that maybe I can understand the answer. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, tell me whether or not he is for the bill as it came from the House.

Mr. JASPAN. Against the bill, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. The gentleman from Philadelphia is against the bill?

Mr. JASPAN. That is correct, Mr. President, yes.

Mr. KEPHART. That is all I wanted to know, Mr. President, I think in the speech just delivered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, you will find a lot of mistakes and a lot of misunderstanding. This bill does not exempt all manufacturers, producers and mechanics from paying this tax when they sell goods to somebody else; it only exempts them when they vend their own goods at the place of manufacture and they must pay a mercantile tax when they vend those goods at a place apart from their factory or warehouse.

This is merely to put the law into the shape everybody thought it was in before the Supreme Court discovered it was not in that state.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I stated at the very outset that where a manufacturer puts his own skill and labor and work into a commodity, or merchandise manufactured by him, was sold at that particular place, he is exempt from payment of the tax. There is no question about that. However, where he has a store or warehouse or any other plant he is not exempt, but under this amendment—wait a minute, let us get to the bottom of page 1 in the title, as to the amendments, where it says “or production except business transacted at places of business operated by them apart from their factories, places of business (which was not in the original act and is in the amendment now)—loading pockets, (and if he sells from there and that is not the place of production he does not have to pay a tax)—places of storage—(which were not exempt until now, and now if he sells from the place of storage he is exempt).

Mr. President, the worst feature of this bill, and we are overlooking it, appears on page 4, section 2, the retroactive feature, which says: “The provisions of this act shall operate prospectively and retroactively and shall be construed to exempt from the payment of the mercantile license tax manufacturers, producers and mechanics for each and every year prior to the effective date of this act as to business transacted.” That is a very bad feature and in addition to what I have already said, I will agree with my friend that where a man produces his own goods and sells from that place he is exempt, and where he sells from a store he is not, but if he puts up a store—in any case it is a storage place—he may be permitted to sell in competition with the ordinary business man and still be exempt.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, who is intended to be exempt by the use or the word “producers” in this bill.

Mr. KEPHART. Well, as I see it, Mr. President, any one who produces any goods, wares or merchandise, and it depends on the definition of goods, wares and merchandise. I should think it would cover coal, oil, farm produce or any other commodity.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, they are not presently exempt under the law.

Mr. KEPHART. They are not presently exempt under the decision of the Supreme Court, which is now up for reargument. They have been exempt for four years—everybody thought they were exempt until the Supreme Court handed down its decision.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, have coal dealers been paying taxes on coal produced by them and sold from their mines?

Mr. KEPHART. No. Mr. President, I do not think they have.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the vice in this bill, if anything, lies in the use of the word “producers.” With respect to sales from other places, the trouble arises from the wording and from the failure to read the act. The amending act says that the taxing act is amended by “exempting from the mercantile license tax so much of the business of manufacturers, and so forth as is produced and manufactured by them, except business transacted at places other than their factories. That means that all goods which are exempt are only those goods which are sold from the place at which they are manufactured.

The exemption is not as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspán, understood it—excepting taxes from those places—but this bill places a tax on all goods which are not sold from the place, and places it on all goods which are sold from other stations, and it clarifies it by saying on page 3 “the object of this proviso (is) to relieve from the mercantile license tax only so much of the whole volume gross of business annually of manufacturers, producers and mechanics as is not transacted at places of business, stores, yards, or warehouses operated by them apart from their factories, places of production, loading pockets” and so forth.

In other words, Mr. President, while the words used are confusing, the fact is when you analyze them it only exempts the tax when it is sold from the place of business; it does not exempt the tax when it is not sold from the place of business. My complaint about the bill is not that, but my complaint about the bill is if producers were not exempt before they ought not to be put in now, because it will cost the various communities which are looking for this money a great deal of money. If they were exempt before, the word “producers” is not necessary to be included. The only question arising from the decision was whether a producer was to be taxed if he did not add anything to the article which he produced. The case of the plumber is in point, where a plumber bought something and then added labor, whether this added labor should be taxed. The Supreme Court said “No.”

This act says “manufacturers or mechanics vending goods of their manufacture or production” shall not be taxed. That is the way it was originally but the amendment added the word “producers” who produce their own goods shall not be taxed.

As I recall this bill when it was introduced, it was introduced primarily to clarify what was meant by a manufacturer, not what was meant by a producer, and while I can not agree with my friend from Philadelphia that the exception to which he refers is an additional exemption, I say to him on the contrary the exception means simply that those places where merchandise which is manufactured and sold, if those places are not places of manufacture, they are taxed. Therefore I can not agree with him on that point. I do agree, however, that the injection of the word “producers” is unnecessary and should not be in the bill and for that reason I shall vote against the bill because it creates an exempt class which was not in the bill in the first instance.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, agree with the amendments in section 2 on page 4 as to the retroactive feature of the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I agree with them, Mr. President, because they were originally in the act in 1899, but they did not pertain to what the gentleman says, because what they mean is that anybody who may now be taxed under the existing law will not have to pay a tax. In other words, it does not create a situation whereby people who paid a tax twenty years ago could be exempt. It simply means that pending cases which would not be affected by this law now will be affected, so I do not agree that this amendment has done anything to the bill. That was in the act originally in 1899.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia agree that the word "retroactively" should be removed from the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. No, Mr. President, I do not agree that it should be.

Mr. JASPAN. The gentleman does not agree, Mr. President?

Mr. SHAPIRO. No, Mr. President, because if the word "retroactively" is removed from the bill, a man who would have to pay a tax for 1940, and under this act should be exempted, would be taxed. In other words this act speaks as of today and would not exempt a person who would have to pay the 1940 tax. That is what is intended, to correct the situation with regard to manufacturers who might in 1941 be taxed for 1940. Nobody could go any further than that because any tax already paid is paid, is not exempt under the law, and cannot be recovered now. That can not be called unfair.

Mr. JASPAN. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentlemen from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, if it is true, if this bill were enacted and became law, and the retroactive feature would enable the Commonwealth to tax a merchant or a manufacturer, whoever he may be, for taxes owing in 1940, what would stop them from attempting to collect taxes owing for the years 1938 and 1939.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Well, Mr. President, if a merchant did not pay the taxes for 1938 and 1939, he should pay it, and this law would make him pay it. If it was more than six years, the statute of limitations would apply. I see no objection to making a man pay a tax that he should pay.

Mr. JASPAN. In other words, it is retroactive, is that correct?

Mr. SHAPIRO. The original act was retroactive and was so intended. This amendment does not change that provision. These acts must be made retroactive or the Commonwealth will lose probably a years' taxes. On the other hand, if the amendment is not retroactive, a person who is not required to pay will be obliged to pay last years' taxes. If he is entitled to the exemption he should not be made to pay the tax.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Gertz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GERTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I inquire of the Majority Floor Leader whether he would agree to have this bill go over for a day or so or put it on the postponed calendar so we can further study the bill and possibly make amendments that will overcome any objections to the bill.

Mr. GERTZ. Mr. President, this bill has been amended I think once at least, possibly twice, and I believe that our colleague from Philadelphia has misinterpreted the wording of the bill and has a misunderstanding of it. I would like very much to have this bill voted on today, and I do not see any reason why it should not be.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I regret the decision that has been made not to have the bill go over in order, as I want to vote for the bill, but if it does not go over, in order to clarify certain provisions of the bill I do not understand, I will have to vote against the bill in its present condition; if it goes over in order, I think we can come to some agreement. This is a House bill and I do not think there is any hurry.

Mr. GERTZ. May I suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that those individuals who want to vote against the bill are at perfect liberty to do so. There is nothing to prevent them from doing so.

Mr. DENT. I think that is a very bad attitude to take at this time. We are being accused by the public and the papers of not being able to get together. I do not clearly understand this bill. Questions have been raised in my mind by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, whom I think has made an honest effort to point out some of the things he thinks are bad. At first I was inclined to go along and still am inclined to go along, as I really think it does some good for the coal people up in the anthracite region. However, the attitude of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Gertz, I do not think is fair. I think if the bill goes over a day or two we can get together. Otherwise I will do exactly what the gentleman suggests, vote against it.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, was in error in asking the Majority Floor Leader, that this bill go over as I think that request should have been directed to the Chair. My interpretation of the bill leads me to believe there are no grounds for the grave fears expressed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, but there are one or two things that I think ought to be cleared up. There is the question as to the amount of tax it will cost the Commonwealth in the event of the enactment of this bill. I think he has also raised one or two other interesting points that have left some doubt in the minds of those who wish to vote for the bill and I again, Mr. President, suggest the gentleman from Philadelphia should have directed his request that the bill go over in order to the Chair, rather than the Majority Floor Leader.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1108, (House Bill No. 820), on final passage, go over in its order until tomorrow in order to give the Senators time to study the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection.

Mr. GERTZ. Mr. President, I have no objection if this bill goes over in its order until tomorrow. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, asked whether we had any objection if the bill went over in its order for a day or so. That is the part I objected to, because the bill has been amended and will have to go back to the House for concurrence.

However, Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in its order until tomorrow.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, when I said a day or so, I wanted to give sufficient time to the King of Amenders, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, who has attempted to be recognized several times.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I have conserved my time, as I have already amended this bill.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 790, (House Bill No. 90), entitled:

An Act providing for the correction of the designation and title of veterans of the Spanish American War in all present legislation affecting said veterans by designating such organizations as the United Spanish War Veterans Incorporated.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Miller.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am not too clear as to the intent of this bill and I wonder if the gentleman from Luzerne will explain it to me. As I read the bill the Veterans' Association must be incorporated and no one else can be recognized. How would that affect the veterans?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, as I understand the bill the United Spanish-American War Veterans have been known for years under that title, and in accordance with an act passed by Congress, I believe in 1939, that body was incorporated. This bill merely includes that corporation so that any legislation affecting the United Spanish American War Veterans will be in the name of the United Spanish War Veterans, Inc.

That is the only thing that happens because of this bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Miller.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill in my opinion can have no effect unless there is such an organization known as the United Spanish War Veterans, Incorporated. I do not know whether the gentleman from Luzerne knows that, because probably he is happy and fortunate in not being a lawyer. At least, that is my opinion of it.

Will the gentleman from Luzerne tell me what is the title of this organization and under what laws is it incorporated?

Mr. MILLER. As I understand it, Mr. President, after the termination of the Spanish American War there were organized several organizations pertaining to that particular war. One was the Spanish American War Veterans, one was the United Spanish American War Veterans and one was called the Veterans of the Nicaraguan Campaign, and in 1939 those organizations, the members of which had participated in the Spanish American War, all got together and by an act of Congress were incorporated under the name of the Spanish American War Veterans Incorporated.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will this bill exclude, Mr. President, any Spanish American War Veteran who does not happen to belong to the incorporated war society?

Mr. MILLER. I doubt very much, Mr. President, if it will. I delved into this particular bill quite thoroughly last week when it was under consideration and the United Spanish American War Veterans were in convention assembled at Altoona and I have in my files—unfortunately they are not with me at the present time here on the Senate floor—a telegram in the form of a resolution requesting that this bill be enacted.

I am of the opinion, Mr. President, as I have already stated, that all those veterans who participated in the Spanish-American War are included under this organization. Does that answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Westmoreland?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President. The thought that comes to my mind is this: if we are dealing in legislation benefitting veterans of the Spanish-American War, I do not see any necessity personally why that legislation should be passed for any specific incorporated group; why can not we just have legislation pertaining to veterans of the Spanish-American War? The thing I am trying to get clear in my mind, I can see this organization wants legislation and that is perfectly all right, but supposing there is a group of individuals who served in the Spanish-American War, there is no provision made for them in this legislation because this only covers those who are members of the United States-American War Veterans, Inc. That word "incorporated" is used pretty badly sometimes—talking, Amos and Andy.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I am of the opinion that these who served in that campaign will be included in any veteran's legislation which will bring about benefits to the individuals. I do not think it is necessary that they belong to the United Spanish-American War Veterans Incorporated.

Mr. DENT. Well now, Mr. President, if that is true then why do we not amend the bill so that all legislation dealing with war veterans of the Spanish-American War shall include those members of the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Inc.? By so doing that would cover the others who are not members of this organization. As I understand it, this is an incorporated organization, and all Spanish-American veterans are not members necessarily of it, because there may be men in the hinterland who never heard of this organization.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, may I direct the attention of the gentleman from Westmoreland to section one of the bill, which reads as follows, and I quote section one, "In all existing legislation affecting veterans of the Spanish-American War and organizations of said veterans, all designations or titles of said veterans' organizations shall be corrected to read the United Spanish War Veterans, Inc."

I believe that wording will correct the objection of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, maybe I am wrong in my understanding of what the bill does. Maybe it just takes all these organizations which were at one time together and split up and now they want to get together again, is that the idea?

Mr. MILLER. That is right.

Mr. DENT. It incorporates the name!

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I believe it simply puts them under the name that the Congress of the United States officially designated for that organization or those who participated in that particular campaign.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Luzerne then believe it is not the intention of this legislation to withhold any legislative benefits from any person who served in the Spanish-American War, by the passage of this act?

Mr. MILLER. I would say it does not, Mr. President, at least I hope so.

Mr. DENT. I am satisfied with that answer.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think this legislation ought to be given a little more consideration. I would like to vote for this bill if it covers what the gentleman from Luzerne says it is intended to cover, but what right have we now, when the Legislature in 1910 passed an act giving benefits or an appropriation to the Spanish-American War Veterans, or to the John Smith organization of Spanish-American War Veterans, to correct that and say it should read the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated? That Legislation may not have been intended to apply to this particular organization. Look how this bill reads. This does not apply to subsequent legislation so that if we hereafter pass an act affecting Spanish-American War Veterans it shall deal with the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated, but it says "in all existing legislation"—not subsequent legislation—but "all presently existing legislation affecting veterans of the Spanish-American War and organizations of said veterans, all designations or titles of said veterans' organizations shall be corrected to read The United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated!" What can be the purpose of this? Certainly it is not intended to affect existing grants or existing laws dealing with the Spanish-American War Veterans. It can only be intended to deal with organizations in the future and therefore why should we have to correct existing legislation by the passage of this bill? You may do exactly what you say you did not intend to do in answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland; you may take an organization calling itself any one of the names you say existed heretofore and change that so that whatever grants or benefits could inure to these existing organizations shall belong to the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated. I am quite sure you did not intend that but that is exactly, Mr. President, what this bill will do, if it does not deal with future legislation at all.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will be very glad to ask that this bill go over in its order so that those points which have been raised on the floor of the Senate today may be clarified.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I make a suggestion to the gentleman from Philadelphia? I think he is entirely right, in reading the bill carefully. I have been advised by some of those who served in the Spanish-American War and were active in their veterans' organizations that there were several organizations recognized at various times by specific acts of the Legislature. For example, a group of Spanish-American War Veterans were given certain jurisdictional rights in the management of the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall in the City of Pittsburgh. Some of those Spanish-American War Veterans organizations have consolidated and the organization is now known as the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated. Now, under the act which gives permission or jurisdiction or supervision over the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Home, the United Spanish-American War Veterans, Incorporated, is not mentioned in the act. Whether or not there are any more bills or whether or not that is what this bill does, is something the individual Senator will have to decide, but that is the explanation given to me by one of the former national officers of the organization.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 790, (House Bill No. 90), on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 921, (House Bill No. 892), entitled:

An Act authorizing a commission to study recreational facilities available in first class cities imposing powers and duties on said commission.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments:

Amend section 1 page 2 line 1 by striking out the words "and three" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "two"; Amend section 1 page 2 line 3 by inserting after the word "Representatives" and before the word "The" the words: "and one of which shall be appointed by the Mayor of such first class city"; Amend section 1 page 2 line 8 by striking out the word "three" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "two"; Amend section 1 page 2 line 10 by striking out the words "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof the words: "a member"; Amend section 1 page 2 lines 13 and 14 by striking out the words: "from a list of eligibles furnished him by the mayor of such first class city"; Amend section 2 page 3 line 2 by inserting after the word "subject" the words: "provided that it is without cost or obligation to the Commonwealth."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. As I understand this amendment, Mr. President, it is intended to give the Mayor a position on the Commission, is that right?

Mr. KEPHART. No, Mr. President; it gives him the power to appoint one member. Previously he merely handed the Speaker of the House a list from which to choose one member.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then, the member which he is to appoint is taken from the other members to be appointed? It reduces the number of members to be appointed by the House and the Senate?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, previously the House appointed three and the Senate two; this makes it two and two.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I did not so read it, Mr. President. I thought the House appointed five members. You are giving two to each House!

Mr. KEPHART. That is right.

Mr. SHAPIRO. And then the Mayor of the City will appoint the other, is that correct?

Mr. KEPHART. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Is the amendment going to stand that way? I mean it is not going to be amended tomorrow, is it?

Mr. KEPHART. Not unless the gentleman from Philadelphia wants to do so.

And the question recurring

Will the Senate agree to the amendments.

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, with reference to House Bill No. 567, Senate Bill No. 1000, introduced by Representative Levy, I take very great pleasure in commending this bill to my colleagues. It is a bill providing for the registration and supervision of those who engage in the sale of securities. The bill itself has been framed by the Securities Commission of Pennsylvania in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Investment Bankers Association and those two associations have worked for more than a year upon the various points involved.

It is of course, well known to members of the Senate that some years ago, in 1921 and 1923, we decided that the business of investments had developed sufficiently in this state to require public supervision and at that time a series of laws were passed which established the Pennsylvania Securities Commission. Our legislation was based upon the theory that if we had honest men selling securities, the securities themselves would be worthy of acceptance by the purchaser and consequently, there were provisions in our law requiring the registration of all salesmen, with a vigilant inquiry into their honesty and personal records in order to prevent the victimizing of purchasers.

Now, Mr. President, within the last year or two there have been different people engaged in the sale of securities, known chiefly as investment counsel. They do not themselves sell securities and consequently they do not come under the legislation or the provisions of the previous act, and yet they act as advisors to individuals and individuals by and sell securities very largely in accordance with what they might recommend. Investment counsel have not been required to register and the object of this bill is to bring them under registration.

I might say in passing that there have been several cases within the last two years, one was the case of Mac-Millan Rapp and Company, a brokerage house, which was not a member of the Stock Exchange and hence did not come under the requirements of the law and when the Securities Commission investigated that concern they found that the securities of customers had been hypothecated for loans made to partners and as a result when the concern failed it caused a heavy loss to a large group of people.

Following that came the investigation with reference to Robert J. Boltz, who was an investment counselor. There again he was not under registration, he did not come under the regulations of the Securities Commission, and yet he had secured the confidence of a very large group of people and I think it would be fair to say he abused that confidence. As a result of that there were serious losses involving several million dollars. I think there were one or two similar cases in other states than Pennsylvania. I also believe there was a man by the name of Furman who did a business in Allentown. Those were cases in which the Securities Commission could not protect the people of Pennsylvania because it did not have adequate legislation to do so. This legislation which is now proposed will take care of those cases and take care of them effectively in the future.

I might also say there was a similar bill which was introduced as Senate Bill No. 296, by the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Cox and myself, which was considered by a committee in the House and amended in the Senate and passed, I think, on May 16th by a vote of forty-five to nothing, whence it became House Bill No. 1050, and was referred to the Committee on Banking in the House on May 20th and although more than a month has elapsed since that time, it is still progressing at the rate of progress, which is usual in that legislative body.

However, in the House, Representative Levy introduced an identical bill and that bill has now come to us in the Senate. I have heard other Senators say and also say for myself that while we have pride in our legislation, we have more pride in securing for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania legislation for which we think there is a need, and therefore under those circumstances we ask our colleagues to vote for the Levy Bill, even though over in the House they have not seen fit to act upon the Cox-Edmonds Bill.

It seems to me there is nothing in the bill that should give us concern. Recently our colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, raised a question as to receiver-ships, which bothered me for a time because I did not understand his question. I think he said the Commission was given the power to appoint receivers. It is not.

Under the terms of this bill the commission may, in addition to any other remedies, bring an action in equity "in the name and on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania against any such person (that is, persons violating the terms of the act) in any of the several courts of Common Pleas of Pennsylvania and may ask for such equitable relief, action or remedies as it may deem necessary under the circumstances and the several courts of Common Pleas in this state shall have jurisdiction over the subject matter and may enter judgments, awards, decrees or orders which they may deem fit, including permanent or temporary injunctions or restraining orders without bond and the appointment of receivers to take possession of any property—"

In other words, Mr. President, all it gives the commission is the power to initiate the right to go in before the court and ask for the appointment of a receiver if they deem that is necessary—they do not appoint the receivers themselves—so that it seems to me, Mr. President, that the safeguards here are ample and the need of the communities is great, and under those circumstances I take very great pleasure in asking my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. First, Mr. President, I want to take issue with the statement made by the gentleman from Montgomery, that this bill in the House received the same speed in passage, or the same treatment, as other bills. I do not think that is quite fair in this case because I happen to know that this bill has been before the Banking Committee and this subject has been before the Banking Committee for many weeks and upon several occasions when we were prepared to do something with the bill gentlemen from various sections of the state suggested that there be amendments inserted, and as a result they not only conferred with us but they conferred also with members of the House, and my understanding was that this particular bill which we have before us here today was the bill in which the amendments would be placed. If I am not correct I am sure the gentleman from Montgomery will correct me in this, that this bill, the Levy Bill, has in it all of the amendments which were considered and adopted by the Banking Committee of the Senate. Therefore it is not fair to say that the bill in the House was kept back. I think that was done with prior knowledge that the bill would be amended.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I did not say it was kept back in the House, I said it followed the usual rate of progress in the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is a reflection on the House, Mr. President, because the usual rate of progress was not applied to this. I suppose that this bill might be said to be a bill which was not intended to move in the House and that they were to make the amendments to the bill that were made, also under those circumstances I am quite sure to unduly criticize the House in this case is not quite fair. May I say, I am not undertaking to discuss the question of the usual procedure in the House because if I did that, I would have to make a comparison with the same procedure in the Senate, where some very important bills have not even moved out of committee, but that I think can be left for a subsequent date.

I do feel, however, that the provision of this bill giving the right to the Commission to appoint receivers is a bad precedent. When I say "the right to appoint receivers" I know I used the phrase loosely, but what I meant is, they have the right to go into the courts and ask for the appointment of receivers, and until this Commission is willing to assume the responsibility that it will discuss, inspect, investigate and deal with the advisability of sales of stock which are put on the market, it should not be given the right to determine the financial standing of those brokers or anybody else for the purpose of getting a receiver appointed. It should be given, and has the right under the existing law, to go into court and ask for a restraining order and that is as far as it should be permitted to go.

The Federal Government also has a Securities Exchange Act, and it does not permit its commission to go in and ask for receivers but it allows the usual equity jurisdiction of the court to be invoked by persons who feel the financial situation is such as to warrant the appointment of a receiver.

If we are going to give every commission we create the additional power to go in and on its own motion ask for the appointment of a receiver we are going to set a bad precedent and it strikes me that this bill ought to be amended to take out the right to request the appointment of a receiver and leave that for creditors of the concern, or to leave in the power of injunction, or the restraining order. That in my opinion should be sufficient, because this commission is a commission created to investigate and regulate those bodies; it is not a commission which is authorized to do more than that. If, after investigation, they find that they are doing business in an unauthorized manner, it has the power then to go in and ask that they be restrained but think of the responsibility you are putting on them by giving them that right; every investigator will have the right to act like a securities exchange commission and investigate and keep continual watch over the financial position of those companies so that if they are not doing what is proper they can go in and get a receiver.

I heard the chairman of that commission say to appropriations committee in the House that he was satisfied with the amount of money that was awarded to them, and I suggest to the gentleman from Montgomery, if he will look at that appropriation, he will agree with me at once there is not sufficient money in the commission to enable them to carry out the functions which would justify them in asking that we give them the right to go in and ask for receivers, because if we give them the right to do that then we have the right to say it is our duty to do it and once we say that it is our duty, we place upon them a responsibility which they can not carry out, and as has been pointed out by the gentleman from Montgomery very often, we relieve the public from that duty by at least letting them feel they no longer have the duty of watching their own investments when that becomes the duty of the Commonwealth.

For those reasons, Mr. President, I think that is a bad policy and if the gentleman from Montgomery has no objection I have an amendment prepared which I would like to offer. If there is going to be objection I will not offer it.

Mr. EDMONDS. I think, Mr. President, I will object. Frankly I do not share this fear that the commission will take the initiative in having receivers appointed—that is under the supervision of the court—and I do not think it will mean a public agency or a commission is going to watch over every investment. I do not think a commission ought to do that, but I think where there are a great number of little people investing who do not know their legal rights, and who would have difficulty in establishing organization to assert those legal rights, it would be a good thing if a commission in the name of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should take the initiative in directing the attention of a court to the matter.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to stand by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, in the remarks that he has made. I do not regard his remarks as a reflection upon the House for, if telling the truth is a reflection upon the House then, Mr. President, we are in a very sorry position here; the truth should never be a reflection upon anybody.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Shapiro.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to explain my vote "no" on this bill. I voted "no" because this bill not only exempts those banks which are insolvent and in the hands of liquidators from the tax in the future, but it exempts them from paying the tax for the years 1935 and forward.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I just say to the gentleman from Philadelphia I had the same thought he had but I made inquiry of the Department of Revenue and it seems the Department of Revenue had sent them letters from time to time that they had no responsibility, and then the Supreme Court handed down a decision and that produced a situation in which they were taxable not only for this year but for two, three, four and five years back; although that did not apply, they were taxable during the time.

Under those circumstances it seems to me there is justice in asking for these exemptions now.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is there anything now before the Senate excepting Senate Bill No. 1169? I do not believe in stopping debate on bills which are before us but it is silly to debate on bills which have already been defeated or which have passed.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, asked permission to state his reasons for his vote, which is proper.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, at the request of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1169, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for the purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," limiting the grant of public assistance to unemployable persons; substituting the Department of Welfare for the Department of Public Assistance, abolishing the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance and imposing certain duties in respect to employable persons on the Department of Labor and Industry go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1215, on third reading, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the sixteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one (Appropriation Act No. 12A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one"

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1218, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of seven million dollars ($7,000,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of assistance administrative expenses and expenses of liquidating the State Emergency Relief Board as provided by the Public Assistance Law and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Public Assistance for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Section 2 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate funds from time to time for the several assistance programs (old age assistance aid to dependent children pensions for the blind general assistance and other programs provided by the Public Assistance Law) for administrative expenses of the several county boards of assistance for such administrative expenses incurred by the department which are chargeable to such boards and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the department

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, in connection with Senate Bill No. 1218, I might state this is another one of the temporary relief appropriation bills to take care temporarily the administration of relief. This bill was introduced the same as one which we passed some time ago, without any allocation in so far as administrative costs or expenses were concerned.

I just want to say at this time, Mr. President, before a vote is taken on this bill, we are perfectly satisfied to have the allocation set forth in the bill but we suggest that it be done in the House by amendment so that we do not lose a day in the passage of the bill.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 890, (House Bill No. 139), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act which became effective on the seventh day of July, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (P. L. 194), entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of peace, and regulating the fees of constables making sales under this act," further enlarging the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and extending the provisions of said act to aldermen.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know who is the sponsor of this bill, but this bill which attempts to enlarge the jurisdiction of aldermen and has, I think, the vice, intentionally or otherwise, of taking away from magistrates the jurisdiction which they now have. In other words, the bill deals with aldermen and magistrates and the bill adds to aldermen the right of jurisdiction in actions of trespass, but when we read the act in its first section, it provides that "it is hereby enacted by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace in this Commonwealth shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of Common Pleas in all actions arising from contracts either express or implied," and so forth.

Now the bill, by amendment, takes away the word "magistrates" so that magistrates no longer have any jurisdiction in actions arising from contracts. I am wondering if that is the intent, because if it is we have a lot of magistrates in Philadelphia who will have very little jurisdiction in law work.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I was going to say, Mr. President, I was saying that for tomorrow when the bill would come up on final passage.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am of the opinion this bill should be referred back to committee and in view of what I have already said I suggest that Senate Bill 890 be referred to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I do not want to ask for a roll call except to have the record show my opposition to the recommittal of this bill.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like the record to show the same action on my part.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 890, (House Bill No. 139), the bill just read, be re-committed to the Committee on County Government, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GELTZ, and were as follows, viz:

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, we seek Thy blessing and benediction upon our Nation of which we are a part. Guide our President. Deliver us from bitterly criticizing those who are our leaders. Thou knowest how terrible is their responsibility in guiding our Nation in these troublesome times. Give each of us a new and worthier appreciation of this land of ours. May we glory in our liberties. In every way may we so act that war may soon cease and the blessed dawn of peace appear over the world.

As representatives and citizens of a great Nation, give us a sunny-hearted faith in one another, and above all, may we look to Thee in prayer. Teach us how to pray and what to pray for. May we ever be humble before Thee and our fellowmen. In Christ's Name, we pray. Amen.

ARTHUR H. JAMES

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 383

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 383, Printer's No. 202, entitled "An act to further amend section one thousand five hundred three of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith' providing that school districts of the fourth class may employ at their own expense a medical inspector."

This bill would amend Section 1503 of the Act of May 18, 1911, P. L. 309, more generally known as The School Code, by authorizing school districts of the fourth class to provide medical inspection at their expense by appointing a medical inspector possessing certain qualifications who would perform the duties prescribed by the school board, regardless of the fact that the bill still makes it mandatory for the Department of Health to provide medical inspection of all pupils in these districts at its own expense and with medical inspectors appointed by the Secretary of Health.

Under the present law the Department of Health must provide medical inspection of the pupils in these school districts at its own expense with medical inspectors appointed by the Secretary of Health. If the department is unable to furnish such service because of lack of funds, then the boards may provide adequate or additional medical service.

Under this bill school districts of the fourth class would be permitted to provide such medical service, despite the fact that the Department of Health is required to furnish such service.

Obviously, this bill would result in a division of responsibility for providing medical inspection in school districts of the fourth class, since it would cause a duplication and conflict of activities in this field, particularly in connection with the program and the requirements of the Department of Health, whose mandatory duty it is to render this service.

It is evident that the enactment of this bill would result in needless expenditures being incurred by these school districts without justification.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 124

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 124, Printer's No. 843, entitled, "An Act to amend the title and the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 417), entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof; creating a Milk Control Commission establishing its jurisdiction, powers and duties, regulating the production, transportation, manufacturing, processing, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of milk, and certain products thereof; providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor, requiring milk dealers to file bonds, to secure payment for milk to producers and certain milk dealers authorizing the holding of hearings and the issuance of subpoenas by the commission, conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts and to prohibit violations of this act and of rules, regulations and orders of the commission, authorizing the commission to adopt rules, regulations and orders and to enter into interstate and Federal compacts requiring persons who weigh, measure, sample or test milk to procure permits or certificates to take examinations to pay fees therefor, to furnish certain notices, records and statements and to use certain methods of weighing, measuring, sampling and testing, authorizing the commission to examine the business papers and premises of milk dealers and producers, requiring the keeping of records and the filing of reports by milk dealers and permitting with limitations the use of information obtained thereby, authorizing the commission to fix prices for milk and certain milk products subject to the approval of the Governor and conferring certain powers upon the Governor with respect thereto, providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the commission and for the burden of proof upon such appeals, prescribing penalties, fines and imprisonment for violations of this act and rules, regulations and orders of the commission, defining perjury, defining remedies, repealing legislation supplied and superseded by this act and saving rights, duties and proceedings thereunder and making appropriations," by adding the term "handler" as a synonym for the term "milk dealer" defining the terms "handle" and "handler" extending the provisions of the act to those who handle milk by baliment, brokerage, consignment or purchase; authorizing special agents or examiners to conduct hearings on behalf of the commission enabling certain officers, employes and agents to administer oaths, providing the method and effect of service of certain orders, and the posting of rules, regulations and certain orders, enabling employes of the commission to photograph photostat, mark or stamp for identification books and papers that they have inspected, providing for action with milk control agencies of other states and of the United States in holding hearings and promulgating and enforcing orders, requiring milk dealers or handlers to be licensed, stating grounds for refusal, suspension, revocation of licenses or the right to apply for a license or for refusal to transfer licenses, stating the effect of service by registered mail when the addressee refuses to accept or receive such mail, enlarging requirements of milk dealers or handlers to file bonds to secure payment to producers and certain milk dealers or handlers, prescribing the effective date and term of such bonds and providing for their release, providing for the increase or decrease of the amounts of bonds, prescribing the effect of orders and findings of fact of the commission relating to licenses in suits on bonds, providing for the payment to those entitled thereto of moneys in the hands of the commission owing to milk dealers or handlers or producers, increasing the scope of regulation of sub-dealers making certain information available to cooperatives and producers' groups, clarifying the requisites of orders fixing prices for milk, providing for the competency of certain statistical testimony and data, providing that all provisions of price-fixing orders shall be presumed valid and placing the burden of proving invalidity or partial invalidity of any order, defining violations of orders of the commission fixing prices, making milk dealers or handlers responsible for acts of directors officers agents or other persons acting for or on behalf of them, giving certain additional rights to cooperatives and producers' and farmers' unions or organizations of producers of milk, further regulating and imposing duties on milk dealers or handlers, setting up a price fixing procedure, restricting powers of the Governor, prescribing procedure on appeal from orders of the commission, further defining and prescribing penalties defenses rights and remedies, and providing for the payment of funds in the hands of the commission owing to producers and handlers

This bill would amend the Milk Control Law (Act of April 28, 1937, P. L. 417) in many respects and in particular would remove the present requirement that all orders of the Milk Control Commission fixing prices of milk are subject to the approval of the Governor. In my opinion this provision is a most salutary one and should be retained.

During the past two years this Administration has adopted a procedure that has enabled me to know whether a proposed order of the Milk Control Commission fixing minimum prices is reasonable. Before an order has been signed by me, the Attorney General has held conferences to which producers of milk, consumers of milk and dealers in milk have been invited to discuss the proposed order. A record has been made of all the comments and suggestions made at these conferences. As a result of the conference the Attorney General has made a report to me and that report has been an important guide to me in determining whether or not price orders of the commission should be approved.

Whatever the merits of the other provisions of this bill may be, they are completely overbalanced by the provision that would remove this safeguard from the Milk Control Law. Without this provision the bill would have been approved, and if it is the sense of the Legislature that it wishes to re-pass the other provisions, there is still time in the present session for this to be accomplished.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the measure before us now is possibly best known in this House as the Haberlen Milk Control Bill, which the Governor has seen fit to veto.

I marvel at the Governor. I really do.

I had thought that after he had vented his rage upon the helpless insane of our Commonwealth, after he had balked our efforts to reduce taxes, after he has played politics with the payrolls of Departments under the supervision of Democrats, after he had forced the best man in his cabinet to take a walk, after he had nominated an ex-convict to be a hospital trustee—after all these things, I had thought there was nothing left for him to do but become sensible and try to work out the State's tangled conditions.

But, Mr. Speaker, I have learned a lesson. There is no limit to human stupidity. The Governor has proved that to us by his veto of the Haberlen Milk Control Act.

Here is a measure which the dairy farmers of the State demanded with one voice. This is a measure which met with the hearty approval of legislators of both parties. It is one of the few which House and Senate have been able to agree upon.

It would have wiped out the consignment purchase racket against which the farmers have been bitterly protesting for years. But the Governor throws it back to us with the air and attitude of a petulant child who announced that he won't play any more and is going home.

The Governor whines that his voice has been eliminated from the price fixing sections of the Milk Control Act. If this were his real reason, why did he not ask the obedient Senate to recall the measure from his desk so that it might be amended to suit his fancy instead of vetoing the bill.

What are we to think? The Governor is acting in a childish fashion. This action is of the same stripe as the arrogant and untrue Phillipic he shouted to the General Assembly recently.

I tremble for the Commonwealth for the next two years with such an unbalanced and unreliable leader in power. To what avail are the honest and friendly conferences we are having with Senate leaders on the points of difference between us if we cannot rely upon the Governor to act in the same intelligent manner as his followers in the General Assembly. The Governor's latest act is one of folly and contemptuous disregard for the interests of a large body of our citizens—the dairy farmer.

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, if this Governor were sincere in the reasons he announced in his message, then he would without hesitancy ask that the bill be recalled and amended instead of taking the method which he did, veto.

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move that this House override the veto of the Governor on House Bill No. 124, Printer's No. 843.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. In making that motion, Mr. Speaker, I call up the Members on the other side of the House who are interested in the welfare of the farmer, who will refuse to play the small, insignificant politics that the Governor of Pennsylvania is now playing, I am calling upon you to assist the Democratic membership of this House in passing the legislation that has been a crying need of the farmers of this Commonwealth.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it is always said when you don't have any argument for a cause, the best thing to do is to try to divert attention from the issue. The speech of the gentleman from Monroe certainly was a perfect example of that trick of smart lawyers.

The Governor in his message outlined the purpose and the reason for which this bill was vetoed. He stated specifically that he would sign a bill containing the same provisions as this bill if it were passed by this House and this Senate, leaving out the one provision relating to the right of the Governor to sign the milk orders,—taking away rather the right of the Governor to sign the milk orders. That was the provision that was put into the law and was in the law during the Democratic administration. It is a provision which I, as Governor, would certainly be glad to have taken out in order to avoid the responsibility and the difficult task which it would place upon me, but the Governor of this Commonwealth, and I feel rightly so, felt that if it were taken out he would be shirking his duty. He feels that its being placed there has resulted in an improved administration; that as a result of the conferences with the Attorney General, as he has pointed out in his message, the farmers of this Commonwealth have been benefitted and the people of this Commonwealth have benefitted, and that if he should run out on this task, however difficult or disagreeable it might be, he would be running out on the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He feels that because it is for the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth to permit that provision to remain in the bill, he wants it in and has asked the Legislature to pass another bill containing this important provision which is of benefit to the farmers and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which he says he will sign, providing of course that one item remains.

It seems to me under those circumstances the proper thing to do is to vote "no" on the motion now before the House.

The gentleman on the other side asks why the Governor did not ask the Senate, as he puts it, to recall this bill. In the first place, may I call attention of the gentleman that the bill could not be recalled by the Senate; it must have the concurrence of the House to recall this bill. He didn't call your attention to that fact, but it is true.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I think that the arguments of the gentleman on the other side are entirely beside the issue, and that the House of Representatives should vote "no" on the matter now before it.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am struck by the argument of the gentleman, the minority floor leader of this House for the reason, of course, that he says if he were Governor he certainly would acquiesce in this bill as it was passed. Now, I have never known the gentleman on the other side to shirk his duties. I do not believe he does, although he said if the Governor accepted this bill he would be shirking his duties.

I am quite convinced that the Governor would not be shirking his duties; on the contrary I believe the Governor would be acquiescing in the will of the people of Pennsylvania. May I just refer to the history of this bill? When it finally came before the House for concurrence in the Senate amendments, it passed this House by a vote of two hundred to nothing, indicating this House was in unanimous accord with the bill as it went to the Governor's Office. I say, Mr. Speaker, it comes with poor grace from the Governor's Office, when he had such an easy method of presenting to this House his objections. If his objections were only those mentioned in his message he could with comparative ease have notified the member who introduced the bill on this side of the House what his objections were,—it would not be the first time in this Session that he has done so, but instead he took the other method, the method of vetoing. For what reason? I am uncertain; I have doubts, of course, Mr. Speaker, that the reasons were only those mentioned in his message. On the contrary, I believe there is a deeper underlying reason and I am saying now is the time to pass this measure. I am saying if you meant what you voted on June 9th then you will be in accord with my motion to override the veto. If on the contrary you only paid lip service in the hope of mollifying some of your constituents, then of course you will vote against the motion. But if you are sincere, if you honestly believe the condition of the farmers would be improved by this bill, if you want to help the farmer and if you desire to improve his conditions then you will vote to override the Governor's veto. You should not be mollified or appeased by a statement from the Governor's office that lacks so much in weight, that is so apparently a sham, and which indicates that he desires apparently to scuttle the measure, not by direction but by indirection. You should vote to see that this bill becomes a law of this land regardless of the Governor's veto.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, perhaps there is no one in this body who is more familiar and conversant with the sentiment of the farmers than I am, having served for quite some time as a director of the Keystone Milk Producer's Association. I attended all the monthly meetings in the city of Butler, and there I learned just what these producers of milk wanted. This bill, House Bill No. 124, is a bill that is sponsored by the milk producers of the state of Pennsylvania. They want this bill; they must have something of the kind for their protection, or they are lost financially.

Now, I don't want to criticize our Governor; he is the Governor of this great Commonwealth, but I want to call attention of the Members of this House to the sentiment and to the criticism that was offered against the Governor, not only by Democrats, but by Republicans who were milk producers of this Keystone Milk Producer's Association, when by his first act after he took office, the Governor signed a bill that reduced the price of milk something like ninety cents per hundred pounds. I want to recall and refresh your memories regarding the fact that seventy-six cents out of this cut was borne by the producers, and only sixteen cents borne by the distributor. That is why the farmers of our state have demanded that the bill be written in its present form, and that is why the farmers of our state lost confidence in the sound judgment of our Governor.

I ask you Members of this House on both sides to vote for this motion and give to the farmers something that will protect them. If we go back to our homes and to our different districts and campaign for reelection, what can we say to these farmers that we have done for them? What can we offer them as their representatives here at Harrisburg in the way of service if we cannot show them that we have done something for the milk producers in the state of Pennsylvania?

Members of this House, do not lose sight of the fact that the Milk Board and the Milk Commission as it was later called was established not for the protection of the dealers, the big milk dealers of this state, not for the big dairy interests of our nation, but it was set up to protect the farmer who was losing his farm, who was year after year increasing the great mortgage that was resting upon his shoulders. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important pieces of legislation that has come before this body for consideration, and I think it would be a shame and a disgrace to let it go by default. We shall have no excuse to offer our constituents back home if we are so derelict in our duties as to let this matter fall in its present condition. I ask all the members of the House to support this motion.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe criticized the Governor for exercising his office in vetoing a bill. It is a matter of constitutional right, it is a matter of constitutional duty of the Governor to pass upon bill. It certainly is not any abuse of discretion for him to veto a bill which he feels is not proper in any particular.

Mr. Speaker, again it seems to me the issue has wandered far afield. We have heard the good points of this bill, that is what the Governor said. He said there are good points in this bill, a lot of them. He makes a suggestion both to this House and the Senate, he says, "Pass a good bill; there is plenty of time to do it, containing the good provisions of this bill." There is no argument about it. The only argument is whether this new bill should contain the provisions which are in it now minus the one which is objectionable to the Governor; or whether this one objectionable feature is so important to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The only question before the House is whether this one single item is so important to the people of Pennsylvania that the Governor's veto should be overridden, and that is the only question before us. I think the majority of the producers and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania feel that the right of the Governor to pass upon these orders of the Milk Control Board is for the best interests of the producers and has operated for the best interests of the producers as well as the people generally in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That being the case it seems to me there is no question about what our duty should be, and that is to follow the suggestion of the Governor, to vote "no" on the motion now before us. There is still time to pass a bill containing the good provisions involved in this bill and which would improve the Milk Control Act.

Mr. Speaker, it might be possible to pick up a bill that is already in and that has passed one or the other house and amend it so that it would contain those provisions and put it through, but regardless of that I think we all agree that the Legislature is going to be in session for at least six days and it will be possible to introduce a new bill and get it through before the adjournment of this session of the Legislature.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the minority leader, may I say that astride from the unusual method the Governor used in expressing his opposition, I am convinced that the bill as passed is what the people of Pennsylvania want. It is the type of bill the Governor should bend and yield to. Apparently the desire was almost unanimous. Not only did this House finally on June 9th pass this bill by a vote of 200 to 0, no dissenting vote, but in the Senate, Mr. Speaker, on June 3rd, this bill was passed by a vote of 46 to 2. I know of no better method of ascertaining the expressed desire of the people of Pennsylvania than the vote on the bill. I reiterate, Mr. Speaker, unless the membership on the other side is shamming and did not mean what they were saying at that time, then they are going to vote to override the Governor's veto.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, with reference to the remarks made by the gentleman from Beaver, I would like to inform him that most of the changes that have been made in this bill House Bill 124 are administrative changes. So far as its affecting the producers of Pennsylvania is concerned, it does not differ from our present act. I remember in the Session of 1939 the other side of the House voted unanimously against the Milk Bill.

I would like to reiterate for the benefit of the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, that according to the Governor's veto message he has stated he will be glad to sign a bill with this one provision eliminated. Now, let us see whether the Democrats are so interested in the producers of Pennsylvania and see whether they will vote for a bill if another one is introduced and this motion is voted down. Then we will see whether the Democrats are interested in the producers of Pennsylvania as the Republicans are. If it is such a wonderful bill and if it is such a good piece of legislation to have had Governor Earle as an ex-officio member of this milk commission in 1937, I am wondering why they want to eliminate the Governor now from being an ex-officio member and signing these orders as they are put out.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who has just spoken is wondering whether we are still interested in the producers of Pennsylvania. May I tell the gentleman in just a few minutes he is going to receive his answer. The Democratic Party is going to vote again for this bill and that is the answer to whether or not we still are interested.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. WOODSIDE, TURNER and WINNER asked for a verification of the roll. The roll was verified and was as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on July 23rd and continuing until July 30th of this year, the City of Scranton, my native City—and one of the fairest in the diadem of progressive cities of the Commonwealth, will have a dual celebration of its Diamond Jubilee and the Centennial of its founding. I arise at this time to extend to the Members of the General Assembly a sincere invitation to each and every one of them to visit the City of Scranton during this celebration.

I think it would be a lovely spot for the Members to relax after their six months of arduous duties at the State Capitol. I assure the Members who may wish to attend this momentous occasion in the affairs of the third largest City in the Commonwealth that the citizens of Scranton will lay out the "welcome mat" and furnish the key to the City to each and every one.

If you come, you certainly will find many things of interest within the confines of the City of Scranton. There will be parades, exhibits, historical pageants, sports of all kinds, concerts, in fact—everything that would provide for a well rounded education and entertainment of the average human being. You will be in a vicinity which possesses many fine historical sites in the march of progress of our nation. You will drink from the world's greatest water supply and, for the benefit of the younger Members who may attend, I might say that they will feast their eyes on the most glamorous, the most charming and the most beautiful women to be found anywhere in the world.

And so I say to my weary colleagues who have been burdened with a thousand and one duties in this session of the General Assembly—come to Scranton and let the sincere, hearty and old-fashioned native ingenuity of our people furnish you with the pause and relaxation that will refresh you and clear you of your burdens, your heartaches and your headaches that you may have come into possession of in this session. We want you to come and enjoy yourself.

Recently, this House passed a Resolution congratulating my native City upon this dual celebration—I offer the sincere thanks of the citizens of Scranton for the sentiments expressed in the Resolution and for the unanimous vote by which it passed.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Dr. RUTH.

Almighty God, Our Heavenly Father, we come to Thee today with gratitude for life and for its possibilities, as Thou hast again forcibly reminded us today of the uncertainty of our earthly life in the death of Dr. Shaw. We commend his family and friends to Thy tender mercy and pray that we may reexamine our motives for living and that they may be found solely to please thee and to be a blessing unto our fellow man. We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, during the last few weeks I have been stopped on the streets of Uniontown, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and other towns of this Commonwealth, by doctors, farmers, business men, laborers and people of many other walks of life. Their protest against certain conditions here at Harrisburg was stern and alarming.

Yesterday the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, called our attention to the ugly rumors and suspicion that attend the presence and activity of lobbyists and political bosses at the railing, on the floor and in the antechamber of this Senate. Even before the echo of the remarks of the gentleman from Washington had died out, and while this body was in full Session, with the President at the rostrum, a burly political bigwig, with all the haughtiness and contempt of a peacock, came racing along the railing and with a sneer of contempt on his face, surged on to the floor of this Senate, through the gate at the right of the President, and there, almost within the reach of the gavel, he took the pose of a monarch with arms akimbo—set, surveying the field of his next conquest. At the nod of his head members of this Senate left their seats and after brief tete-a-tete conversations disappeared through the door of the antechamber to the rear of the President. I neither question the integrity of my colleagues nor the patience and affability with which the President has repeatedly warned against such conduct. I merely raise my voice as an appeal to my colleagues to weigh seriously the ugly suspicions and rumors that conduct of this character can readily engender in the minds of those who see it.

But, Mr. President, this is not the only instance where contemptuous reflections have been cast upon this body by the conduct and activity of non-members. When the "box-car" trucking bill was pending before us, a rich and powerful lobby, backed by powerful political bosses, maintained a constant watch and pressure over the move and powerful lobby, backed by powerful political bosses, showed no regard for the necessary integrity of this body. In open and callous disregard of the integrity of this body and its members, these lobbyists and political bosses contemptuously printed and made public the following circular:

SENATORS FROM ALLEGHENY COUNTY:

Edward R. Frey, 354 Bailey Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 James A. Geltz, Clearview Rd., Franklin Twp., P. O., Ingomar.
 Bernard B. McGinnis, 12 E. North Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

The contents of this circular is a dastardly and contemptuous reflection upon this body and its members. I do not question the integrity of my colleagues; I merely raise my voice in warning against this notorious reflection upon our integrity.

And these, Mr. President, are not the only reflections cast upon our body by non-members. The free press, that common bawd that always sells its body to the highest bidder, has added contempt and contumely to these reflections. It has printed and disseminated for public consumption the following statement:

"Holland made the charge on the floor of the House that the bill did not move from the Committee until the truckers put on a $25,000 spread for the legislators at Harrisburg.

"Members of the legislature were guests at a dinner arranged by the truckers' interests in Harrisburg several weeks ago which was quite lavish in its appointments.

"A nationally known radio commentator was brought to Harrisburg to broadcast for the group and a special stage show was imported from New York.

"It may not have cost $25,000, but it was not a cheap party.

"Members of the Allegheny County Democratic delegation first expressed opposition to the bill.

"Then, on March 28th, they voted to insist on a public hearing on the trucking bill in the House.

"On that same night, the Allegheny County Democratic legislators were invited to attend a stag party of the Allegheny County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association at the Fort Pitt Hotel, and many of the Assemblymen attended."

Mr. President, the reflection contained in this newspaper item is contemptuous. I do not question the integrity of my colleagues; I merely raise my voice against any complacency to these reflections.

Members of this Senate, are you going to remain complacent in the face of these contemptuous reflections upon your integrity? Are you going to vindicate the venerable dignity of this body by invoking the constitutional powers in your hands for that purpose? Are you going to summon before your Bar these lobbyists and political bosses, and here, under the penalties in your hand, require them to purge themselves of these contemptuous reflections? Are you going to summon to your Bar under your constitutional powers the officers and agents of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association Incorporated, and here require them to divulge the magnitude of the tremendous amount of money and the wherefor and manner of its expenditure, in pursuance of their contemptuous reflection? Are you going to summon to your Bar the newspapers and their writers and here require them to absolve themselves of the contemptuous reflection cast upon you and this body?

Mr. President, in the words of the poet:

"Truth forever on the scaffold,
 Wrong forever on the throne,
 Yet the scaffold sways the future
 And behind the dim unknown
 Standeth God within the shadow
 Keeping watch above his own."

Members of this Senate, I can not guide your minds, I can not guide your tongues, and I can not formulate your judgments. The integrity of this body and its members is my sole concern. To its preservation I shall marshal my mind, my tongue and my judgment. This I propose and I will do under the sovereign prerogatives that are mine by virtue of my election and oath of office pursuant to the Constitution of this Commonwealth.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

MR. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask the indulgence of the Senate to speak briefly on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne may proceed.

MR. MUNDY. Mr. President, the Senator from Fayette, in his address today, referred to remarks made in the House by Representative Holland, but the Senator forgot to go into full details about this talk on the part of Mr. Holland before the House. He forgot to say that at a later date, Mr. Holland asked and received permission to address the House, and made the following statement, as shown at page 1177 of the Legislative Journal of the House, April 7, 1941:

"PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

"Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

"Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the heat of debate in this House, sometimes are made, from time to time, statements which are misinterpreted, sometimes deliberately, and sometimes unintentionally by the press and others. I have in reference a statement made by me in the heat of the argument last Tuesday, April 1st, on a bill to increase the weights of trucks.

"I stated in debate that the bill was not reported out by the House Motor Vehicle Committee until after a $25,000.00 words spread was held in Harrisburg. Of course, in the heat of a debate, sometimes figures are exaggerated, but I do want to convey to this House that this amount mentioned, was not mentioned in a way that anyone would infer that money was actually passed out among Members of this House.

"I spoke about a banquet that is held by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association and has always been held in the four sessions that I have attended this House. But it seems that some of the papers have written up the statement to insinuate that some of the Members of this House have secured actual cash.

"I did not in any way attack the integrity or the honesty of any Member of this House, whether he be Republican or Democrat, and I want to clear up this impression that has been given to the public.

"We may differ on bills and legislation, but I have faith that the Members of this House have that difference based on their own convictions, and are not influenced by any banquet that may be given.

"I am convinced that no Member of this House was given any cash consideration or anything else of value for the purpose of influencing their vote on this legislation, and I am surprised that anyone would have construed my statements to so mean."

Mr. President, the above statement was issued by a member of the House after having been mildly rebuked by members of his party, and I am asking or requesting that those remarks as read from the Legislative Journal be placed in the records immediately after the speech made today by the Senator from Fayette, Senator Cavalcante, so that the members of both the House and the Senate may be able to contrast the difference in conduct between the members of the Senate and the members of the House.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I join in the request of the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the gentleman from Luzerne will be granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH THE UNITED STATES

Mr. CHAPMAN. "All the armies of Europe, Asia and Africa combined, with all the treasures of the earth in their military chest, our own excepted—with a Bonaparte for a commander, could not by force take a drink from the Ohio or make a track on the Blue Ridge in a trial of 1000 years. At what point then is the danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reaches us it must spring up among us. It cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher."

Those words, so forcibly expressed, are not those of a Lindbergh, Nye or Wheeler, but of Abraham Lincoln. The Great Emancipator envisioned the dangers that are threatening our land when there is discord and disloyalty tearing at the vitals of the country. He saw clearly that if there is harmony in the land, if the programs espoused by the government are supported wholeheartedly by the people there is little danger.

The discordant elements in our nation today are a danger. Small blocs, some of them composed of honest but misled men and women, but mostly composed of groups financed from abroad are having an effect. While there is unity of a greater portion of the people there are groups that are causing great harm. In them are disgruntled labor leaders, Reds who intrude in high places, "ism" mongers who spread thought that does harm and prevents the best effort of many in preparing for defense.

Months ago America published to the world by the action of its Congress and Commander-in-Chief its position in world affairs. It proclaimed that "Hitler and all that he stands for must go." To that end our efforts are pledged and our word is given. Those who now oppose this plan are harming the nation and are, in plain words, antagonists of our government. They are threatening the safety of our institutions, our homes and our firesides. We have pledged an "All Out" effort to save the world from being overrun by as mad a mob as Attila the Hun ever assembled.

However, within the ranks of a Democracy such as ours, there has always been discordant groups, in the face of every national emergency. At the time the United States achieved its freedom, there were Tories who were secretly aiding and fostering the enemy; in the Civil War there were groups of southern sympathizers that many times gave warnings that nullified plans of the Northern leaders. But each time, as the contest grew, the discord died out and unity sufficient for success of the task developed. And some observers at present see more unity in the country than ever before in peace time.

To my mind, one of the greatest elements in the strengthening of National unity is the summoning to the Stars and Stripes of over a million of men. With a son, brother, husband or other relative in the uniform of the Army and Navy, home efforts to sustain them grow.

Early next month the boys who have reached the age of 21 since the draft will register for service. I feel that with this group made eligible for service, the home efforts will be redoubled. These are boys. As a father, I know that until a fellow is 21, he is classed as a youth, and after he passed 21 he is a boy. Aye and how boyish they are! Have you noted on our streets in Harrisburg, the Flying Corps Cadets? Sort of grips a fellow, doesn't it, to see them, pink cheeked, slight of body, clear of eye and smiling the smile that only the young fellows have. Mother's son, every one!

How could anyone, possessed of anything but a heart of steel, refuse to work endless hours to give to these boys the machines of war which they are being taught to use? Could anyone be so heartless as to send them, poorly equipped, against a foe? Last week the shipbuilders of the eastern coast won the plaudits of the Nation by their public statement that for three years there will be no labor trouble in their ranks and all disputes will be settled by arbitration. What an example to the west coast group that is holding out and refusing to go back to work.

And in spite of the interference which has assailed the defense program, we have accomplished much in the first year of our defense production program. It is claimed that no Nation has ever done so much in such a short space of time.

Our army has grown from 201,000 to 1,324,800 men.

Our navy has increased from 146,000 to 242,000. Eleven new combat ships have been completed and the number of ships under construction increased from 77 to 361. We are now building 764 merchant ships.

Our tank production is just getting under way. Already 1200 light tanks (from nine to fifteen tons) have been delivered, and five a day are coming off the assembly lines. Three companies have completed their pilot tanks and are now turning to their assembly lines. Larger tanks are still in the blue print stage.

Powder production has increased 1000 per cent within the year. Nine big plants either are producing or will be within 30 days.

Shells are coming out at the rate of half million per month and added plants will soon be making that number look small. Small arms ammunition production has increased over 1200 per cent.

Guns are growing in number. From big plants in Detroit where the setting of machines has been rushed, there will soon be turned out big guns which now are only coming from the government arsenals. Anti-aircraft guns are growing slowly and will soon be in large production. Only 570 of these guns are now in the United States Army.

There are 32,750 plants now turning out defense equipment of which 1,500 are new plants built and designed for speed in making of war supplies. All are not now in production, but they will be before the first of the new year.

With all of this effort behind them, and with a growing spirit of unity, I can vision a fighting machine composed of the finest, most intelligent boys in the world, ready to give their all for the nation. The Pennsylvania Council of National Defense is asking that when registration day for the Boys of 21 rolls 'round, that every flag in the state be unfurled, that demonstrations be held and the whole state pay tribute to these strong young lads.

As I see it this registration of the boys who have attained their 21st birthday is the climax to an effort to enlist the entire nation in an army that will battle to repel the ideology of the dictators who would have us believe that Democracy is dead. Such a thing as dragging youths of 16 and 17 into the army at bayonet point; the conscripting of young women to work in the fields and in work camps; the forcing of money by methods that resemble the old inquisition are features not to be found in our land. Ours is a nation where love of home, protection of the fireside and the principles for which our forefathers fought and died, are the incentive to lay down, for a time, the implements of peace to take up the accouterment of war.

Hail to the effort our Nation is making, the one Nation where love, not hate, is the actuating cause of taking up our arms!

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I hesitate to rise at this time, since we have spent quite a bit of time listening to speeches. However, I believe it important some answer should be made to the charges made last week by the gentleman from Jefferson, Senator Henry I. Wilson, relative to the possibility of non-passage of the unemployment compensation bill. In his talk last week, Senator Henry I. Wilson referred to the attitude and the activities of labor, both the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. and the Democratic Party as such.

I want to say that unlike the gentleman from Jefferson, I did not plead to be named on the conference committee. In fact, I have asked my Floor Leader to see to it that I was not put on the committee, for I believe that anybody who has dealt with the subject as much as the Senator from Jefferson and myself, who have studied it for the last two years, in a commission that was designated to study that particular subject, I believe that we become prejudiced in our ideas and biased in our opinions. I believe that this subject is so important that the only persons to serve on that conference committee should be men who will look at the subject from a clear viewpoint, look at it from a practical viewpoint, as to what is best and most needed for the State of Pennsylvania at this time. Therefore I have asked my Floor Leader not to put me on the conference committee, and I believe that the Senator from Jefferson should also refrain from becoming a member of that committee, for those of us who have known him for a number of years and have heard his statements on the Senate floor, know he will be prejudiced in his actions on that conference committee, and we may lose an important piece of legislation. I do not deny that the gentleman has worked long and hard in an endeavor to do what he thinks is right in the matter of unemployment compensation, but I disagree with him fundamentally. He believes that the next move in unemployment compensation amendments should be to reduce the amount of taxes paid by the employer. I believe the next move made should be to increase benefits, a grater week period and a lower waiting period for the recipient of unemployment compensation.

I want to say to all of the members of the Senate this question is one that goes deeper than purely partisan politics, and although the gentleman from Jefferson last week devoted much time and much effort excoriating the Democratic Party, I shall refrain from so doing to the Republican Party. I do not think it is a question of partisan politics at all; I think it is a matter in which every Senator here is vitally interested and one that requires that every Senator give it an honest and non-partisan study in order that some law will be passed that will benefit the greater number.

Mr. President, I have here a signed statement, in answer to the gentleman from Jefferson, signed by both John A. Phillips, president of the State Industrial Union Council, representing the C. I. O., and James L. McDevitt, president of the State Federation of Labor, and with the permission of the Senate I would like to read it into the record of the Senate at this time.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

"LABOR'S REPLY TO SENATOR HENRY I. WILSON'S ADDRESS ON UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

"John A. Phillips, President State Industrial Union

Council, and James L. McDevitt, President State Federation of Labor, join in the following statement defining labor's position with regard to Unemployment Compensation:

"In an address delivered in the State Senate on Wednesday, June 18, 1941, Senator Henry I. Wilson raises the question as to where labor stands with regard to Senate Bill No. 80, as amended by the House.

"Labor representatives were invited to appear before the Joint State Legislative Commission and the Joint Legislative Committee on Unemployment Compensation, to discuss matters declared to be non-controversial.

"Whenever points were raised on which labor had its own opinion, it was made evident that these points would be brought together for separate action.

"This was subsequently done when the representatives of labor, both of the Industrial Union Council and Federation of Labor, drafted a bill embodying the proposals resulting from their many years' study of Unemployment Compensation.

"Drafts of the bill were presented at the same time to leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties.

"In the House the bill, No. 868, referred to Committee on March 18, was favorably acted upon by a vote of 139 to 44.

"In the Senate the bill, No. 380, was first referred to the Labor Committee on March 19, reported out, May 28, only then to be referred to the Workmen's Compensation Committee, of which Senator Henry I. Wilson himself is chairman.

"Neither that bill nor its House duplicate, No. 868, which was passed by the House, has been reported out of Senator Wilson's committee.

"In the meantime Senate Bill No. 80 was passed by the Senate and sent to the House. There the benefit features already acted upon favorably by the House in No. 868 were embodied in the Senate Bill. The bill then passed the House by the almost unanimous vote of 146 to 10.

"These benefit provisions represent the long years of study labor has given to the important subject of Unemployment Compensation.

"Impartial and searching examination by members of the General Assembly of these provisions will commend them as sound, conservative and desirable. Labor feels sure of this result, and offers substantial support for this opinion."

"Early as January, 1940, Arthur J. Altmeyer, Chairman of the Federal Social Security Board had this to say: 'If the objectives of unemployment compensation are to be achieved there is no doubt that first and foremost benefits must be liberalized. Liberalization would result in more adequate benefit payments to individual workers and in larger total disbursements at the downswing of the business cycle.' (Social Security Bulletin, January, 1940).

"Chairman Altmeyer, in his article, advocates this program: '1. The waiting period should be reduced to 1 week. 2. A higher minimum benefit should be provided. 3. The benefit rate should be increased. 4. The duration of benefits should be lengthened. 5. Partial unemployment benefits should be paid. 6. The eligibility and disqualification provisions should be re-examined.'

"Latest statement, just issued, by Chairman Altmeyer, reaffirms the conclusion of the Federal Social Security Board that 'benefits paid are inadequate'.

"Pennsylvania, unlike some other States, happens to be in the fortunate position that collections from the Federal tax for unemployment compensation far exceed expenditures being made for benefits.

"As a consequence the balance in the Federal Treasury keeps mounting. This money could and should be spent in Pennsylvania for 'more adequate benefit payments.'

"Reasons for such better benefits are: 1. Cut down expenditures for State relief and so lower States taxes. 2. Employables eligible for compensation have to report to Federal-State Employment Office for placement and would therefore diminish the number on relief. 3. Guard consuming power and stabilize business where dislocations occur because of priorities for defense. 4. Prepare for change from present intense production in defense industries to the downswing of the business cycle.'

"Receipts are from the uniform Federal Tax which applies to all States, those whose collection is inadequate, because of circumstances beyond their control, as well as those States, among these Pennsylvania, where the collection permits better payments which would benefit the State.

"Labor has been most solicitous for the solvency of the State fund resting in the Federal Treasury. Proposals for changed benefits are altogether conservative.

"Senate Bill No. 80, as amended, contains these provisions. Most exact estimate is that they will not take as much as $17,000,000 out of the present handsome annual balance. To be on the safe side, the round figure of $20,000,000 is used.

"1940 balance was something under $42,000,000. It is thus seen that considerably more than half of that balance, on the basis of last year's figures, would be added to the State reserve now in the Federal Treasury, which at the end of last year was already $150,000,000.

"From all accounts Pennsylvania, so largely 'the arsenal of democracy' will continue for several years to place more thousand of unemployed into jobs, swelling the collection from the Federal Tax. On the other hand, depletion of the lists of unemployed will reduce the sum taken out of the Federal Treasury for benefits. Consequently, making due allowance for the better benefits the $150,000,000 which was in the reserve at the first of 1941 should readily pass $200,000,000. That insures a mighty handsome bulwark to alleviate any possible business slump and smooth the connection between industrial production and public consumption.

"Labor joins with the merchants, manufacturers, farmers, industry and business in general, in urging that Pennsylvania money, now sterile in the Federal Treasury, be put to work in Pennsylvania.

"There is no other way for this to be accomplished than by better benefits through amendment of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Act.

"Senate Bill No. 80 is now before the Senate and House for final decision. The bill protects the standing of those who are called into the military and naval service of our country—and extends a helping hand to their families, especially where the misfortune of unemployment befalls.

"The bill also carries many desirable improvements in the administration of the act, to plug holes which were overlooked in the past and which experience warrants.

"Many other commendable features can be found in the bill which should appeal from the practical standpoint of encouraging employment and which conform with labor's attitude that 'the only cure for unemployment is employment'.

"Labor has confidence that when the Conference Committee of Senate and House meet and impartially weigh the merits of the benefit features now embodied in Senate Bill No. 80, that they will concur and make it possible for Pennsylvania materially to improve its Unemployment Compensation Act."

JOHN A. PHILLIPS, President
State Industrial Union Council
JAMES L. McDEVITT, President
State Federation of Labor

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 404.

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Conference, presented a report on House Bill No. 404, entitled:

An Act relating to marriage; and amending, revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto.

The PRESIDENT. The report of the Conference Committee will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in presenting this report of the Conference Committee on House Bill No. 404, which is the Marriage Code, the members of the Senate will recall there were some printer's errors in the former report, and this is a corrected report.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in Senate Bill No. 404, will the gentleman from Allegheny state whether there have been any changes made since it passed the Senate?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, a former report of the Conference Committee was made. Do I understand the gentleman from Washington desires to know what changes were made in the bill after it left the Senate?

Mr. REED. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the changes made by the Conference Committee are contained on page fifteen of the bill. The bill originally, in section thirteen, merely provided that common law marriages were null and void in Pennsylvania. In the committee of the House there were certain exceptions placed in the bill and on the floor of the House those exceptions were stricken from the bill. When the bill came over to the Senate, those restrictions were again placed in the bill, by striking out the House brackets, and the bill went over to the House with those exceptions back in the bill.

The Conference Committee, after talking with a number of so-called marriage experts, replaced the brackets which had been placed around those exceptions in the House and struck those exceptions from the bill, so that section thirteen, as it now appears in the Conference Report, is identical with section thirteen as it left the House.

The other Senate amendments, which were minor, were the elimination of notaries public from the act, as those who could take affidavits for marriage licenses. They were placed in by the House and stricken out by the Senate, and were kept out by the Conference Committee, and I therefore have submitted a report of the Conference Committee so that it may be printed and placed at the disposal of the members of the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Along the same line, Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Gladly, Mr. President, at any time.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, am I to understand from the gentleman from Allegheny that the Conference Committee consulted marriage experts?

Mr. WALKER. We did, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, has the committee consulted Peggy Joyce

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, being great believers in Pennsylvania products, we stuck strickly to those who were experts in Pennsylvania.

Mr. JASPAN. Are there any experts in Pennsylvania, Mr. President?

Mr. WALKER. That question was directed to the Chair, not the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. JASPAN. It is directed to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as the gentleman from Philadelphia well knows, the definition of an expert is a gentleman who knows nothing about a subject and talks very fluently on it.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES—

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Finance, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1097, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws 292) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation," by redefining the base for taxation of shares of stock of banks and savings institutions, and by increasing the rate of tax for a further limited period of time.

He also, from the Committee on Finance, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1096, entitled:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand a motion is going to be made that this report of the Conference Committee be adopted. I have no objection to that, except that I desire to call the attention of the members of the Senate to this bill, because I think there is a mistake in the report.

On page 4 of this bill, the amendment is that magistrates, committing magistrates, justices of the peace or aldermen may take bail, and then it provides that the amount of bail may be fixed by magistrates, committing magistrates, justices of the peace, aldermen or the coroner. In other words, when this bill originally was presented to the Senate it was intended to give the coroner the right to take bail. A subsequent amendment provided that they shall have the right, not only to take bail but to fix it, but as the amendment appears now the coroner has not the right to take bail, but has the right to fix the amount of bail. I would like an explanation of that, because it seems to me unusual that a person can fix bail and not have the right to take it.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that was, after all, the understanding of the Conference Committee, after a discussion with the Attorney General's office on the subject. In other words, Mr. President, this bill is intended to provide for emergency situations, in cases like involuntary manslaughter, and the idea was that while the coroner did not have the right to take the recognizance itself, nevertheless under certain circumstances he might have the right to fix the amount of the bail, and yet the defendant would still have to appear before a magistrate and actually enter bail by signing the recognizance.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the Report?

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board as amended by section two of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 1091) is hereby further amended by adding a new sub-section sub-section (1) as follows

Section 4 General Powers and Duties of Department of Public Assistance The Department of Public Assistance shall have the power and its duty shall be

* * * *

(1) To take measures not inconsistent with the purposes of this Act and with the approval of the State Board of Public Assistance to promote the rehabilitation of persons receiving assistance and to help them to become independent of public support including measures designed to effect the fullest cooperation with other public agencies empowered by law to provide vocational training rehabilitative and similar services

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I submit that this is an unnecessary piece of legislation that is offered to us, and to supplement my remarks I would like to say that when I left my winter resort in March, I bought a Philadelphia paper on the train and I read a statement by our honored President Pro Tempore in which he said that this session of the Legislature would enact about twenty measures and adjourn very promptly. I was somewhat terrified that I had prolonged my winter vacation too long, and would not be able to be here to render any service to the Commonwealth, but I hurried home and at least I am here.

Also, Mr. President, if I may take a moment, we have as you know at the front door of the Capitol some very beautiful marble figures, doing a kind of a strip tease act. They are highly symbolic, Mr. President, but I never understood the symbolism, until I saw yesterday a circular about the super-highway, which I found in my hotel, but the meaning of the symbolism as depicted by those George J. Barnard statutes, is that they are weeping over the number of bills that are brought in the front door and other doors to the Legislature.

Mr. President, I claim this bill is one too many. We have now, I believe, nearly eight hundred Senate bills and sixteen hundred some odd House bills, a total of about twenty-five hundred bills, so this would make twenty-four hundred and ninety-one if we would vote "no."

The argument is in this vest pocket compendium, which I will try to hold. We have a well known department that used to be called the Department of Labor and Industry, you do not have to call it Labor now—and in that department they have a bureau called the Bureau of Rehabilitation, which was established in 1919, and it is empowered to aid any person who is totally or partially incapacitated for remunerative employment by reason of a physical defect, infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury, or disease, regardless of the financial standing of the individual, and so forth, and then it says that the work of the bureau is supported in part by federal funds. In the biennium of 1937-1939 the total expenditures were $666,000.

Now, if you will notice in this bill, it sets up a bureau in the Department of Public Assistance to do this very thing, namely, to provide vocational training, rehabilitation and similar service.

I submit respectfully, therefore, that we ought to vote "no" and at least subtract one bill from the twenty-five hundred.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, the Bureau of Rehabilitation of the Department of Labor and Industry is permitted under existing law to furnish rehabilitation only to those persons for whom they have definite positions and for whom they can carry on and supervise in those positions.

This bill, if enacted, would permit the Department of Public Assistance to help those for whom they hope to secure positions. They have no intention of building up any additional or extra or useless bureau. They have no additional function for the county boards and no additions to the staffs of the county boards.

Mr. President, this bill would permit the Department of Public Assistance to help those who are now on public assistance, whereby a small expenditure might enable them to be self-supporting and thus remove them from the relief rolls; as small additional expenditure for this rehabilitation might save the department a very much larger sum in not so long time and I urge my colleagues on both sides to vote for this bill.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Bartlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARTLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire first to make a preliminary statement, and then ask the gentleman from Northampton a question or two. Every now and again bills that are clothed in innocent language, such as is contained in this measure, set out to do what looks like a noble and lofty thing, but work a tremendous hardship on the people, and I am just wondering and desire to ask the gentleman from Northampton if this is not another attempt to delete from the relief rolls many people who are entitled to public assistance in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I do not think they are entitled to assistance if they are able to support themselves, and if a small expenditure will make them able to support themselves, then they are not entitled to further assistance.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Northampton know that last Wednesday or Thursday the Secretary of Public Assistance, on an order of the Executive Committee of the public assistance set up of the Commonwealth issued an arbitrary order taking off all able bodied men who are single, from receiving public assistance, from the ages of twenty to forty?

Mr. BARTLETT. I do know that, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Is there any connection, Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Northampton, between that order from the Department of Public Assistance and this particular bill?

Mr. BARTLETT. There is no connection, Mr. President, between the two, the order merely establishes for the state a practice which has been common with most of the county boards.

Mr. COLEMAN. I do not so understand, Mr. President. I think in 1938, feeling that there were entirely too many chiselers receiving relief in the Commonwealth, the Board issued an order taking off all single cases, and I understand that of the many taken off only one-third of those who were taken from the relief rolls made reapplication. I think the board decided that the end justified the means, and the other two-thirds of those who had been receiving relief made no re-application for assistance. Now, Mr. President, this looks to me like another attempt to take a lot of people off the relief rolls, and I do not agree with the belief that you can take a fellow between the ages of twenty and forty and just arbitrarily take him off relief and say to him, in effect, "go out and get yourself a job."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, is the gentleman from Lackawanna speaking about the bill?

Mr. COLEMAN. I certainly am, Mr. President. I think there is a very definite connection between the order of the Public Assistance Department and a bill of this character. At least the language contained in the bill, following immediately upon the order of the general assistance setup of the Commonwealth, leads me inescapably to the conclusion that there is a very definite connection.

Mr. BARTLETT. May I say, Mr. President, that the bill on which the gentleman is speaking has been in the possession of the Senate, for months, and this order to which he refers has only been issued within the last week.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I would suggest that the Department of Public Assistance, like all the people of the Commonwealth is probably tired of the dilatory actions of the General Assembly, and feeling they may not get any action, decided to do it before the General Assembly took the action as is contained in this measure.

Mr. BARTLETT. I do not understand the question, Mr. President, if it is a question.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I do not share the belief of many people in the Commonwealth, that just because a man is in the vigor of his young manhood and is able to go out and work, if work is available, that he ought to be taken off the relief rolls of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I believe that the upsurge in defense employment has taken up the slack in the number of unemployed people of the Commonwealth, but I find, too, that most of the employees that have been taken on because of the general defense setup are those who are skilled in the various crafts, machinists, welders and other various crafts of skilled labor in the Commonwealth. There still remains, however, a number of abled bodied young men who are unable to get employment, and this looks to me, Mr. President, like another attempt on the part of the Department of Public Assistance to take people from the relief rolls who have a definite right to look to the General Assembly and to look to the various agencies of the Commonwealth, created by acts of Assembly, for aid and succor in their hour of need, and I for one member of this Assembly am going to vote against this particular bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, at the request of my co-sponsor, I move that Senate Bill No. 783, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-eight day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled as amended "An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate, and politic, of 'Authorities' for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes," by changing the method by which notice of the formation of a municipal authority shall be made public; further regulating incorporation purposes and existence of the authority; defining procedure whereby an authority can enter into contracts and dispose of its bonds; imposing additional qualifications and duties on members of the authority; imposing civil liability on members of the board and officers of an authority in certain cases; requiring annual audits; imposing additional duties on the court of common pleas; giving authorities right of eminent domain in certain cases; extending with certain limitations the power of Authorities to make certain purchases requiring authorities in certain cases to secure certificates of public convenience from the Public Utility Commission, imposing duties upon said commission and providing for appeals, requiring the filing of financial reports by authorities with and the approval of bond issues by the Department of Internal Affairs and conferring powers and imposing duties upon said department, restricting the appointment of members of authorities and limiting their salaries, and providing for the voluntary dissolution of authorities.

be recommitted to the Committee on Public Utilities at the request of the sponsor.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I oppose the motion to recommit this bill. I think there are somewhere lodged in committees of the House and the Senate eight bills regulating municipal authorities. I do not want to question the motive of the gentleman who made the motion and who sponsored the bill, as obviously he is interested in its passage, but I want to register my protest against the inaction of the General Assembly in permitting these bills to be lodged in committee, bills which are of tremendous importance to the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, some time immediately following the Chester water deal, water scandal, rather, there was a rush by members on both sides of the General Assembly to introduce bills to preclude the possibility or guard against the possibility of a similar occurrence in any other political sub-division of the Commonwealth, and those bills have been resting in committee until this week, when this particular bill made its appearance on the Calendar.

Mr. President, in my particular community this is a very live issue, and I want to register my protest against recommitting this bill and I ask for a roll call.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman from Lackawanna that he is not any more deeply interested in trying to correct some of the evils that cropped out of this particular municipal scandal than the sponsors of the bill, and I assure him there is no sinister motive in having this bill recommitted to the Committee on Public Utilities.

If the gentleman will recall, when this bill first made its appearance on the Calendar, the understanding was that it was to be printed with these amendments in it, so that the members of the Senate would have an opportunity to read them, and after receiving two readings, it would be re-referred to the Committee on Public Utilities so that we could discuss some of the objections and some of the suggestions and constructive criticisms that might be offered. There have been a number of suggestions made that I think the committee should consider. There is no sense in just passing a bill on municipal authorities merely to get a bill on municipal authorities.

Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman from Lackawanna that one of the suggestions that has been made that is entitled to careful consideration, because it is a constructive suggestion, is to be found on page fourteen of the bill, lines twenty-four and twenty-five. Line twenty-four reads as follows: "Before any authority organized under this act shall begin the construction," and so on. It is not the thought of those who are interested in regulating municipal authorities to enter into the business of local authorities in constructing water works, electric light plants or sewage disposal plants. The evil that arises, arises from acquisition through purchase, and it is a very grave problem, as to whether or not we might not be interfering too much with the theory of home rule, which we all so lovingly embrace, if we permit the word "construction" to stay in there, and perhaps we would be far better off, in line with the proper regulation of authorities, if that were stricken from the bill.

That is merely one suggestion that has come to us, and there are a number of others, and I assure the gentleman from Lackawanna that he is not lowering his flag the least bit in his ardent defense of proper regulation of authorities by permitting this bill to be recommitted, so that it can be made as good a bill as we can possibly make it.

Mr. President, I want also to suggest to the gentleman from Lackawanna that this problem of municipal authorities and their regulation is new in Pennsylvania and there is much about municipal authorities, their operation and their regulation, that is in the infant stage, and we should not make haste on this thing for fear we wreck the good that the municipal authorities do accomplish in Pennsylvania.

There are a number of municipalities throughout Pennsylvania that have been benefitted by the opportunity to acquire municipal authorities and purchase water works and sewage disposal plants. For years there have been statutes on the law books of Pennsylvania compelling municipalities to construct sewage disposal plants and any of you who have been familiar with the operation of municipal government know full well how often small boroughs, large boroughs and other municipalities have openly defied the state when the state has issued an order to that particular municipality to construct a sewage disposal plant.

Mr. President, this is a serious subject, it is a very complicated subject, and we are trying to do the best that we know how, and one of the ways we can make progress, frankly, is to get this bill back so we can carefully study it and not just push it through in a hasty manner, in order to avoid hasty criticism from an over-enthusiastic public.

Mr. MALLERY: Mr. President, I think the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Walker, has covered the matter very well. I simply want to likewise assure the Senator from Lackawanna that there is no intent to pickle this very important bill. In all probability the bill will come out of committee tomorrow, and we all hope it will be in better shape than it is at the present time.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, over a long period of years there has been a traditional courtesy in the House and the Senate, whenever a bill is reported out with the understanding that it shall be recommitted after two or three readings, that courtesy to my knowledge has never been violated.

I had no idea when the gentleman made his motion that such a thing happened in committee, when this bill was reported out; I am not a member of the Committee on Public Utilities. I would like to suggest to the committee, however, that this is, I think, one of the most important bills that is now before us in the General Assembly. There are four or five other bills, Mr. President, that are now lodged in Senate committees, one of them in a conference committee, and I think the General Assembly should not adjourn without taking some action on this matter. So I withdraw my objection, Mr. President, in view of the very intelligent and illuminating explanation of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

I withdraw my request for a roll call, Mr. President, and suggest to the committee, having an abiding faith in the honesty and veracity of my good friend from Blair, Senator Mallery, that the committee act without any undue delay in re-reporting this bill so that we can have an opportunity to vote on it in the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to suggest to the gentleman from Montgomery that if this bill goes back to committee it has very little likelihood of passing, because if we adjourn next week there will not be sufficient time for this bill to pass the House. The House does not have the same rules as we have.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia. Are we going to adjourn next week?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. President, I think if the bill is to be amended, there is a bill in the House, and this matter has been discussed with a group who are interested in it, and I think they could make amendments over there just as well as we could here, and I think it would expedite matters if this bill is passed. I am quite sure if this bill is recommitted to committee it will never come out in time to be passed, because the loss of a day may mean a great deal.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, for the information of all the Senators I would like to state that there will be a meeting of the Public Utilities Committee tonight to consider this bill, and I likewise extend to all Senators who are interested in this bill an invitation to attend that meeting.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. GELTZ, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION OFFERING CONDOLENCES ON DEATH OF HONORABLE JOHN JOSEPH SHAW

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I now desire to offer a resolution, which I will ask be unanimously adopted, on behalf of myself and my colleague, Mr. Geltz.

It is a extremely distasteful and distressing task which I have, because I have known the gentleman with whom this resolution is concerned for many years, and while I differed with him politically in later years, many of us have, all of us have learned to respect his decency and his high standards, particularly in public life, and the sudden death of Doctor Shaw this morning has been a shock not only to me but to all of those who have known him. Therefore, Mr. President, Senator Geltz and myself present here in the Senate and in the House this resolution which we ask immediately be adopted.

Messrs. SHAPIRO and GELTZ. Mr. President, we ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SHAPIRO and GELTZ offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, June 24, 1941.

Whereas, The Citizens of the Commonwealth, and particularly the members of the Senate, have today been profoundly shocked at the sudden passing of the Honorable John Joseph Shaw, Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, To those of us who knew him, his passing brings a sense of profound loss, made more keen by the realization that the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will sorely miss the services of so eminent a man; and

Whereas, during the short span of his fifty-three years, Dr. Shaw exemplified those great qualities of tolerance and humanity with which every true American is endowed; and

Whereas, During his term of office, he set aside petty political considerations in the conduct of his highly important office in this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, As Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, his expert guidance made Pennsylvania preeminent in its care and treatment of persons afflicted with tuberculosis; and

Whereas, For his public service and his great achievements, he was recently signally honored by the University of Pennsylvania, and Temple University having conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Science; and

Whereas, His entire adult life was devoted to the development of the physical well-being of the citizens of this Commonwealth, regardless of the personal sacrifice such devotion to his ideal entailed; and

Whereas, His entire medical career was spent in a rigid observance of the Oath of Hippocrates, which he took on becoming a physician; and

Whereas, That his interests extend beyond the State, is exemplified by the fact that he was an active member of the American Medical Society and American Public Health Association, as well as an active and guiding member of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, and the Philadelphia County Medical Society; and

Whereas, The Senate feels an additional profound loss in his passing, because to us he was more than a member of the Governor's Cabinet, more than a great public servant, but that he was truly a courageous and sympathetic friend; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania marks with profound sorrow the passing of this great Pennsylvanian; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed by the Secretary of the Senate to the family of the deceased, conveying thereby the profound sympathy of the Senate to them in their great bereavement.

Bless the effort of all who labor to bind up the wounds of war and rebuild the shattered foundations of brotherhood.

Hasten the day, we pray Thee, when man's inhumanity to his brother shall no longer make countless thousands mourn. Do Thou direct the feet of erring men into the ways of righteousness and lead them from the city of destruction to the kingdom of God. This we pray in the name of Jesus, the Christ. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 830

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 830, Printer's No. 720, entitled, "An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three 1933-34 (P. L. 15) entitled as last amended 'An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in, and use of alcohol, and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys; authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in, connection with, and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees; and imposing penalties,' changing the provisions of said act with respect to natural wines as herein defined"

This bill must be considered together with House Bill No. 831, Printer's No. 721, as the two are companion bills; and neither would serve any useful purpose without the final enactment of the other.

This bill would amend the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act, the Act of November 29, 1933, Sp. Sess. P. L. 15, as reenacted and amended July 18, 1935, P. L. 1246 and June 16, 1937, P. L. 1762, 47 P. S. Section 744-1 et seq., by excepting unfortified wines from the definition of "liquor", and separately classifying them as "natural" wines. "Natural" wines are contrasted with fortified wines. Fortified wines are those to which alcohol is added chiefly in the form of brandies for preservative purposes which naturally results in increasing alcoholic content. The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board now sells "natural" wines of the following classes: champagnes, clarets, zinfandel, barbera, chianti, burgundy, sauternes, several fruit wines, Rhine wine and possibly others. Of course, some of these wines classed as "natural" wines may be fortified by the addition of alcoholic products. The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act in its present form includes all wines within its definition of "liquor"

This bill and House Bill No. 831 would liberalize materially the control of the liquor traffic in Pennsylvania. Under present legislation retail dispensers licensed under the Beverage License Law may not possess or sell liquor, which includes all wines, and all liquor must be purchased from Pennsylvania Liquor Stores. Under these two bills distributors and importing distributors of malt or brewed beverages would be permitted to purchase the defined natural wines direct from Pennsylvania manufacturers, and importing distributors direct from manufacturers outside Pennsylvania. Such distributors and importing distributors would be permitted to sell the defined natural wines direct to hotels, restaurants and clubs licensed under the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act and to retail dispensers licensed under the Beverage License Law. The distributors of malt or brewed beverages would be in direct competition with Pennsylvania Liquor Stores, if indeed, as hereinafter indicated, such stores could legally buy and sell natural wines at all, and it is a foregone conclusion that such distributors would undersell said stores, thereby inevitably leading to the virtual elimination of the sale of natural wines in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores. There would be over 21,000 privately owned retail outlets for the sale of natural wines in Pennsylvania, as opposed to 576 Pennsylvania Liquor Stores, the former being open for business much longer hours than Pennsylvania Liquor Stores. It would be vastly more difficult, if not impossible, to enforce the laws relating to liquor (including natural wines as defined) if retail dispensers were allowed to buy natural wines direct from the manufacturer or producer and to sell the same direct to the consumer. The present system of liquor control, whereby all liquor (including wines) is sold by Pennsylvania Liquor Stores only, is functioning satisfactorily, and regulation of such liquor can be more adequately established and maintained by continuing that system.

If this bill and House Bill No. 831 became law the Commonwealth would receive only the State tax on natural wines, which is about 14c per gallon, and would lose the 10% Emergency Relief Tax now collected on all sales of wines in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores. When the increased cost of enforcement, which would result from the necessity of supervising sales of natural wines by over 21,000 retail outlets, would be added to this loss of revenue, the ultimate loss in revenue to the Commonwealth would be staggering.

Moreover, any real benefit to Pennsylvania grape growers expected to flow from these bills is illusory. The Act of February 19, 1926, P. L. 16, as reenacted and amended December 8, 1933, Sp. Sess. P. L. 57, July 18, 1935, P. L. 1283, and June 16, 1937, P. L. 1811, 47 P. S. Section 121 et seq., supra, already permits the manufacture of wine from grapes by a grower thereof, without any license, and the sale of such wine to a licensed winery. Wines so manufactured come within the definitions of natural wines in this bill and House Bill No. 831. These two bills would permit importing distributors of malt or brewed beverages to import natural wines from outside Pennsylvania, from such principal wine producing states as California, New York, Ohio, Virginia and New Jersey and not subject to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control System and to sell such wines in direct competition with wines manufactured in Pennsylvania by Pennsylvania grape growers.

The approval of this bill and House Bill No. 831 would be of little or no benefit to any deserving thereof, would open wide the door to uncontrolled traffic in wines, and would be the entering wedge to split wide open the liquor control system as presently established in Pennsylvania.

The bill would establish substantially the same classification and control for natural wines as for malt or brewed beverages, although it is common knowledge that natural wines possess a higher alcoholic content than most malt or brewed beverages, and although the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board neither buys nor sells malt or brewed beverages.

The bill would authorize licensees under the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act to purchase natural wines from distributors and importing distributors of malt or brewed beverages licensed under the Beverage License Law (the Act of May 3, 1933, P. L. 252, as amended December 20, 1933, Sp. Sess. P. L. 75, and as reenacted and amended July 18, 1935, P. L. 1217 and June 16, 1937, P. L. 1827, 47 P. S. Section 84 et seq.), and to sell the same for consumption on the premises, and off the premises (except clubs) in certain maximum quantities.

The bill also contains a "joker." It purports to authorize licensees under the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act to purchase natural wines from Pennsylvania Liquor Stores, although Section 201 (a) of the bill (Section 201 of the bill would replace Section 201 of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act, as amended) does not empower the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to buy, import, possess or sell natural wines as defined in the bill.

Moreover, the bill as drawn in Section 201 (b) fails to authorize the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to fix the wholesale and retail prices at which natural wines as defined in the bill shall be sold at Pennsylvania Liquor Stores; and Section 602 (1) neglects to make it unlawful to sell natural wines as defined in the bill, except as provided in the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act, as reenacted and amended by the bill.

House Bill No. 831, Printer's No. 721, hereinbefore referred to, would reenact and amend the Beverage License Law, supra, by including therein "natural wines" and by providing for the purchase and sale of such wines. Both "natural wines" and "wineries" are identically defined in House Bill No. 831 and this bill.

House Bill No. 831 would authorize distributors and importing distributors of malt or brewed beverages to sell or deliver natural wines anywhere in Pennsylvania, provided such wines have been purchased from a licensed winery, an importing distributor, or from a Pennsylvania Liquor Store. Importing distributors would be permitted to purchase such wines only from persons from whom distributors might purchase, or from producers and persons engaged in the legal sale of such wines outside Pennsylvania.

House Bill No. 831 (by Section 2) (g), which corresponds to Section 2 (f) of the Beverage License Law, as amended) would also permit retail dispensers, formerly restricted to the sale of malt or brewed beverages, to sell natural wines in substantially the same manner as malt or brewed beverages.

The definition of "importing distributor" in Section 2 (e) of House Bill No. 831 does not embrace the purchase by such distributor of natural wines from a Pennsylvania manufacturer inasmuch as the bill does not provide for the licensure of such manufacturer.

Although it is well known that breweries, which manufacture malt or brewed beverages, do not manufacture wines, Section 5 of House Bill No. 831 would make it unlawful for anyone to manufacture or produce natural wines unless such person holds a manufacturer's license, and a manufacturer's license may be issued under Section 5 of the bill only for the production and manufacture of malt or brewed beverages or natural wines; that is, breweries, which do not make wine, would be licensed to do so, and wineries, which do not brew malt beverages, would be licensed to do so.

I fully recognize that the Pennsylvania grape growers are presented with difficulties that we would be glad to see solved, but do not believe that they should be answered by taking them from under the supervision and control of the Liquor Control Board. By amendment of the Act of June 16, 1937, P. L. 1811, a limited winery license for grapes grown in Pennsylvania, under such reasonable conditions as may be fixed by the Legislature should be equally as satisfactory as the proposed acts without their dangerous features.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the communication from the Governor be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 831, Printer's No. 721, entitled "An act to reenact and further amend the title and the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 252) entitled at last amended 'An act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt and brewed beverages as herein defined providing for the licensing of the manufacture transportation sale and distribution of such beverages imposing license and permit fees, and providing for collection and distribution thereof restricting ownership and interest in licensed places permitting municipalities and townships by vote of the electors to prevent the licensing therein of places where such beverages may be sold for consumption on the premises, and regulating elections for this purpose; imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, quarter sessions courts, district attorneys, the Department of Justice, proper authorities of political subdivisions of the State, and election officers; providing penalties; and repealing existing acts," including natural wines, as herein defined, within the provisions of said act; providing special licenses for the sale thereof, authorizing retail dispensers to sell natural wines without further license;

This bill would amend the Beverage License Law, (the Act of May 3, 1933, P. L. 252, as amended December 20, 1933, Sp. Sess. P. L. 75, and as reenacted and amended July 18, 1935, P. L. 1217, and June 16, 1937, P. L. 1827, 47 P. S. Section 84, et seq.) by including and defining unfortified wines as "natural wines," and by treating brewed or malt beverages and wines, for purposes of control, substantially the same. It would allow retail dispensers of malt or brewed beverages to sell wines in the same manner as said beverages.

This bill is a companion bill to House Bill No. 830, Printer's No. 720, which I have already returned without my approval.

For the reasons recited at length in my message accompanying the return of House Bill No. 830, this bill is not approved.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1072

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1072, Printer's No. 486, entitled, "An Act to amend section five hundred and nineteen of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled 'An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto' providing for the payment of the costs of viewers by the Commonwealth in certain cases."

This bill would relieve counties subject to the provisions of the Act of Assembly approved May 2, 1929, P. L. 1278, generally known as "The General County Law," from their existing liability to pay the costs of viewers appointed by the courts of the several counties to ascertain the damages consequent to the taking of property by the Commonwealth under its right of eminent domain and place such costs upon the Commonwealth.

The improvement of State highway routes is a definite benefit to the counties in which such routes are located, and I do not deem it to be an undue burden upon the counties that they bear the cost of viewers in eminent domain proceedings.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. PROSEN, PETROSKY and HAINES offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 24, 1941.

An event that will linger for years in the happy memories of the members of this House who participated, was the trip that was taken to New York on Wednesday June 18, 1941, the occasion being the Conn-Louis fight.

The unprecedented success of the party was due in the first instance to the Honorable Harry O'Neill through whose tireless efforts no detail was overlooked to make the trip a marvelous success. The arrangements for refreshments and accommodations could not be surpassed. While it is quite unlikely that the Honorable Harry O'Neill had anything to do with the success of the fight itself, it cannot go unrecorded as a perfect ending to a perfect trip.

Too often the efforts of individuals who give of their time and energy for others without thought of personal reward, goes unheralded; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives, on behalf of those members who made the trip to the Louis-Conn fight in New York, give a rousing vote of thanks to the Honorable Harry O'Neill for his splendid efforts in arranging the trip and making it an outstanding and never to be forgotten event; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Honorable Harry O'Neill as a token of its appreciation for his untiring efforts.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. PAUL A. BRUNNER, BALTHASER, READINGER and MARKS offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 24, 1941.

Whereas, It appears that the House of Representatives and the Senate are now engaged in a deadlock; and

Whereas, It appears strange, with all this heat, that one should desire to engage in wedlock; and

Whereas, With perhaps the thought in mind of setting an example for both House and Senate of what can be accomplished by unity, the Honorable Lloyd L. Wolf of this House today married Gwendolyn Spencer; be it therefore Resolved, That the House of Representatives pause in its deliberations to felicitate the happy couple on this the occasion of their union, and to wish them a successful journey throughout a long and happy married life.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 803 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. TATE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, June 24, 1941.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 803, Rrinter's No. 905, entitled "An act to amend section six hundred and forty-three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled 'An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth' prohibiting the selling giving away or permitting or employing minors under eighteen years of age to sing dance act or exhibit in dance houses or in concert saloons theaters or places of entertainment where or connected with which wines or spirituous or malt liquors are sold or given away prohibiting the selling giving away or permitting or employing minors under eighteen years of age to sing dance act or exhibit in tap rooms clubs cafes restaurants and eating houses where or connected with which wines or spirituous or malt liquors are sold or given away prohibiting the disrepresentation of age by the aforesaid minors and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1048, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the practice of the healing profession of chiropractic, and the licensure and registration of practitioners therein; creating a Chiropractic Board of Examination and Licensure in the Department of Public Instruction; defining its powers and duties, and providing penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, is this motion debatable?

The SPEAKER. The motion to recommit is debatable, but debate must be confined to the motion.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, is the subject matter of the bill debatable?

The SPEAKER. The main question, the bill itself, is not before the House; only the motion to recommit. Remarks must be confined to the motion.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny state his purpose in having this bill recommitted?

Mr. BENTLEY. I will, Mr. Speaker. There are a number of reasons which, in my opinion, are perfectly sufficient for recommitting and burying House Bill 1048, the Chiropractors' Bill. Perhaps they were best stated in a telegram which was laid on every Member's desk from the various county medical associations throughout the state. I will not read the telegram, but briefly summarize the points made by the medical associations, and I adopt their reasons.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I believe the answer to the interrogation is not on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the point of order not well taken. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman concluded his answer to my interrogation?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I most certainly have not.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, in further answer to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel I might state that the first reason for recommitting House Bill 1048 is that it proposes legislation unnecessary — —

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver will state his point of order.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is talking on the bill. I asked for a reason for the gentleman's request to recommit this bill. I contend the gentleman has not answered my question.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman does not want to hear about my reasons — — —

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman will confine his reply to the motion to recommit. Certainly, for the information of the gentleman from Beaver, a limited amount of latitude is necessary to explain why the motion is made to recommit. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to acquiesce in the limits placed on me by the gentleman from Beaver, and I shall expect him also to be so limited. I propose this bill be recommitted so that it can be given further study.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that he has not had ample time to study this bill?

Mr. BENTLEY. No. Mr. Speaker, the bill should be given further study on its merits, which are of a very broad nature. I think about four years would be enough.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to say what I think of the extensive time suggested by the gentleman from Allegheny which is required to study this bill. That is all for this gentleman, Mr. Speaker, but I would like to talk further on this motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much it is not within the province of parliamentary procedure to discuss at this time the merits of this bill, and because of this I will endeavor to confine my remarks entirely to the motion to recommit.

You will note, Members of the House that I asked for the reason for recommitting this bill and none was given until it was forced at last, for further study and a suggestion that it might take four years to dig down into the bottom of this bill so that it might be understood. I think the gentleman has uncovered or has shown to us the thin veil that covers the motion in asking that this bill be recommitted when he referred to a telegram that was placed on every Member's desk, and by the way, Mr. Speaker, one was not placed on my desk, from the Medical Association, showing why this bill should be recommitted or be defeated. That revealed to us why this association desires to have this bill recommitted. The Medical Association of Pennsylvania is back of this recommittal.

In order to clarify this I have in my possession a telegram which was sent yesterday to a member of this House who kindly handed it to me. I will not give his name unless request is made to do so. This telegram is as follows:

"House Bill ten forty-eight may be considered this week stop please vote to recommit or against."

This telegram is signed by Doctor John P. Griffith President, Doctor George R. Harris, Secretary, Doctor C. L. Palmer, Chairman Public Health Legislation Committee, Allegheny County Medical Society.

There, gentleman, you have the analysis of the whole problem. You have before you the exact reason why they want this bill recommitted. I contend this is a most unfair method of procedure; a bill that has been before the Legislature for the last four sessions at least, and many sessions before, a bill that passed this House in 1927 which at that time showed so much merit that a committee was appointed to study the healing arts of Pennsylvania, and a report made from this committee which I will disclose on the floor of this House when this bill is discussed on third reading. I will say that this is a stab in the back. They fear to have this bill on the floor of the House, lest the real facts be revealed to the Legislature and to the people of the State concerning this bill which has had a public hearing at which public hearing there were one hundred thousand names signed to a petition without any coercion being exerted.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman is speaking relative to the motion before the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will continue his remarks to the motion to recommit. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I am simply trying to show to the Members of this House that this bill should not be recommitted, because the citizens of this great Commonwealth do not want it recommitted and we are representing these citizens. Why should we not accede to their wishes? I say to recommit this bill is a most cowardly act, it is a stab in the back, it is striking below the belt.

I have here, Mr. Speaker, another communication from an organization in Pennsylvania that it outstanding. It is from the Brotherhoods of Railroad Workers. That communication reads as follows:

"The citizens of Pennsylvania have a constitutional right to the methods of healing and the doctors of their choice."

"Forty-two states of the Union

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is now speaking on the merits of the bill. He has just mentioned constitutional rights.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the points of order are dilatory. The gentleman should be permitted to conclude his remarks.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I was perfectly willing to open this question but the gentleman rose to a point of order and then said I did not give reasons.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Beaver to confine his remarks to the motion to recommit. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I am simply calling to the attention of the Members of the House the urgent request made by citizens of our state not to recommit this bill, and if there is anything that comes within our parliamentary procedure that should be included, it seems to me this should be so included.

I will continue reading from the communication as follows, Mr. Speaker:

"Forty-two States of the Union, including District of Columbia and the Territories of the United States, do now have regulatory laws for Chiropractic treatments.

"The Chiropractic treatments have been tested through more than forty years and fully one-fourth of the entire population of the United States has, at one time or another, received chiropractic attention. The clientele ranks second in numbers—surpassed only by medicine and surgery.

"House Bill No. 1048, has the endorsement of the four Railroad Transportation Brotherhoods of the State of Pennsylvania, for the reason, the method of treatment used by the Chiropractors is very beneficial to those of us employed in the railroad industry, due to the fact that our bodies, while performing our natural duties, are often in a very abnormal condition with the result when a sudden shock or something of that nature occurs, it often results in dislocated nerves, etc. We have found that chiropractic treatment does reach the affected parts of our bodies, and we hope, therefore, that the Legislature will give the Chiropractors an opportunity to practice their profession without being violators of the law.

"We do not, by any means, have too many professional men and women who are practicing the art of healing, which is shown by the records and findings of the United States Government when examining our young men for military service.

"The passage of House Bill No. 1048 will not nullify previously established health laws; nor will it interfere with any other form of practice. It will, however, improve the public's opportunity to receive the Chiropractic health service under the supervision and control of Chiropractic Examiners.

"This bill if enacted into law will be a public health benefit measure and we appeal to you for favorable action."

W. A. MAJOR, Chairman,
Order of Railway Conductors

L. V. BYRNES, Legislative Representative,
Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers

H. A. WALSH, Chairman
Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen

JAMES A. FOX, Chairman
Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen."

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NAGEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if that last letter that the gentleman just read is on the official letterhead and is signed or are those names just typewritten on there?

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say it is typewritten on a plain piece of paper and it is not signed. It is entirely typewritten. However, if the gentleman desires I can get from Mr. Fox the original of this letter.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the gentleman from Beaver has just admitted that this letter which he just read is on a plain piece of paper and not on the official letterhead and is not signed by anyone, it is just typewritten, I ask the Members of this House to disregard anything that is in that letter as being unofficial and not authentic.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, a telegram offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley, in support of his reason for recommitting this bill was said to have been laid on every Member's desk. I want to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland if this was an original or whether it was signed.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he ever saw a telegram that was signed?

Mr. NAGEL. I will say I did not, but I will contend that it is no more authentic than this article that has just been read.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, in voting for this motion to recommit----

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order. The gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, has the floor.

Mr. HARKINS. I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker, I thought the gentleman had finished.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, For the information of the gentleman just leaving the floor, I will say that my remarks will not be continued much longer, but I do want to say to the Members of this House that I know and I am aware of the fact that powerful pressure has been brought upon certain Members by the medical association of Pennsylvania to vote against this bill. I have had Members come to me and say, "I would like to support your bill but I dare not do it."

Now, members of the House, are we going to submit to such heat and such pressure that we cannot go to our homes and back to our districts which sent us here and say to them that we voted independently of any pressure that was brought upon us? I feel that every Member of this House has a great degree of intelligence, I do not believe that there is a Member of this House who can be corrupted, I do not believe that there is a Member of the House who would take any boodle that is laid upon the barrel-head. I do not feel so. I think you are going to vote on this measure as it should be voted on. I have confidence in you.

I want to call your attention to one other matter. I don't like to refer to myself in any legislative work, but I want to call your attention to the fact that in this House in the last three of four sessions, three in particular, in this Legislature, in which I took part in deliberating on all legislative matters that came before the House. I have never stooped to such tactics as to move that a bill be put back in committee and I even voted to keep a bill on the floor of the House and then voted against that bill after it was on the floor of the House. It is only fair to your constituents back home, it is only fair to suffering humanity that is going to benefit from chiropractic treatments, to give them the benefit of the discussion of this bill on the floor of the House. Are we going to yield and not grant to our constituents and to the people of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylv-vania the right to know what this chiropractic bill means, the right to know what place it should have and what place the features of this bill should have in the laws of our Commonwealth? I say again, Mr. Speaker, it is a cowardly trick and I ask you Members of the House, this not being a partisan affair, this being a matter which concerns both sides of this House equally, I ask you to extend to me as a Member of this House at this particular time the same courtesy that I have always extended to you, whether I thought your bills were good or bad. If it had any merits whatever, if there was any reason to believe that a certain number of our citizens wanted that bill, I would vote against a motion to recommit that bill, and I ask you to extend to me that same courtesy today. I ask you to give some thought to this, I ask you not to stoop and lie under the pressure that has been put upon you. Be free American citizens so that when you reach your homes after this session is adjourned finally you can say to your own constituents "I voted according to the way I thought was right." I thank the Members of the House and I ask you to vote against the motion to recommit.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I should perhaps be astonished and even amazed at the charge of cowardice and unfair practices coming from the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, but I am not when I find that he rose to interrogate me and asked me to explain my reasons for moving to recommit this bill, and then immediately falls on a point of parliamentary procedure to stifle any reasons that I may have cared to give.

I ask only one thing of the Members of this House in voting on this motion to recommit. I ask you to recall who showed obedience and respect for the Chair in observing the Chair's decision, to speak only on the motion to recommit, myself or Mr. Nagel. I recall for the Members of the House that Mr. Nagel read a so-called message from the Brotherhood of Firemen and I ask you whether or not that was speaking on the merits of the bill. If he did not speak on the merits of the bill, the very thing that he refused to allow me to do, then I do not understand the English language. I ask you only to recall who used the unfair tactics, who played fair and observed the ruling of the Chair, when I asked you to support this motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, in rising to support the motion to recommit this bill I want to say that my vote for the motion is not influenced or determined by the opposition of the Allegheny County Medical Association to this bill. My vote for the recommitment of this bill is being determined by the fact that I believe this bill is not the proper type of legislation to have upon the statute books. I would not hesitate to vote against the bill, voting on the merits of it. I am particularly calling this to the attention of the Allegheny County Medical Association, because I think in the past few years this association has been inaccurate and inexact in its reporting of the vote of Members of this House to the various medical doctors in the various communities which it serves. I feel that this is the proper opportunity to call the attention of this association to the fact that is inaccurate method of reporting does not obtain any votes for it.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I want it clearly understood that my vote for the recommitment of this bill is not in any way determined by the fact that the Medical Association happens to oppose the bill.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion to recommit this bill. One of the arguments advanced by the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, for not recommitting this bill was that forty-two states of the Union have chiropractic legislation. Mr. Nagel forgot to inform the House that one of the forty-two states is Pennsylvania. Another reason why I think this bill should be recommitted is because on the statutes of the state of Pennsylvania today are laws which regulate medical practice, and they have been to the Supreme Court of the United States and the Superior Court of the state and they have been upheld, and included in these laws, incorporated in them, under drugless therapists are the chiropractors. I think that this is in unnecessary law and an unnecessary board. I feel that this bill should be returned to committee.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Bentley in giving his reasons for recommitting the bill, stated as one of them the fact that the medical profession was against it. Well, that is the particular reason why he should vote against the recommitment of this bill. When the question came up about the welfare of the community, I might enlighten the gentleman in regard to certain medical organizations in the advancement of different things.

Mr. Speaker, I am now reading from an issue of the Detroit News:

"Bathtubs, back in the fifties and sixties were bitterly opposed by the medical profession on the grounds that the use of them led to pneumonia. In 1853, Philadelphia Common Council considered an ordinance forbidding the use of bathtubs during the winter months and it failed to pass by only two votes. In 1845, Boston passed an ordinance forbidding bathing in a tub without a medical order, but it never was enforced, and in 1852 it was repealed. By 1860, despite the hostility of the physicians there was a bathtub in every big New York hotel, and some boasted two and even three."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of order.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion to recommit the bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, one of the proponents of the motion, Dr. Sarraf from Allegheny I believe touched upon the merits of the motion to recommit the bill, and I feel in all fairness that Mr. Cullen of Philadelphia should be also entitled to answer one of the questions that was brought up in the argument.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, when the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, interrogated the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Bentley, he raised the point of order that he was not confining his remarks to the motion to recommit. The Chair has tried to be very fair during the discussion on the motion to recommit.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I made a direct assertion regarding Dr. Sarraf's statement relative to the recommitment of this bill, and I think what Mr. Cullen of Philadelphia is attempting to do is to answer the assertion made by the doctor, or by Mr. Bentley. Now, I believe if one side has been allowed a broad latitude on the subject, I think then certainly that Mr. Cullen's remarks should be entitled to a broad scope.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been trying to be very liberal on this question. When a point of order is raised the Chair can but ask the Members to confine their remarks to the motion to recommit the bill. If the House wants to discuss the merits of this bill it must either vote down the motion to recommit or the motion will have to be withdrawn.

The rules of the House say that a motion to recommit stops discussion on the main question. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker---

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? We have a very long calendar and it is the intention to declare a recess very shortly, with the permission of the House, for the purpose of holding a caucus. The Chair is of the opinion that this question can be handled expeditiously if the Members will confine their remarks to the question of recommitment. The gentleman will proceed.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, in the interrogation of Mr. Bentley he raised a certain point. The point I am making is that I cannot answer Mr. Bentley as to one of his reasons for recommitting the bill—that the medical profession was against the bill.

The SPEAKER. What is the gentleman's question?

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, cannot I answer the gentleman's question and show him that the medical profession, even though they are against the bill, should not be considered?

The SPEAKER. A point of order was raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia. The Chair has ruled that the gentleman shall confine his remarks to the motion to recommit. The gentleman from Philadelphia may only discuss the reasons why the bill should or should not be recommitted. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I was trying to explain that I was answering the reason given by the gentleman who made the motion. It is my contention that he gave a certain reason for recommitting the bill as one of his reasons, and an answer to that is perfectly in order. That is my contention Mr. Speaker. He raised his reason and I'm only answering his reason.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. CULLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, if I am out of order by reading this, then that is the reason I am against the motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I feel confident that the controversy relative to House Bill 1048 could best be described as one that need not be argued on a motion to recommit, but if any Member or group of Members feel that House Bill 1048 should be sent back to committee then the rules of procedure as outlined by the Speaker should in all regularity be adhered to.

I am not so much concerned with the argument propounded by the gentleman from Allegheny that the Medical Association of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is opposed to House Bill 1048, nor on the other hand that the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen are in favor of House Bill 1048. I only want to bring to the attention of the Members of the House the fact that House Bill 1048 was introduced on March 31st and sent to the Committee on Professional Licensure on April 1st of 1941. House Bill 1048 was in committee approximately two and a half months and there was ample study and diligent attention given to the bill. The proponents of the recommitment motion will admit that the bill was studied from every angle, and I call upon you in the name of fairness, and I say to you it is only fair to the proponents of this measure and to the people of the Commonwealth who think that House Bill 1048 is fair and just, to permit the bill to remain on the calendar, be advanced to third reading and the merits or demerits be amply and intelligently discussed.

MR. ACHTERMAN IN THE CHAIR

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I want to correct a statement made some time ago by Dr. Sarraf. He said in my remarks I had forgotten to mention that the state of Pennsylvania had a law licensing chiropractors. I want to deny that. That is not correct. Pennsylvania has no law giving the chiropractor his own licensing board. The states in the United States that do not have such a law are Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas. I have copies of the laws---

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I do not care to interrupt the speaker, but statements are being made erroneously and they accuse me---

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny rise?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, my remarks were made with reference to recommitting this bill. My remarks are a matter of record. The gentleman is using my remarks and misconstruing them in an attempt to prove that this bill should not be recommitted. The gentleman is also speaking on the merits of the bill. Mr. Speaker, I raise that point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has already ruled on the question. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I was simply trying to correct a statement which I know is not correct and I think I have proof and evidence to show it is not correct. I defy anyone to show me on the statutes of Pennsylvania wherein the chiropractor has his own licensing board, the same as in many of these other states which do have a chiropractic law, and which do have a licensing board. Pennsylvania does not have. Do not be led astray by a statement of that kind because it is not correct.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Nagel and Mr. Russell E. Reese.

Messrs Russell E. Reese, Nagel and Cullen asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 24, 1941.

Thirty-seven years ago last Thursday the Honorable Charles H. Brunner, Jr. was born in Lancaster and at an early age displayed the unusual intelligence which accounts for his present place in public life, by leaving Lancaster and attending the grade schools and the High School in Norristown. His remarkable career best proves that Lancaster is a good place to come from.

As a boy he thrilled to the sound of the fire alarm, the prancing of galloping fire horses and the excitement and consternation attending fires. Upon graduation from the Norristown High School in 1920 he entered Colgate University graduating from that institution in 1927 having majored in fire-fighting and hose placement. Not being satisfied with the knowledge in this particular field thus far acquired, he entered Temple University Law School graduating in 1931 with the degrees of A. B. and L. L. B. also C. E. P. H. (Chief Engineer Placement of Hose with all the legal knowledge pertaining thereto).

His extreme interest and efficiency in this field was noted by the firemen of his home community and they determined that they must have an officer well versed in this subject and accordingly made him vice president of the Norristown Hose Company No. 1 for the year 1939. His record during that year compelled his election to the presidency of the Company in 1940.

He represents the third generation of attorneys of the Brunner family in Montgomery County but so far no provision has been made for the continuation of this record.

He came into this House as a freshman in 1939 and at his very first session sponsored the largest piece of legislation passed and approved by the Governor. Covering two hundred and four pages of the pamphlet laws of 1939 the Penal Code, after failing of passage at many previous sessions, was finally put across, in great measure, as the result of his diligent efforts.

His record with the Code of Criminal Procedure at this session is however, not so good.

Our associate from Montgomery County is a member of Colgate Theta Phi Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, Norristown Lions Club, Norristown Maennuckor, Knights of Golden Eagle, Norristown Hose Company No. 1; member Loyal Order of Moose, Montgomery County Firemen's Association; regional vice-president of Schuylkill River Valley Restoration Association, for Montgomery County; therefore be it

Resolved, That today the Members of this House, belatedly extends to the Honorable Charles H. Brunner, Jr. their warmest congratulations and their best wishes for many returns thereof and for the arrival soon of the son who can carry out the family tradition and become Lawyer Brunner, number four of the County of Montgomery; and be it further

Resolved, That as a permanent token of our esteem and regard for him, the Chief Clerk shall immediately prepare a copy of this resolution and transmit the same to the Honorable Charles H. Brunner, Jr.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House after all that, all I can say is "period."

Seriously, however, the efforts of my colleagues from Montgomery County in preparing such a voluminous and extensive resolution bespeaks the interest with which we hold one another. I thank them for it and I thank the membership, but I warn the membership to pay no attention whatsoever to the contents other than the fact that I was born in Lancaster on June 19, 1904, which is a very good County to come from. I may explain that the reason I was born in Lancaster County was that I was the first born in my family and my mother went home for the occasion; she happened to come from Lancaster County.

Again may I remind you all that the contents of the resolution are not to be taken seriously, and that you will get back to the old adage, "No matter how thin you slice it, it's still baloney."

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that I seemed to be a little late in asking for the floor on this bill, but I understood that the sponsor was going to explain the bill to the House.

I want to say that I am delighted that at long last dear old House Bill 814 is to have its day. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it would be mete to allow this dear friend to depart from amongst us and pass into the ethereal vastness without at least some comment, a few words shall we say, of obituary. This House Bill 814 has followed the tortuous course of this Legislature uphill and down dale, over bridges and around curves, for lo! these many months. It has been our constant companion on the daily calendar since long before winter's snow gave way to summer's showers.

Mr. Speaker, I believe House Bill 814 has established a record that is unique for bills in this Legislature. It has suffered every legislative torture that could be inflicted on any bill and still have it remain on the calendar without interruption. Everything has happened to House Bill 814 that can possibly happen to a bill under the rules of the House, except recommitting it to committee and I believe a bill that has such a record for tenacity should have a decent burial. I do not believe it would be decent for me to recommend to the members of the House that they vote against the bill. To do a thing like that to a bill that has won a place of real affection in our hearts would be to commit an act that might be comparable to slapping your grandmother in the face.

Mr. Speaker, in the days of its pristine glory, House Bill 814 was designed to do something very wonderful for about one half of one percent of all the people employed in Pennsylvania who have the misfortune to tie in their services with some chiseler or cheat who either does not have the money or does not have the wish to pay the wages they earn when they are due. To accomplish that purpose House Bill 814 set up one of the most wonderful and gorgeous fabrics of collection techniques that could possibly be devised. Of course, Mr. Speaker, in what has happened to House Bill 814 nothing of that remains. The only thing that remains in House Bill 814 is the damn nuisances that were written into it in the first place. It might not be good legislative effort if we pass this bill; perhaps it is our duty in spite of everything that has been said about the affection that we all must feel for it, to vote against it. But Mr. Speaker and Members of the House I certainly do not want to be guilty of murder.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I certainly must thank the gentleman from Delaware Mr. James for the flowery adjectives he used to describe the bill, and inasmuch as he has taken such a liking to it, if the rules of the House will permit I will be willing to extend the courtesy of co-sponsorship to him at this time.

In considering the legal aspects of House Bill 814 it is advisable to break up the act into three component parts so that all of its provisions may be thoroughly considered.

By sections one and two, employers are required, unless the contract of employment provides otherwise, to pay wages semi-monthly. Employers engaged in agriculture or employing only domestic servants are exempted from the provisions of the act.

The provisions relative to the semi-monthly payment of wages is a reenactment of the act, approved April 24, 1913, P. L. 114. This act has been upheld as constitutional in a great many common pleas decisions. The outstanding being Commonwealth vs. Hanse, 29 Del. County 429 and Commonwealth vs. Lipschutz, 19 District & County 415. There is no question that this provision cannot be objected to legally. Considering the exemption given to agricultural and domestic servants you are, of course, familiar with these exemptions in the Unemployment Compensation Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act, and these exemptions have been universally sustained.

The second component part of House Bill 814 is the fact that it provides a penalty for the nonpayment of wages. Such penalty is made in the nature of a forfeiture and is not intended to persecute the honest employer. Again the decisions sustaining the 1913 act referred to above hold that the penalty provisions are valid.

The third and final component part of the bill is one setting up a procedure whereby the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry may, as assignee of any wage claimant, institute civil actions against the defaulting employers. The question that these facts of the bill raise is whether or not they contravene article three, section seven of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which provides that the General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law regulating labor, trade, mining or manufacturing, or providing or changing the methods for the collection of debts. As to the first proposition, the 1913 act was held to be a valid regulating act and was not special legislation affecting labor or trade. As to the second possible objection, namely, setting forth a new method of collection in view of the fact that the act authorizes the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry merely to act as assignee of any wage claimant or as his duly authorized agent, I can see that this is in no way contravenes that provision of our Constitution. Acts allowing the Secretary of the Department of Revenue to act as agent for the acceptance of legal process or the Insurance Commissioner to do so have been upheld, and such a procedure has been sustained as not changing the method for the collection of debts.

To sum up then, House Bill 814 is, in the opinion of the sponsor, constitutional in every respect. The language sustaining it could be taken directly from Commonwealth ex relation vs. Lipschutz, cited above, which states "The act is a proper exercise of the police power, as it is obviously designed to protect employes from unscrupulous employers who would fail to provide a definite time for the payment of earnings or wages in making contracts of employment, and then by deferring the payment of the wages for an excessive period of time, either defraud their employes or reduce them to a condition tantamount to serfdom. It in no manner restricts or impairs the rights of employes or employers to agree as to the time of payment. Nor is the act subject to the objection that it is special legislation." It remedies an outstanding weakness of the 1913 act, and its provisions are not unduly burdensome on employers who are scrupulous and honest.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Petrosky, Lesko and Marshall M. Cohen asked for a verification of the roll.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, last Monday the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, called attention to the ugly suspicions and rumors that generally result from the activities of lobbyists in and about these Legislative Halls. Yesterday, I called the attention of my colleagues to some contemptuous reflections cast upon us by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, Inc., I, also, called your attention to the fact that doctors, businessmen, farmers and others are stopping me on the streets of Harrisburg and other cities and towns of this Commonwealth and protesting to me against certain conditions here at Harrisburg. I tell you today, as I told you yesterday,

"The integrity of this body is my sole concern. To its preservation I shall marshal my mind, my tongue and my judgment."

I, also repeat, Mr. President, that it is not my purpose to cast reflections upon any of my colleagues. My voice is raised against non-members of the Assembly who by word or deed cause ugly rumors, suspicions and reflections to stultify the integrity of this Assembly and its members.

Today, Mr. President, I am compelled by my oath of office to place before my colleagues a communication which contains a very distasteful reflection upon our integrity. The communication, written by a respected and prominent citizen of this Commonwealth and who has no interest other than the public welfare, is as follows:

"Dear Senator:

"I have been trying to contact John Smarsh of Chambersburg on the telephone without success and on account of developments here I think it is important that I write you this letter.

"Dr. Harry Church who has been handling the Veterinary Practice Bill in both House and Senate informed me late yesterday afternoon that the bill passed the Senate on third reading by a vote of 39 to 3 and he suggested that some effort be made to get the bill through the House.

"In talking with Dr. Church on the telephone this morning I got an entirely new slant on the $500.00 deal that they were trying to put over to get the original Veterinary bill out of the Committee. It had been my understanding that Benjamin L. Long, former Representative of District No. 12 of Philadelphia, was the direct contact man who did all the talking.

"This morning Dr. Church tells me that G. E. Kling, an optometrist, whose place of business is located at 122 Walnut Street, Harrisburg, allegedly was acting in some capacity as Secretary of the group interested in professional license legislation. Kling was really the man who did the talking but Benjamin L. Long, was always or usually present when matters and money were being discussed relative to getting House Bill No. 509 out of committee including final passage by the House upon the payment of $500.00 and the whole job was to be completed within a week. After being held up for weeks as a result of the demand for money it was decided to have the bill introduced in the Senate.

"After the bill was well on it's way to be finally passed, Dr. Church tells me Representative Scanlon, Chairman of the Professional Licensure Committee, which Committee still has the Veterinary Bill in the Committee's pickling vat, met him in the lobby and raised the question as to what Dr. Church had in mind relative to getting the bill through the House if and after the Senate passed it. At this conference Scanlon suggested to Dr. Church that if the two of them could sit down together in conference with Benjamin L. Long he believed they could get all objectionable matters ironed out satisfactorily. Thus, Scanlon by the above statement to Dr. Church directly brought the said Mr. Long into the picture. The same Mr. Long who had accompanied G. E. Kling when Kling was demanding or at least repeatedly suggesting that the horse doctors, if they desired to get their bill out of committee, dig up $500.00.

"I think the above facts with the information you already have will be sufficient. I might add that before the bill was introduced in the Senate, I personally contacted Harry Terrell and John Smith of Cumberland County, informing them in regard to the demand for money and suggested that they use their influence in getting the bill out of committee but they did not seem to be able to do anything about it, at least so they reported."

"With kindest personal regards, I am, Yours respectfully,"

Members of this Senate, as you must readily see, this communication reflects the state of mind held by persons who are not members of this Assembly. If the contents of the communication are true, it is a serious matter to leave it unnoticed. If, on the other hand, its contents are false, I appeal to and implore my colleagues to invoke the constitutional powers in their hands to summon before the bar of this Senate the persons, organizations, or groups, who are responsible for the dissemination of such rumors, suspicions and reflections; and here require them to purge themselves of these contempts, under the penalties in our hands.

Mr. President, I conclude with the following:

"Humanity moves onward where today
the martyr stands
On the morrow crouches Judas with the silver in his hands
But far in the front the truth stands ready
And crackling faggots burn while the hooting mob of Yesterday in awe returns
To glean up the scattered Ashes in history's golden urn."

Will the Senate accept the report?

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. President, before making a motion that this bill be dropped from the Calendar, I wish to state a word of explanation.

This bill was one of a series of three companion bills prepared by a legislative delegation from Erie County and introduced in the House by one of the Erie County members. In view of the fact that the other two bills of the series have been sunk without warning by a veto, there is now no point in continuing with consideration of this bill.

Mr. President, I wish at this time to thank every member of the Senate for the cooperation and full support that I received from every one of you while these bills were under consideration in this body. It is not your fault nor mine that today it is not possible to buy in Pennsylvania so much as one drop of wine made from Pennsylvania grapes; it is not your fault nor mine that the more than twenty thousand licensed retail establishments in this state sold last year and will sell again this year over two million dollars worth of wine for the grape growers of other states, particularly California and New York.

Pennsylvania stands fourth among the states of the union in the production of grapes, but we stand alone, entirely alone, in our policy toward our grape growers. There is no other state in the union that permits the sale of wine that has failed to provide some convenient and practical method for disposing of the wine produced by grapes grown within the state.

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1061, (House Bill No. 811), be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of information.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this is not a Senate bill, this is a House bill, and I doubt very seriously our authority to drop it from the Calendar. It must receive proper action and the House be so advised.

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. President, perhaps I neglected to state that my action is taken with the knowledge and approval of the sponsor of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion the point of order raised by the gentleman from Fayette is well taken.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, in view of the fact that we are acting on a report of conference committee, I am not entirely clear what the proper motion should be, but probably it would be to postpone action indefinitely. However, if the Chair thinks some other action is proper, I am perfectly willing to abide by the judgment of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that would be a proper action.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, that is proper, and the other proper course would be to adopt a concurrent resolution, asking the House to send this bill to the conference committee and the conference committee report it out negatively, or else forget it.

The PRESIDENT. The result would be the same. If the gentleman from Erie withdraws his motion and then asks that it be postponed indefinitely, the Chair is of the opinion that would accomplish the purpose desired.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion that this bill be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. MILLER. I withdraw my seconding of the motion that the bill be dropped from the Calendar.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 1061, (House Bill No. 811), be postponed for the present.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

SENATE BILL No. 901, (HOUSE BILL No. 1259), ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR, CALLED UP

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 901, (House Bill No. 1259), on concurrence in House amendments, recalled from the Governor, on page 2 of the Calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 624, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause seven of section one thousand two hundred ten of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws general, special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by increasing the minimum salaries of teachers in school districts of the fourth class and requiring the Commonwealth to make certain payments on account of such salaries

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

MOTION THAT SENATE NON-CONCUR IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL No. 624

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate non-concur in amendments placed by the House in Senate Bill No. 624.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call, and I ask my colleagues to oppose the motion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before I cast my vote I want to state I am in favor, of course, of the increase in salaries, but in voting "no" at this time I am protesting the action of the Senate in not agreeing with the House to include the increments. Therefore, Mr. President, I want my vote recorded as "no."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Tyler,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Ruth,	Wade,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Scarlett,	Wilson, H. I.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, it is our purpose to take up all the remaining bills on the third reading Calendar if they are not controversial. If there are any controversies on any of these bills, I will ask that they go over in order for the present.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands we will take the bills up in the order they appear on the Calendar, and if for any reason it is learned they are controversial, they will go over in order.

Mr. COLEMAN. So that leaves now the Unemployment Compensation Board, the Department of Assistance and the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. TALLMAN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. And the other amendment, as I followed it, is a reduction in the compensation to be paid the director, from nine thousand dollars to seven thousand dollars.

Mr. TALLMAN. That is correct.

Mr. COLEMAN. And a reduction in the amount of money given to the civil service commission group by the bill from $450,000 to $250,000?

Mr. TALLMAN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask that after the amendments are inserted in the bill that the bill go over in order so that it will appear on the Calendar tomorrow.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I would like very much to accede to the request of the gentleman from Lackawanna, but after the amendments are inserted the bill is printed, as I understand it, and it would ordinarily be up for final action tomorrow, if it did not go over in order as requested.

Mr. COLEMAN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. TALLMAN. If there is any feeling in the Senate that these bills should be passed at this session of the Legislature, then certainly the gentleman from Lackawanna should not make that request. I should like to state that the purpose and the reason for these amendments was in the hope that objections which had been voiced on the floor of the Senate might be removed, so that the precarious position with which the Commonwealth is faced at the moment might be remedied. The gentleman from Lackawanna is undoubtedly familiar with the fact that there has been from time to time a great dispute between the Social Security Board in Washington and the Department of Labor and Industry, with regard to the Unemployment Compensation Division. There has been so much difficulty that a very potent threat exists at the moment—withdrawal of federal funds from that division of the Department of Labor and Industry.

If, Mr. President, as has been indicated, there is some possibility that the Legislature might adjourn next week, then certainly this bill should be moved, both bills should be moved as rapidly as possible, in order that the House may have an opportunity to pass them. It is my understanding that some legislation of a corrective nature must be passed at this session of the Legislature in order to continue the assurance of federal funds for the Unemployment Compensation Division, and I would like, in the face of that situation, to request the gentleman from Lackawanna to withdraw his request to have the bill to go over in order.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh one further question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh if he feels that the Governor will sign the bill as amended, excluding the various departments which have just been stricken out of the bill?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I, of course, can not speak for the Governor, and I have not any information as to what the Governor will do with the bills. I do not think that the question is pertinent. The important thing, I think, is that this Legislature put itself on record as at least having done everything that it could do in order to clear up a bad situation.

Mr. COLEMAN. I merely want, Mr. President, to call to the attention of the gentleman from Lehigh that the Governor vetoed a similar bill sponsored by the gentleman from Lehigh, in the 1939 session. However, I share his belief that taking from the bill the departments which he has stricken out from the bill, as amended, meets with the approval of the Democratic side of the House and I will withdraw my request to have the bill go over in order so that it will be in position to be voted on finally tomorrow.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to,

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

SENATE BILL No. 904, (HOUSE BILL No. 1543), ON THIRD READING POSTPONED, CALLED UP

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 904, (House Bill No. 1543), on third reading, postponed, on page 32 of the Calendar.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 904, (House Bill No. 1543), entitled:

An Act providing a method for supplying perfecting and recording birth records of certain persons whose births have not heretofore been made a public record or whose record of birth is incomplete or incorrect making such records competent legal evidence prescribing fees and imposing certain duties upon the orphans' court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Stiefel and myself I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments:

Amend section 2, page 4, by adding after line 25 the following paragraph:

The Orphans' Court is hereby authorized to appoint a standing Master or Masters to whom such petitions may be referred who shall upon such reference hold the hearing specified in this Section and make recommendations to the Orphans' Court for approval or disapproval of the petition with an appropriate form of decree. Such Master or Masters shall be paid by the county such compensation as the Orphans' Court shall fix.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does that language make it mandatory on the part of the court to appoint a master?

Mr. KEPHART. No, it does not.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is that limited to counties of the first class?

Mr. KEPHART. It is not limited to counties of the first class, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Is it state-wide, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I am not a lawyer and I do not want to get into any highly legal technical questions, but I should like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to give me a legal definition of the word "authorize."

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, it gives the Orphans' Court authority and power to appoint a master if they think that is necessary. In other counties where they do not think it would be necessary, they would not appoint a master, but in Philadelphia County, where the court seems to think they need this power, they probably will appoint one if they have too many of these applications.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I presume the answer of the gentleman from Philadelphia is that the word "authorize" does not convey with it a mandatory provision, it is not mandatory.

Mr. KEPHART. That is correct.

Mr. COLEMAN. To use the word "authorize" in connection with the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. No.

Mr. REED. I object, Mr. President. I believe, Mr. President and members of the Senate, that we do not need these amendments. The judges, if they care to act in these cases, can do so with the expenditure of very little time. This will add much cost to the procedure and it will make it far more inconvenient, and I believe that these amendments should not be adopted, first because it would be more inconvenient to those applying; secondly, it would be more expensive; and thirdly, it is absolutely unnecessary, and these amendments should be voted down for the reasons I have just stated.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I offered a similar amendment a few weeks ago. At that time I pointed out that I always had a great respect for the opinions of the gentleman from Washington, but I also stressed the fact that in Philadelphia there would be an avalanche of applications, and that this bill without the amendment will open the flood-gates and the Orphans' Court in Philadelphia County might as well cease functioning, because it will be kept busy all the time listening to cases of this kind, and the only way out, if we want to pass some remedial legislation, is to have adopted this amendment that was offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, or, otherwise we will probably adjourn without taking care of this situation.

Mr. President, I appreciate that this may result in added costs, but on the other hand, if this amendment is not adopted, the bill will probably be doomed to perdition and this Legislature will adjourn without helping those people who need birth certificates. On the other hand, Mr. President, if we do not take precautionary action and delve into each and every case, that will mean that many undesirable persons will discover a royal road to American citizenship, and for that reason we must be cautious in each and every case, and to be cautious we must have an exhaustive hearing, and only by having masters appointed can we obtain exhaustive hearings.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia what is the minimum master's fee in Philadelphia.

Mr. STIEFEL. Well, Mr. President, I am afraid I have to present an interrogation in answer to the interrogator. Pertaining to which cases, Mr. President?

Mr. REED. Any case, Mr. President. In Washington County the minimum master's fee is thirty dollars, and I take it in Philadelphia it is more. Am I right or wrong as to Philadelphia?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in Philadelphia we have master's hearings only in cases of divorce.

Mr. REED. Just stop there. How much are masters fees in divorce.

Mr. STIEFEL. One hundred dollars, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Go ahead.

Mr. STIEFEL. Go ahead to what?

Mr. REED. As to other masters' fees.

Mr. STIEFEL. In what case, Mr. President?

Mr. REED. The gentleman from Philadelphia stated he would have to take them in order, and he started with divorce cases.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the question was so general I asked the gentleman from Washington to be specific. The gentleman asked about divorce cases and I said a master's fee was one hundred dollars.

Mr. REED. All right. I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia what other masters' work do they have in Philadelphia.

Mr. STIEFEL. None other, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Then I shall take it, Mr. President, that the minimum fee in Philadelphia for a master's work of any kind would be one hundred dollars.

Mr. STIEFEL. Not necessarily, Mr. President, because it depends upon the amount of work.

Mr. REED. How would you base the amount of work in divorce cases? Is that by the day?

Mr. STIEFEL. No, Mr. President; it is by the hearing and by the amount of work which a master has to do in preparing his report.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, is there any case where a master works in Philadelphia where his fee would be less than one hundred dollars?

Mr. STIEFEL. I do not think so, Mr. President. In fairness to the gentleman from Washington, let me say there is another class of case that comes to my mind, and that is hearings on charters. When a corporation of the first class applies for a charter, a master is appointed to investigate as to whether or not that group is entitled to obtain a charter, and the fee is also one hundred dollars.

Mr. REED. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Is there anything further the gentleman wishes to say in connection with my interrogation?

Mr. STIEFEL. No, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I would like to say a few words in connection with this bill before it is acted upon.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington may proceed.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, it is very evident from this interrogation that birth certificates are rising rapidly in price. It would be far cheaper and far better for the public to leave the procedure the way it is, even though it is cumbersome and inconvenient, because a person, even in the most remote part of the state, could get a birth certificate cheaper and more conveniently by coming to Harrisburg and going over to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, than to follow the procedure which this amendment to the Petrosky bill would set up. Just think, Mr. President, of a master's hearing costing from thirty dollars to one hundred dollars, and I am speaking now as an attorney. It would be outrageous to charge some poor person in the state a fee like that to get a little birth certificate, which that person can get today for one dollar. I say it is outrageous, and if this bill is to carry that amendment, I say for the good of the cause we ought to defeat the whole bill, amendments and all, and let the procedure be as it is.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I am heartily in sympathy with the attitude of the gentleman from Washington, of course, in his desire to cut down the expense for the obtaining of a birth certificate. Coming as I do from a county which has a great population, and having had the experience of almost requiring a full time assistant in order to take care of the needs of the people in my Senatorial District in attempting to get birth certificates, and having had the unfortunate situation, in some instances, of not being able, after six months, to get a birth certificate, I can truly appreciate the great burden that we would impose on the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County by the passage of this bill.

Mr. President, I am very much for the bill. I think it is a sensible, expedient way of handling the question of birth certificates. I do not think, however, that in every instance where a request is made for a birth certificate, it is going to be necessary to have a master appointed. I think the situation where a master would be appointed would only apply to an irregular situation.

As far as the cost of a master's hearing is concerned, I understand from the amendments that cost would be borne by the county. Thousands of people in Allegheny County will apply for master's certificates, and there certainly should be sufficient funds in the office of our Register of Wills to carry this burden of the cost.

MOTION TO ADOPT AMENDMENT

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the amendment submitted.

Mr. STIEFEL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senators, the Chair previously asked whether there was objection to the adoption of the amendment. There was objection. A motion is now made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, seconded by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, that the amendment be adopted.

The CHAIR recognizes the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I would like to read a letter from the President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County, Judge VanDusen, which says: "The judges of this court are very much concerned over the birth record bill, House Bill No. 1543, (Senate Bill No. 904), entitled an act providing a method for supplying, perfecting and recording birth records of certain persons whose births have not heretofore been made a public record or whose record of birth is incomplete or incorrect, making such records competent legal evidence, prescribing fees and imposing certain duties upon the Orphans' Court.

"We understand that this bill is now on the postponed calendar of the Senate. So far as Philadelphia is concerned, the bill will impose a very great burden on this already overworked court. An inquiry at the Bureau of Vital Statistics of this state, where birth records before 1906 were filed, disclose the fact that they received applications at the rate of about a hundred a month in which they found no record. If those applicants were to avail themselves of the new act to have the birth judically determined, we would have about four hundred cases a month to hear and dispose of."

Then, Mr. President, Judge VanDusen suggests three forms of amendment. The amendment presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, was drafted by Mr. Fertig.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, when the gentleman from Washington questioned me, I presumed he referred to cases of this kind. The amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, stipulates that a standing master shall be appointed, and naturally in the case of a standing master, where there will be some kind of a mass production, you can not expect too high a fee, and there is no doubt that the Orphans' Court Judges in Philadelphia will be attuned to the needs of the people who will apply for birth certificates, and they will spare no efforts to see that the fee should be commensurate with the ability to pay.

I also pointed out in my argument a few weeks ago that in Philadelphia the situation is quite different from that in the rural counties, because I am sure in the district of the gentleman from Washington Senator Reed knows each and every one of his constituents and knows his background, and so does the judge, and for that reason there can be no falsity, no forgeries, no impostors.

In Philadelphia, Mr. President, they expect close to ten thousand cases. How could you cope with a situation of that kind? I fully appreciate that Senator Reed is apprehensive lest there will be an added burden upon the poor and the needy, but in the light of this volume of applications, there is no other alternative than to expedite this procedure, and for that reason I believe this is the only way out of this situation. There may be another situation whereby we will have to invite again the gypsy judges, traveling judges, to come down to Philadelphia, which would result in added expense.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I feel there has been a great deal of misconception about this bill, both on the part of many members of the Senate, probably, as well as on the part of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia.

If I read the bill properly it does not require that the Orphans' Court have a hearing upon the application of a person for a certificate. As I understand it the sponsors of the bill had in mind that persons who make the applications should not be obliged to spend a great deal of money, either in court costs or attorney's fees, in a matter of this kind, and therefore they established a very nominal fee for the application. The bill provides, I believe, that when an application is made and if the clerk finds it in proper order, it need only be handed to the Court by the Clerk of the Court and then the Court has the right to pass upon it, upon just the petition, without any hearing. The court does have the right, if it chooses and if it feels there is something out of order in the petition presented to it, to have a hearing, but it need not have a hearing in every instance, I would like to remind the gentlemen of the Senate that it seems to me to be very important that this legislation pass. I am not going to concern myself with this amendment. I think that passage of some legislation of this kind is so important that it of little or no use for us to stand here and spend hours quibbling about whether or not a Court may appoint a master, which is not going to cost the applicant for a birth certificate anything. It seems to me it would be entirely wrong, in the face of what we all know to be the existing fact, not to pass this legislation and let the courts work out their difficulties as they may, when they come to that. I am certain that a study of the bill, or an examination of it, will satisfy every one that no Orphans' Court in the Commonwealth is obliged to have a hearing in every instance.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I see another most interesting phase of this situation, which is this: the bill applies only to births prior to June of 1906; it is concerning those births that this bill seeks to make provision. Births prior to 1906 are no different than births after 1906. If a person was born after 1906, and he is not registered, he goes to the Department of Health, the Bureau of Vital Statistics, and thereafter he produces certain affidavits and meets certain requirements, the birth is registered and recorded there.

Mr. President, the only thing that this bill does or would do is to create work for attorneys. I am an attorney and sometimes cases like these might bring good fees, but I am not interested in my own selfish interests; I am interested in the welfare of those who need to show that their births were registered.

Mr. President, in my county those who were born prior to 1906 and whose births are not registered, all they do is to go to the Register of Wills, the same as those who were born after 1906, go to the Secretary of Health in the Bureau of Vital Statistics. There in my county the Register of Wills has a form of the same kind as does the Bureau of Vital Statistics, and if the individual produces two citizens who will swear that they know the birth took place, or if the individual bring an entry in a Bible, or a baptismal certificate, or a school record, then the Register of Wills, the same as the head of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, registers the birth. That procedure has been going on in other counties; in Westmoreland County they appear before the Orphans' Court, and in Washington County.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, what is the necessity of passing a bill to do something that is already being done? That is absolutely unnecessary, and the only thing it really does is to create work for attorneys, and I am not in favor of that.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I disagree with the gentleman from Fayette, who has just spoken regarding this bill, in saying this bill is designed only to create employment or work for attorneys or judges. I also disagree with my colleague on the right, Mr. Farrel, in saying that this bill will apply to so many people in the City of Philadelphia that it will be necessary for them to have a referee.

In the first place, as pointed out by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman, this affects no one except those who are over thirty-five years of age, who are born prior to 1906, and it also applies to those who wish to get some method or have some method to now establish their birth dates so that they may be employed in defense industries, or so that they may apply for a life insurance policy or an annuity, or for some other necessary reason they want to establish once and for all time their correct date of birth.

This bill enables a man whose birth date is questioned to go before a Court, and present possibly an old document, possibly a family Bible or some other such evidence, so that a Judge of the Orphans' Court can review the evidence presented and then render a decision and state by a certificate that he was born on a certain day and date. This bill is only enabling legislation to help out some few people—compared with the population of the State of Pennsylvania—who now are urgently in need of some method of establishing once and for all their date of birth.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if a person born after 1906 is not registered here in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, he need not present any petition to any Orphans' Court of Dauphin County or any other county, but he follows certain rules laid down by the Department of Vital Statistics and he obtains his birth registration, because the courts have held that the Bureau of Vital Statistics is a ministerial department, its duties are purely ministerial.

Why place the registration of persons born before 1906 in the Orphans' Court? Why not permit them to appear before the Register of Wills, the same as we permit those born after 1906 to appear before the Bureau of Vital Statistics, and there, by the presentation of a proper affidavit and a proper document, tell the Register of Wills to permit him to register? Why force these individuals to go into the Orphans' Court where it is necessary to hire an attorney or engage an attorney to present their case? Why can not we permit them to do the same thing before the register of wills as we permit others to do before the Bureau of Vital Statistics?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe every Senator has had a great deal of experience in trying to get birth certificates during this session, and while I do not agree that the bill does everything I personally would want it to do, I do believe it goes a long way toward expediting the issuance of birth certificates to those who were born prior to 1906. It does not cost the individual any more than the $2.50 specified in this bill to go before the Orphans' Court; it will not be necessary to have an attorney. That was an objection I made to the Chapman bill, because under the Chapman bill an applicant would have to have an attorney.

So far as masters are concerned, they will be required only in those counties where there will be many thousands of persons applying for birth certificates, where the Orphans' Court could not possibly issue the certificates without bogging down the regular work of the Orphans' Court. Let them have masters; they will be masters appointed and paid for by the county. After all the county government is set up to take care of the individual citizens who are a part of the county government. It is very important to persons seeking birth certificates, particularly today, inasmuch as rules have been handed down that no person can get work in a defense industry unless he has a birth certificate, and it is very important that those persons get birth certificates as quickly as possible, and I believe this bill will expedite the issuance of birth certificates.

I have, I suppose, right now twenty-five applications over in the Bureau of Vital Statistics of persons who were born, not only after 1906 but after 1920, and I can not get certificates for them. That department is bogged down now with the number of applications coming in to it and, with the facilities and the records they have, they do not seem to be able to keep track of many that are sent in to them for birth certificates, and they will not issue them and the Lord knows what they will do if we start dumping into their laps applications of all persons born prior to 1906, of which there is no record. A great many of them do not know when they were born, they only know they were, and it is difficult, under the rules and regulations of the Bureau of Vital Statistics—which is located so far away from the home of the person seeking such birth certificate—to bring in witnesses and so on to prove where and perhaps when you were born. I think it is proper for that to be done at the local county government seat, so that an applicant might be able to take in there persons who knew of the birth, friends of the parents, for instance, at the time, or someone near the scene and so on, who might come in and testify to the fact that John Jones is John Jones and was born on a certain date.

Mr. President, I believe this bill should be passed. I do not think this General Assembly should quit this session without trying to do something, without trying to clarify the muddle in the issuance of birth certificates, and whether this bill is as good in its entirety as you think it ought to be is beside the point, it is the best we have before us at this time.

If we are going to quit next week—and I hear rumors we are—this is the only bill we can possibly act on, unless the Chapman bill is acted on, and I think the thing to do is to pass this bill now.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, if this continues I shall ask the Chair to enforce the Senate rule against speaking twice on a subject, and if that does not prevail, I shall move the previous question.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I would like to say a few words, to direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that we are voting on this amendment of mine and not on the bill itself, and much that has been said has been against the bill.

I wish to direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that the amendment provides for the appointment of a standing master; there will not be a master for each case. There will be standing masters who will hear several of these applications. It is optional with the Court to appoint these masters, and they are to be paid for by the county and not by the applicant. Somebody has to pay for this work, they will have to be paid. These standing masters will have to be appointed in some cases, because the Orphans' Court can not do this work themselves unless they have somebody to help them.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. REED, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1169, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," limiting the grant of public assistance to unemployable persons; substituting the Department of Welfare for the Department of Public Assistance, abolishing the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance and imposing certain duties in respect to employable persons on the Department of Labor and Industry.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I expect to move to drop this bill from the Calendar, I am very sorry to say. The reason it happens that way is that, owing to this change of temperature or atmosphere toward civil service, this bill of mine is no good, it is no good without a companion bill, because in this bill of mine I am transferring to the Department of Welfare the unemployables who are now on public assistance, and that brings in the question of civil service, as it requires a separate bill to provide for civil service for these employees of welfare who will transact the business and are not covered by civil service.

Now, Mr. President, there is no time for this companion bill to appear. We all know what happened to Senator Ziesenheim's bill, which went to the executive mansion without a companion, and I am not going to let mine go to the mansion without a companion. I cannot get it in in time, and therefore it is goodbye.

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1169, on third reading be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

the governor by the expiration of the time specified in the warrant or bond a judge or magistrate may discharge him or may recommit him for a further period not to exceed sixty days or a judge or magistrate may again take bail for his appearance and surrender as provided in section 16 but within a period not to exceed sixty days after the date of such new bond.

Section 18 Forfeiture of Bail If the prisoner is admitted to bail and fails to appear and surrender himself according to the conditions of his bond the judge or magistrate by proper order shall declare the bond forfeited and order his immediate arrest without warrant if he be within this State. Recovery may be had on such bond in the name of the State as in the case of other bonds given by the accused in criminal proceedings within this State.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1212, (House Bill No. 1760), on third reading, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the Genreal Assembly conferring certain powers upon such commission including the power to issue subpoenas administer oaths and affirmations retain employes and expend funds and making an appropriation.

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in moving to recommit, Senate Bill No. 1212 to the Committee on Appropriations, I would like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this bill carries with it an appropriation of ten thousand dollars to do exactly what was done in 1937 at a cost of fifty thousand dollars, and I quote for the moment from the laws of Pennsylvania, Session of 1937:

"It shall be the duty of the Anthracite Coal Industry to make a careful and thorough study and investigation of the economic and social conditions in the anthracite coal region of this Commonwealth, the causes underlying the present dislocation of the anthracite coal mining industry, the extent of illegal mining and the causes therefor, the methods and means by which the existing economic and social conditions in said district may be alleviated or remedied, and such other matters and affairs as may be deemed pertinent by the commission in order to carry into effect the intent of this act, to secure reliable and accurate facts concerning actual conditions with respect to the anthracite coal region and the coal mining industry therein," and then in section 5 it provides that the sum of fifty thousand dollars is hereby specifically provided for this purpose.

Now, Mr. President, this is a bill to do exactly the same thing at a cost of ten thousand dollars, which has already been done at a cost of fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, it was my intention to ask the gentleman to hold his motion for a moment in order to permit me to amend the bill to give the commission created by the act a name. However, that can be done in committee, if we are able to disgorge it from committee.

The learned gentleman from Philadelphia is just a trifle in error in saying to the members of the Senate that the Legislature appropriated fifty thousand dollars for the purpose of creating an anthracite commission to study mine cave problems in the anthracite area. I hope the gentleman from Philadelphia will forgive me for making a personal reference, but when I was a member of the House there was a bill introduced for the purpose of setting up an anthracite commission for the purpose of studying all phases of this problem, particularly the bootlegging problem, and I succeeded in getting the then Governor, Governor Earle, to broaden the scope of the commission's authority to include investigation of mine caves, with the understanding, however, that the commission would not touch that problem until such time as they had concluded their study of the anthracite problem generally. The commission did exactly nothing about that, because after they had made their report the commission automatically disbanded and did nothing toward the mine cave problem.

Now, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, has moved to recommit this bill and I am frank to say, as one familiar with the anthracite region the gentleman is not in touch with the problem in the area I represent and the areas represented by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, and the gentleman from Northumberland, Senator Deitrick.

While I realize perhaps I am a bit out of order, because since there is a motion to recommit this bill, I should not touch upon the subject matter of the bill, I would like to read for the information of the Senate some of the whereas clauses in the bill to impress upon the members of the Senate the absolute necessity for the passage of this bill. I have a right to believe, and any one else has a right to believe when a bill is recommitted at this stage of the game, he has a right to be justifiably suspicious that the bill will never again see the light of day. In view of that, Mr. President, I would like to have the Senate bear with me while I read just a few of the whereas clauses which should impress very forcibly upon the members of the Senate the absolute necessity for the passage of this bill. I do not think the members of this Senate have had enough time, because of the demand made on their time and energy, to even read many of the bills we have before us for consideration. Therefore, Mr. President, if the Chair will bear with me, I now should like to read from the whereas clauses of the bill for the benefit of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, and the members of the Senate generally:

"Whereas, for a long period of years the mining of coal in the anthracite regions of the Commonwealth has been the cause of widespread surface subsidence in many localities; and

"Whereas, such surface subsidence has from time to time injured or damaged private dwellings, public buildings, highways, public utility facilities and otherwise endangering human life and prejudicially affected the general public health and welfare; and

"Whereas, the General Assembly has several times adopted legislation designed to alleviate or abolish such conditions only to have such legislation prove ineffective or to find it declared unconstitutional, and

"Whereas, the conditions resulting from such surface subsidence are so serious and of such general public concern as to demand effective and prompt relief; therefore

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:" and then follows the creation of the commission.

Mr. President, this is an important bill. Some people may question the effectiveness of this type of legislation; I have seen many commissions created by the General Assembly and given an appropriation, which did exactly nothing. However, if the General Assembly will recognize its responsibility to those of us representing the people in the mine cave area who have a vital and a serious interest in the passage of this bill, I am thoroughly convinced that a commission created by such an act will be able to come back to the 1943 session and present some sort of legislation that will stand up.

It might interest the gentlemen of the Senate to know that some years ago we had a mine cave bill called the Fowler Act, which was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court. It passed the State Supreme Court and was declared valid, but the coal companies appealed from that decision and went into the United States Supreme Court where a real liberal was on the bench at that time, Mr. Justice Brandeis, who gave a very illuminating dissenting opinion, and we have a right to feel that under the present liberal trend of the court that if it is possible to get this bill passed, it will be declared constitutional.

Mr. President, I want to rise in protest against the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia who, I am definitely convinced, has not the vaguest idea of the necessity for this legislation in the particular area that I represent, and I ask the members of the Senate who are vitally interested in their responsibility to the people living in those effected areas to vote against this motion to recommit this bill because a motion to recommit it definitely has the effect of killing the bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if I am allowed to speak twice on this same subject, I resent the imputation that I know nothing about the anthracite coal industry, because I was brought up in and around the anthracite coal mines and frequented them. In fact, I was so popular that the biggest breaker, the property of the Glen Alden Coal Company, is named for me, it is named the Woodward Mine, and I doubt if Senator Coleman has any mine named for him whatever.

Now, Mr. President, as to the further remarks of the gentleman that the anthracite coal industry commission was no good, I believe that, because the chairman was a man named William J. Laux and we were always out of luck when he was at the head of anything.

I hold in my hand tangible evidence of the fifty thousand dollars appropriation, the report of the anthracite coal commission, and I still think the gentleman from Lackawanna, in view of that report, is making a mistake in asking us to spend ten thousand dollars more for a similar report.

And the motion recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Roll call, Mr. President.

(The following occurred during the calling of the roll.)

Mr. COLEMAN. I ask that the roll be verified, Mr. President.

The Clerk read the names of those voting in the affirmative, as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, our democracy consists of the executive, the legislative and the judicial departments, each of which are of equal importance in our democratic form of government. We have a strange situation existing in Allegheny County, which perhaps exists in other counties, which we believe we can rectify by the passage of Senate Bill No. 767, House Bill No. 1095, appearing at the top of page 8 of today's Calendar.

As a lawyer, and I know that my colleagues from Allegheny County who are members of the legal profession agree with me, the process of justice in Allegheny County, particularly in relation to cases coming into our Common Pleas Court, is extremely slow. We have had the embarrassing situation of trying for some years to explain to our clients why anywhere from three to five years should elapse between the time a case is introduced in our Common Pleas Court and the time it would finally come to trial. We believe that the solution to this problem is relatively simple.

Senate Bill No. 726 would add to our Board of Judges two additional judges. I personally feel that is one part of the solution. I feel, however, that in addition to that we could go much further, because we have in Allegheny County an Allegheny County Court consisting of six judges who are paid an annual salary of ten thousand dollars. Since the inception of this court unfortunately the board has not taken advantage of the facilities which the court of Allegheny County affords. Its jurisdiction in civil matters extends to the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars.

Senate Bill No. 767, House Bill No. 1095, would have the effect of enabling judges of the Common Pleas Court to certify to our County Court cases within the jurisdiction of the County Court. Within the last several years in Allegheny County we have instituted a pre-trial system where the lawyers for the litigants and the judges discuss the case and in many cases, although the cases represent an enormous sum of money on the pleadings, in some cases settlements are reached between the lawyers and the court at much less than the amount stated in the pleadings, which, in many cases, would bring a particular case within the jurisdiction of the County Court, and if our Common Pleas Court had the authority and power to certify many of those cases to the County Court it would relieve the dockets and under that practice equity and justice in Allegheny County would proceed much more quickly, much more fairly and much more orderly.

Mr. President, as a member of the bar I am conversant with the oath of office that I took when I was admitted to practice before the bar and I appreciate the seriousness of delay in judicial procedure. For that reason I intend to vote for Senate Bill No. 726 and I intend to vote for House Bill No. 1095, Senate Bill No. 767, which I believe we could call a companion bill, and I sincerely urge that my colleagues vote for these two bills.

I might say, also, Mr. President, that the Bar Association of Allegheny County consisting, of course, of most of the lawyers practicing before the bar in Allegheny County, adopted a resolution Tuesday, March 7, 1941, which would have the effect of empowering the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, by majority decision, to transfer civil cases to the County Court of Allegheny County which, by the pleadings, come within the jurisdiction of the latter.

This is a technical matter which I feel most of the lawyers are able to speak on more understandingly, perhaps, than the average layman. I have a high regard for our Bar Association and any suggestions they make I know from experience can only have been taken after true deliberation and without any political import.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I appreciate a layman should not perhaps dare to rush in where angels fear to tread in the matter of these law courts, but the excuse for that is that no lawyer will ever take any initiative to diminish the number of law courts, the reason for which is obvious, that every lawyer wishes to be a judge.

Now, Mr. President, to begin with traveling judges I asked the prothonotary and he informed me, in the year 1940, there were 498 traveling judges. The state pays their traveling expenses and twenty dollars a day, and you may say that that is an argument for this bill, of course, but what is in the back of my mind is a constitutional amendment which I have offered here for ten years and I never got it beyond the doors of the committee rooms. That was not my personal amendment, it was given to me by Judge Morris Sulzberger and the late Chief Justice Von Moschzisker and, as I have told you several times, it set up one Court of Common Pleas throughout the Commonwealth. We would then not have judges who are unoccupied in certain districts, with Philadelphia County, perhaps, and Allegheny County, very busy and have to use 498 traveling judges at an additional cost to the Commonwealth. As I understand it, we have sixty-seven counties and we have fifty-eight judicial districts and in a short time we will have more undoubtedly.

There is a decennial reapportionment of the judicial districts, and they never grow less—they always grow more. I was the hero or martyr, or both, in trying to abolish Court of Common Pleas No. 7 in Philadelphia, a monument to the diligence of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, but, of course, I did not succeed; all of which simply means that I shall vote "no" on this bill and be in my usual minority.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, it will be a great pleasure.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny inform me as to the number of judges Allegheny County now has.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, we have fourteen Common Pleas judges, who are assigned to the Common Pleas Court, Court of Quarter Sessions, Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery; they also sit in equity proceedings and live very busy lives.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny have knowledge of the fact that so called gypsy judges are coming in there from all parts of the Commonwealth?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, that is quite a cute phrase; I had not heard it before. We do have judges coming in from other counties, however.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the passage of Senate Bill No. 726 eliminate the necessity of calling in gypsy judges?

Mr. COX. I would say, Mr. President, it will eliminate the necessity of calling them in, except in an emergency, but in defense of the system of having traveling judges come in, I would say in many cases it saves the county a great amount of money.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, they are paid, are they not?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, they are only paid for the time they are there. Of course, the gentleman realizes there are certain seasons when the court is not in session.

Mr. HALUSKA. But they are drawing salaries, are they not, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. They are as I understand it, paid a salary in their own local communities.

Mr. HALUSKA. And aside from that salary, Mr. President, they receive twenty dollars a day and all expenses.

Mr. COX. I could not say what remuneration or compensation they receive, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. As a matter of fact, every judge who goes out of his own jurisdiction receives twenty dollars a day and expenses despite the fact that he receives an annual salary of ten thousand dollars or more per year?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, if I am being interrogated I would say if they receive only twenty dollars a day compensation that is entirely insufficient.

Mr. HALUSKA. Insufficient despite the fact they are paid a salary?

Mr. COX. I would say so.

Mr. HALUSKA. It is too bad for them.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I am a lawyer and I think I have practiced actively in the courts for more than twenty-five years. I am against this bill because I think that the judges should rearrange their work.

I studied with much interest and much care the system the judges follow in the courts of London. The judges there do nothing but look after their judicial work. The trouble with many of the judges in Pennsylvania is they try to do too many things. The people elect a judge to do one thing only and that is to decide cases in a proper, fair and legal manner. When you elect judges, and this is true of many of our judges in the State of Pennsylvania, they go out on the stump during political campaigns, they engage themselves in other outside work and naturally there has to be a slowing down in the work of that particular court or else some other judge must come in.

Now, Mr. President, we in Pennsylvania should endeavor to change the system; we ought to have judges when they are elected who will pledge their services to the people as judges and judges only, and until that time has arrived, until I am thoroughly convinced that a judge is doing nothing except handling the work that the people elect him to do, I shall never on the floor of this Senate vote for the creation of another judicial office.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, with forty-two per cent of the members of this body attorneys, I probably as a layman should not talk, but I think now and then a fellow practicing law by ear can speak a little more fully or plainly than attorneys, because they have been practicing in front of those judges, and are more or less afraid of offending them.

This bill to create two more judges I do not think will avail us anything in Allegheny County if we do not pass Senate Bill No. 767, which follows Senate Bill No. 726 on the Calendar. We will still have gypsy judges to hear all the political cases in Allegheny County.

Senate Bill No. 767, I understand, is to be recommitted. If the gentleman who sponsored Senate Bill No. 726 is sincere in trying to remedy the crowded conditions we have in our Common Pleas Court in Allegheny County, he will also vote for Senate Bill No. 767, or will introduce a bill to eliminate some of the County Court judges in our county who are not busy. The presiding judge of that Court tells us they should send the cases over to them, and there are plenty that the Common Pleas Court could send over to them, and there will be enough to keep them busy.

Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 767 does nothing further than to allow the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County, where the sum demanded or the value of the property replevied does not exceed the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, except in cases where the title to lands or tenements may come in question, to transfer such cases to the County Court.

At the present time, Mr. President, a great number of divorce cases are being sent to the County Court by the Common Pleas Court and some say that they do not want to take their cases to the County Court.

Now, Mr. President, if the people of Pittsburgh have elected persons to that court who are not capable, let us do something about that. Let us be consistent. Yesterday we passed a bill—usually the Democrats are always accused of having overlapping functions—yesterday we passed a bill in the Senate creating another Bureau of Rehabilitation. Today, being inconsistent with that, we accepted amendments to the bill sponsored by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman, which will put three departments having three different civil service set-ups under one. Now you do not want to be consistent and you want to create two or more judges and still let six judges be not busy in Allegheny County.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of Senate Bill No. 726, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny feel if we pass Senate Bill No. 726 and not Senate Bill No. 767, which has been recommended by the Bar Association of Allegheny County, that we will eliminate the roving, gypsy judges, as they call them, from coming into our county week after week.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not regard visiting judges who come into Allegheny County as roving gypsy judges. I think they serve a very useful purpose and if it had not been for the visiting judges we have been able to secure in Allegheny County over the last eight or ten years, Allegheny County litigation would be in a very sorry mess right now.

I do feel, Mr. President, that the passage of Senate Bill No. 726, which was introduced by me and endorsed by the Allegheny County Bar Association, will alleviate to a great extent a situation which is most trying in Allegheny County at this time. We have, as has been said, fourteen Common Pleas judges. Because of the fact that a couple of our judges have been sick and a couple of them have been busy, possibly, in extended political activity, as was suggested by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, litigation in our Common Pleas Court has dropped behind and that with only three of the Common Pleas judges assigned to our criminal court.

In order to relieve the situation, we have been having for the last three or four years from seven to ten visiting judges each week in Allegheny County; five or six of those judges have been in our criminal courts, which meant when it came to decide matters of policy in connection with the criminal courts there were only three local judges in the consideration of policy, as compared with some five or six visiting judges.

Mr. President, the reason we would like to have two additional judges in our Common Pleas Court, as much as anything else, is so that one or two more local judges can be assigned to the criminal court and so that we will be on a par at least, if not in the majority, in deciding policy on matters concerning criminal court procedure and conduct.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, is our colleague from Allegheny aware of the fact that the Bar Association of Allegheny County has recommended passage of Senate Bill No. 767, House Bill No. 1095?

Mr. GELTZ. I am not aware of that, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. If the gentleman will indulge me for just a moment I will read to him a resolution adopted—I think it was adopted March 7th, I now read from the Pittsburgh Legal Journal dated Tuesday, March 11, 1941, the text of the resolution adopted by the Bar Association of recommendations made at a meeting held March 7th.

“Resolution No. 1 (b). Empower the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, by majority decision, to transfer civil cases to the County Court of Allegheny County, which by their pleadings, come within the jurisdiction of the latter.”

Mr. President, is our colleague from Allegheny a member of the Allegheny Bar Association?

Mr. GELTZ. I am, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, did the gentleman attend this meeting?

Mr. GELTZ. I did not, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I desire further to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I asked my colleague from Allegheny a few minutes ago if he thought by adding two Common Pleas Court judges, but not passing Senate Bill No. 767, if we would still not have the extra expense of visiting roving judges.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think we would have the expense of some visiting judges but not to the extent we have had over the last several years.

Mr. BARR. Now, Mr. President, would the gentleman mind telling me his opposition to Senate Bill No. 767, to turn these cases over to the County Court?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, is that House Bill No. 1095?

Mr. BARR. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, that question is possibly just a little bit embarrassing, as a practicing lawyer in Allegheny County, but I will answer, Mr. President, my interrogator, by colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Barr, by saying I think he knows as well as the rest of us that some of the judges in the County Court are not considered too learned in the law, and as not too good judges.

If this bill, House Bill No. 1095, is passed, it will mean that all of us will be compelled to take all litigation in which the amount concerned is twenty-five hundred dollars or under into the County Court, if not originally filed there, by order of the Common Pleas Court.

I want to say, Mr. President, that I do not want to have the interests of my prospective clients, as well as the few present clients I have, rest with that kind of procedure in Allegheny County.

If House Bill No. 1095 were amended so that those cases may be transferred by order of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County upon consent of counsel, I would be perfectly satisfied to have this bill pass and will vote for the bill, but to be compelled to go into a court where we do not want to take our clients, is something I do not think should be put through.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think all cases would be sent over there, but I do not think it would be constitutional for us to pass an act where the Court has to get permission of counsel before they could send a case over to the County Court. I did not direct my last question to our colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, to embarrass him, because I am going to agree with him on the makeup of our county court. As a layman, I know we have judges getting ten thousand dollars a year in our County Court, a fully equipped court, and I do not think over thirty-three and one third per cent of them, if I were a practicing attorney, I would like to take my cases before them, but I think the way to rectify that condition—this county court, a statutory court created by the Legislature—there is one judgeship ends this year and I think we have time to get a bill, if we are going to create two more Common Pleas judges, to eliminate that judgeship, and also eliminate, maybe the next year, an extra one, if we are interested in doing this job thoroughly.

Now, Mr. President, as I say, I am not an attorney, but forty-two per cent of this group are attorneys and I think if they are going to pass this one bill, they ought to pass the second bill, and we should eliminate one county judgeship this year. I say that in all sincerity, with nothing political in mind, because there are six judges and if this first bill should pass there will be eight—and at the election we will go to the barrier—you can go with your ticket and we will go with ours, and may the best party win.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I would like to say if my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, wants to introduce such a bill I will be very glad to lend my efforts to the elimination of that one place on the County Court which expires this year and I will be very glad to vote for House Bill No. 1095 if the amendment which I suggest is put in.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, we have the answer.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, there is an old biblical expression and when I give it I do not want to be misunderstood; this is for the benefit partially of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Barr: "The Lord has delivered mine enemy into my hands."

Mr. President, just as soon as we finish the roll call on this bill, if we ever get to a roll call, I shall ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill proposing to reduce the number of judges in the Allegheny County Court.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I regret very much we do not have our local boards of judges, both Common Pleas and the County Court, here, because it seems on one side we have angels and on the other side we have other who are not angels.

I do not share the fears of my colleague, Senator Geltz, when he seems to have great trepidation trusting in the hands of the County Court of Allegheny County the serious matters of his clients.

This thing to me is becoming increasingly ridiculous. Here we have a court fully equipped to work, with six judges being paid ten thousand dollars a year who do nothing for the most part but try pleas in motor vehicle cases. I am satisfied that those six judges are serious, are sincere and are very anxious to do the thing for which they were elected. It is not a constitutional court, it is a court created by this Legislature, and if we are going to make a real court of our Allegheny County Court we have got to do it, and I certainly believe by increasing their authority we are doing it.

If, as has been suggested, the ability of these men is not as it should have been—and I might say there are several women—the solution to that, of course, is for the people of Allegheny County to elect members to the judiciary of our County Court who are competent.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, to say that judges in Allegheny County take part in political campaigns?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think I made some reference to the statement of Senator Reed in that respect.

Mr. HALUSKA. And, Mr. President, do they take leave of absence while taking part in that campaign, if the gentleman knows?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I never checked the payroll and therefore I cannot answer that question.

Mr. HALUSKA. Did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, ever hear of any judge taking leave of absence during a political campaign?

Mr. GELTZ. No, Mr. President, I can not say I have.

Mr. HALUSKA. And while they are out campaigning they call in these gypsy judges and they are being paid twenty dollars per day, is that correct, to the best of the gentleman's knowledge?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the visiting judges in Allegheny County are there from the beginning of the Court term to the end, so it is not just during a campaign.

Mr. HALUSKA. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. President, I think yesterday afternoon the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, introduced a resolution here sent to him by an institution from Wilkensburg, from the contents of which I believe they were asking for a higher rate of pay for those persons employed by the Commonwealth. We realize that we have many, many persons working for as low as seventy-five or eighty dollars a month in the Commonwealth. These judges being created by the Legislature are also employees of the Commonwealth, Mr. President, and they are receiving a minimum of ten thousand dollars per year. I see no good reason why, when one judge who might be living in the County of Cambria goes to Pittsburgh, we say because he lives in the County of Cambria he should be entitled to further compensation.

Mr. President, take any other state employe in any department on this bill, if he works in Harrisburg and is called to Pittsburgh he or she gets no further compensation—probably expenses—and I think it is about time we start cleaning house and enact some type of legislation to stop these peddling gypsy and roving judges, paying them ten thousand dollars a year and sending them across the line into another court and then paying them twenty dollars per day extra.

I, like my colleague from Washington, Senator Reed, can not see my way clear to vote for any additional judges, because while they are out campaigning they are replaced by other judges. If there ever was a racket in Pennsylvania racket exists in our judicial bodies and our Commonwealth of Pennsylvania stands by gracefully and pays the bill while, as to the man on relief, they will argue for week about how much milk he should receive, how much compensation or what not, but we do not blink an eye at paying judges ten thousand dollars per year and then additionally paying them extra for every day's work while they are on the state payroll, and after they have concluded ten or twenty years in public office you put them on a pension high enough to keep ten families while we sit here idly by and have not said a word about paying pensions or any retirement to the ordinary man or woman who has helped to build this country.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate but I think the matter may be confusing to some of the gentlemen on the right and on the left about these judges and I just want to remark that five or six of those judges happen to be Republicans.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 767, (House Bill No. 1095), on third reading, which went over in its order, on page 8 of the Calendar.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 767, (House Bill No. 1095), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 198) entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" by conferring upon said county court jurisdiction in certain civil actions transferred to it by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General. There was some discussion concerning this bill in connection with Senate Bill No. 726, which was passed a little earlier today.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I seriously object to recommitment of this bill. I voted in favor of the bill of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, because I thought he was sincere in attempting to clear up the situation in our courts in Allegheny County, which for many years has been very bad, but it is self-evident to those who will interest themselves in the situation that it will take more than the creation of two additional judgeships to do that job.

Senate Bill No. 767, House Bill No. 1095, should be passed, I am satisfied our peculiar situation will be corrected.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill 767, (House Bill No. 1095), be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WADE. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Roll call, Mr. President.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in rising in my place to present a bill at this time I desire to make a few remarks concerning this bill, which is a bill proposing to reduce the number of judges, by two, in the County Courts of Allegheny County and I want to explain, we just passed a bill increasing the number of Common Pleas judges by two. Our Common Pleas Court judges receive a salary of fourteen thousand dollars a year and the judges of the County Courts get ten thousand dollars a year, but as every attorney and most of the lay members of the Senate know, in addition to the judges there are always a number of other attaches of a court such as tip-staffs, janitors and so on, as well as the cost of equipping the court room and furnishing it for the judge and his staff, which runs the expenses to the county up considerably.

Now, Mr. President, the Board of County Commissioners of Allegheny County might be hard pressed for court rooms in which to place these two additional Common Pleas Judges, and inasmuch as we have just recommitted a bill which would permit County Judges to have some work to occupy their time and, if they are not going to give the judges of the county court any work to do, we might as well knock off two of them—we do not need six—and this will leave four to take care of the little bit of business they have.

I want to say, Mr. President, in presenting this bill there is absolutely nothing personal contained in it; I am not gunning for any member of the Allegheny County Court; I have no knowledge of which terms expire first and which position will be cut by this bill. I think this is sound legislation and would suggest that the bill be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether under the statute you could raise the powers and duties of the county court Judges in Allegheny County so that they would have the same jurisdictional powers as the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas in Allegheny County.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in answer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Washington, as I understand it, there was a bill passed, I think, by the 1937 Legislature, which made the jurisdiction of the Judges of the Allegheny County Court practically parallel with that of the judges of the Common Pleas Court, but that was declared unconstitutional.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1296, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 198), entitled "An act to establish a county court for the County of Allegheny, and prescribing its powers and duties; regulating the procedure therein, and providing for the expenses thereof," by reducing the number of judges of said court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I suggest that the Reading Clerk suspend the reading of the nominations and that we vote individually on the nominations.

The PRESIDENT. That will be done, when the Senate resolves itself into Executive Session to consider the nominations. The Reading Clerk now is merely reading the report of the Committee on Executive Nominations.

RULE 38 SUSPENDED

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. MILLER, That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. MILLER, That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lackawanna will proceed.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I suggest that we vote on the various nominations to boards and commissions individually. In other words, I suggest that now we consider the nominations to the Game Commission and that a vote "aye" will be a vote for the confirmation of the Game Commission only.

Mr. JAMES. That is entirely satisfactory to me, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The question is shall the Senate advise and consent to the nominations to the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, would the Chair indulge us for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

NOMINATIONS LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, there seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the action of the caucus of the Senators on the other side concerning the nominations just submitted.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the nominations just reported from the Committee on Executive Nominations be laid upon the table.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion the proper procedure would be for the Senate just to rise from Executive Session. The procedure suggested by the gentleman from Bucks is irregular.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

NOMINATIONS REPORTED FROM EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the nominations just favorably reported from the Committee on Executive Nominations be laid on the table.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, June 25, 1941

The House met at 2 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair,

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

O God, our Heavenly Father, Thou art never far from anyone of us, for it is in Thee that we live and move and have our being. Forgive us, we pray Thee, for sinful restlessness that causes us to wander from Thee.

This day, our Father, we seek a special blessing. We would ask Thee that a blessing of comfort might abide within the hearts of those who mourn the loss of a worthy servant of the State.

May we ever recall the finest and best from the life of Dr. Shaw, for whom time is no more. We ask Thee, O God, that Thy mercy and Thy peace may abide within his earthly home now filled with grief and sorrow. Be very near to his loved ones. Comfort, sustain and uphold them with Thy great power and love.

Realizing that we are but pilgrims and strangers on this highway of life, and knowing that we pass this way but once, help us, O our God, to seek to be a brother to all men. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

THE SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, for presiding.

INTERROGATION

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thomas Lee.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thomas Lee, in the House?

Mr. D'ORTONA. Or Mr. Edwin Lee, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Edwin Lee permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Lee, could you tell me how the minority members in filing the minority report came to the conclusion that this accident was unavoidable?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. I think we all agreed it was unavoidable, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, my question was not answered. My question was what brought them to the conclusion that the explosion in Philadelphia was unavoidable?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. Those same reasons, Mr. Speaker, that the minority members filed in their report. We were not together on it.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, in the report of the majority members on that committee we took the testimony of each witness that appeared before the committee in Philadelphia. I wish to ask the gentleman from Phila-

Philadelphia if he read the testimony of Fred Matheas, the superintendent of the Department of Public Works in Philadelphia?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, I also would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if he read the testimony of Gerardo Cedrona, foreman of the Highway Department in Philadelphia?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I read all the testimony in the report, but unfortunately I do not have it with me.

Mr. D'ORTONA. And, Mr. Speaker, after reading the testimony in the majority report, does the gentleman from Philadelphia wish to state that the minority members came to the conclusion that the explosion was unavoidable and that no one was to blame?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. D'ORTONA. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I was greatly surprised to learn that the minority members of the Committee appointed to investigate the gas explosion had released to the newspapers the minority report before this same report had been presented to this House.

After carefully reading this minority report I am firmly convinced that instead of being based upon the testimony of the many witnesses who appeared at the hearings it is one entirely political in nature.

Evidently the writer of the minority report has been much more interested in criticizing the Coroner than in considering the testimony submitted at the hearings. He has entirely ignored the fact that the Coroner is required by law to investigate all cases involving death resulting from accidents.

In no way did the Coroner interfere with the duties imposed by this House on its Committee, as the hearings had been finished before the Coroner's inquest was held.

The so-called "blue-ribbon" jury criticized in the minority report was composed of three prominent Republican citizens and three equally prominent Democrats. This is proof of the fact that no political influence was indulged in by the Coroner.

The charge that the Coroner showed "lack of respect for a Legislative Body" has no basis in fact. On the contrary he at all times proffered to your Committee his fullest cooperation.

Equally baseless is the charge that the Coroner's inquest was superficial. Anyone acquainted with the facts should know that, on the contrary, this inquest was thorough and impartial.

Your Committee has always felt that this House intended that a complete and impartial investigation should be made with a view to fixing the responsibility for these tragedies and producing corrective legislation.

Your Committee has, in its majority report followed what it conceived to be the wishes of this House and has not only fixed the responsibility for these deaths but has also made certain definite recommendations which would, if adopted prevent a recurrence.

The minority report, on the other hand, has found no person responsible nor has it made any recommendation which would prevent future tragedies of this nature. It merely refers to this catastrophe as an "unfortunate occurrence." I repeat that this minority report is purely and plainly one of a political nature.

Further, Mr. Speaker, I want to say a few weeks ago this committee recommended to this House, House Bill 1710 to create an inspection board in the Department of Public Works in Philadelphia, and the gentlemen who filed the minority report, in which they criticized the majority report, all voted aye for that bill. Today in this minority report they state that it would be a financial burden upon the city of Philadelphia. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that in creating this inspection board there is no additional expenses incurred because the work is to be done by the same people that are receiving compensation today. If the minority members of that Committee, Mr. Speaker, want to place political rights above human rights, I say again, Mr. Speaker, that their minority report was a political whitewash.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FLETCHER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. D'Ortona has just said in a very few words that the minority on that committee has released to the newspapers their report before he received it. I would like to tell the gentleman that I, Mr. Fletcher, did not know anything about the report being made to any of the newspapers, and I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. D'Ortona.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. D'ORTONA. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLETCHER. Mr. Speaker, why did the gentleman say that the committee gave that notice of the result of the investigation to the newspapers?

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, the report was filed late yesterday afternoon and the report of the minority members appeared in yesterday morning's Bulletin.

Mr. FLETCHER. Mr. Speaker, it's a wonder Mr. D'Ortona did not find out who gave that report to the newspapers before accusing the minority members of the investigating committee, because I for one did not give it to any newspaper.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, that statement to the newspapers was given by Mr. Thomas Lee, a member of the committee.

Mr. FLETCHER. Well, Mr. Speaker, why did not the gentleman say that it was given by Mr. Thomas Lee instead of the members? That is the point I want to reach.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Lee told me that he would file the report for the minority members.

Mr. FLETCHER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman may have told him he would file the report, but was he giving it to the newspapers for the minority members?

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Lee also told me that he gave it to the newspapers on Monday morning.

Mr. FLETCHER. Mr. Speaker, did Mr. Lee tell the gentleman that he gave the views of the members? He may have told the gentleman that he gave it to the newspapers, but I for one want to correct that, and state that I had nothing to do with it.

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker, I accept Mr. Fletcher's explanation that he probably did not know that the report was given to the newspapers by Mr. Lee.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in defense of these bills. On January 7th at the opening Session of this Legislature, our Governor, in addressing us said, inter alia, as follows:

"This Session of Legislature meets at a critical period. Our country is in the midst of a race against the clock to complete our defense program in time to protect our homes, our possessions and our civilization.

The questions which concern us are:

What can Pennsylvania do to speed up the defense program?

That problem transcends any political issues within our state.

I call upon the members of this Legislature to give that problem the unity of purpose and action which already has been urged by the President of the United States.

Until our crisis is met, political hatchets must be buried. We must have an armistice on the political battlefronts.

President Roosevelt has called upon America to become the arsenal of Democracy. To accomplish that, Pennsylvania must become the Arsenal of America.

Perhaps the most important field concerns the relation of the working man and the employer. . . ."

(After discussing four points which the changes of our law brought about, in commenting on the 1939 W. C. A. as compared to the 1937 Act, the Governor goes on and states, ". . . there may be amendments needed to the Act of 1939.")

So far as the 1939 Act is concerned I can only quote the ancient words, "Thou hast been weighed in the balance and found wanting."

I expect to hear cries that this bill and companion bills are too liberal in favor of the working man; that it will put certain employers out of business mainly due to increased insurance rates; that we are tending to stifle private enterprise etc. To all these I answer now and hereafter:

(a) That the W. C. A. and everything relative thereto is not a business but a social problem, and must be looked upon and treated as such.

(b) In this time of "Unlimited national emergency" in our national defense where the man in the factory and the mill is just as important or even plays a greater part than the man in the uniform—and has been referred to as the first line of defense—we must treat the worker justly and in such a manner that it will generate a loyalty and enthusiasm on the part of all the citizens for our democracy as a way of life. The best way to teach patriotism is to make it worthwhile to be a patriot. You can't be patriotic on an empty stomach or lying on your back in a hospital, maimed and crippled for life without the proper means of cure or existence. So long as the breath of life remains in the human machine you cannot discard it on the junk heap and forget about it. Such a course tends to breed all other isms but Americanism.

It is labor applied to national resources which produces wealth. It is therefore urgent in this day of "unlimited national emergency" of keeping up the morale and efficiency of the civilian population.

The most outstanding elements of democracy are order and security. Unless we have security, our democracy is endangered, and by security I mean economic security. And if we are to withstand the emotional assault of other philosophies of government, we must enrich our beliefs of national approach to social living.

In my experience as Special Deputy Attorney General, assigned to Workmen's Compensation I represented claimants in a great number of cases, I have had many unpleasant moments in seeing maimed and crippled people, and unfortunate dependents in want, fighting for what is rightly due them. I have seen insurance companies, who waxed fat on the premiums which they charge, who tried hard to deprive them of their due. On the other hand I have had the pleasure of helping these unfortunate claimants receive what was justly due them.

What is workmen's compensation?

The vital principle of the workmen's compensation laws in most states is to justly compensate workers for injuries sustained in the course of employment regardless of whose fault it is.

For the benefit of those members who are not lawyers, I want to recite briefly the history of this legislation.

At common law—that is before any act was passed on the subject) the worker injured in industry had the cards stacked against him in any effort to collect damages from his employer.

First he had to prove his employer guilty of some act or omission constituting legal carelessness or "negligence," and even if he succeeded in establishing negligence on the part of his employer, any negligence or carelessness on his own part, which contributed in the slightest degree to the accident, debarred him from recovery.

In addition, he had other obstacles to overcome:

(a) The assumption of risk and rule (a man taking a job where he was faced with known dangers), was held to assume the risk of such danger and if he was injured, he received no compensation.

(b) The "fellow-servant" rule. This obliged the worker to assume the risk of a fellow worker's carelessness and if injured, as a result, he could not recover against his employer.

Years of effort by liberal forces, eventually led in 1911 by the State of Wisconsin, to the W. C. A. Other states followed. Pennsylvania joining in 1915.

The W. C. A. did away with the need of proof of negligence, and abolished the defenses of contributory negligence, assumption of risk and the fellow-servant rule. This was the real beginning of social security legislation.

The subject of workmen's compensation law with its multifarious provisions is so broad today to try to cover it by discussion would take days, and an attempt to think of it in its entirety tends to confusion.

I shall try to point out to you in the best way I can, a few features of our law as it now stands in this Commonwealth which I think are important and which require correction. Our 1939 law specifies that the employee, for total disability, is entitled to 66⅔ per cent of his weekly wage, provided, however, that the amount is not less than $9 nor more than $18 per week, and does not exceed the aggregate sum of $7500. (Although the act provides in total disability cases, compensation for 500 weeks which at the rate of $18 per week would amount to $9000.) And further provides that in case he earns less than $9 weekly he shall receive as low as $5.

For partial disability, it is specified that the employee is entitled to receive 66⅔ per cent of the difference between the earnings before and after the injury. Such compensation, however, may not exceed $15 per week but continues for the duration of the partial disability up to a total of 300 weeks after the 7th day of disability, but Section 306 (b) says:

"The term earning power as used in this Section, shall in no case be less than the weekly amount which the employee receives after the accident."

This to my mind is an unjust and dangerous provision.

A man may return to work and receive $25 per week out of the graciousness of a friendly employer, when actually his real earning power (or work he is able to perform), may be $10 or $12 per week; or take it a step further; an employer may pay an employee in a sum in excess of his earning power, beyond the period which is allowed to the claimant to petition the Board, and in this way lull the claimant into a feeling of security, and then when the statutory period has elapsed, the claimant would be unable to come in and have his earning power determined.

Another unjust and dangerous provision, which is badly in need of repair, and which we are attempting to correct, is that dealing with hernia. Section 306 (h) says:

"Hernia shall be considered as physical weakness or ailment, which ordinarily develops gradually, and shall not be compensable, unless incontrovertible proof is offered that the hernia was at once precipitated by sudden effort or severe strain and that: first, the descent of the hernia followed the cause without intervening time; second, there was actual pain in the hernial region at the time of descent; third, the above manifestations were of such severity that the same were noticed at once by the claimant, necessitating immediate cessation of work, and communicated to the employer or a representative of the employer within 48 hours after the occurrence of the accident."

The symptoms of hernia may not manifest themselves until sometime after the claimant sustained an injury, and the fact he continues to work for a period of time after meeting with the injury without ceasing work, would act as a bar to recover under this section, is very unreasonable for they are compelling an ordinary layman to diagnose his case of hernia within 48 hours, something that I have found in my experience, physicians to be unable to do and differ in their opinion.

Another unjust provision I desire to call your attention to is section 306 (c) dealing with specific losses which needs correction, and which we are attempting to correct by this bill, such as loss of hand, arm, foot, leg, etc. I am not going to discuss the inadequacy of compensation in number of weeks, but I want to direct your attention to the definition given in the act as to these respective losses.

Let us take the Loss of Hand: Standard Dictionary: A hand is, "That part of the forelimb, in man, that is attached to the lower extremity of the forearm, (and is adapted to grasping.)" i.e. that portion of the limb between the wrist and fingers. Yet the 1939 Act says: "Amputation between the elbow and the wrist shall be considered equivalent to the loss of a hand."

Loss of Foot: Standard Dictionary: A foot is, "The part below the ankle in man"; yet the 1939 Act (law today), says: "Amputation between the knee and the ankle shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of a foot."

Loss of Arm: Standard Dictionary: An arm is, "The upper limb of the human body from the shoulder to the hand." Yet the present law says: "Amputation at or above the elbow shall be considered the loss of an arm."

Loss of Leg: Standard Dictionary: A leg is, "In man the part of the lower limb between the knee and ankle."—(which definition fits the loss of a foot under the Act). Yet the present law says: "Amputation at or above the knee shall be considered loss of a leg." And further being worried that possibly they were too liberal, go on further to conclude the paragraph, after fixing a minimum of $9, "... provided that if at the time of the injury the employee receives wages of less than $9 per week, then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation, but in no event less than $5 per week."

A mechanic suffers an injury to an arm, he has to submit to treatment of insurance company doctors, he dare not employ his own, it is necessary to amputate. The surgeon tries to save as much of his arm as possible no matter how useless it may be thereafter. He leaves an inch below the elbow. That extra inch below the elbow entitles him to, under the present law, to the loss of a hand, and his compensation is for 175 weeks instead of 215 weeks (which should be for the loss of an arm), and receives a maximum of $2625, instead of $3225. Although he is crippled for life, and can no longer pursue his trade. He will never be able to be a mechanic again, he is handicapped for life, but that is all the compensation he can get.

A truck driver, roofer, painter, bricklayer, or other occupation requiring standing or walking or use of the lower limbs, suffers injury to leg, amputation one inch below the knee; he receives compensation for the loss of a foot.

In thirty-one states in the country he would have received more. In Wisconsin he would have gotten $10,000, in New York up to $7800, and in Ohio, even the loss of two fingers would have been called the loss of a hand if the loss of those fingers prevented him from continuing his trade or profession.

Under our present law, although the victim has to submit to treatment of the company's doctors,—if he requires hospitalization—no matter how much medical care he may need he is limited to $150, and that for only sixty days duration following the disability. If he needs more than sixty days in the hospital, and more than $150 for medical care, he has to pay for it himself if he can, otherwise, he becomes a public charge. If he suffers a more serious injury and he is required to spend years in the hospital under doctor's care, under the present law, after the insurance company paid $150 in medical expenses for sixty days, he pays if he can, otherwise, the public pays. What happens if he no longer required medical care but is disabled and unfit to work and the compensation money he received is exhausted; the public pays.

As has been pointed out recently by David G. Wittels in a series of enlightening articles in the Philadelphia Record—a survey in 1937 showed that 13 per cent of injured workers had to go on relief; 38 per cent ran up debts which they could not pay for; 18 percent lived on the charity of relatives. State, city and county hospitals, supported by public funds, had to take in the injured workers. Private charities and public institutions frequently had to pay for artificial limbs and braces, because our present law which was passed in 1939 doesn't consider that as part of compensation. Under this bill and other numerous state statutes, do provide for such necessities.

In 1937 our law passed in that year remedied these conditions to such an extent that it boosted Pennsylvania from the 29th place to the second place among the states. By this bill we are trying to put forward this great industrial state of Pennsylvania where it belongs.

And further, you will hear a cry from parties in opposition that by liberalizing the act the insurance premium rates will be so high that a number of employers will refuse to come in under the Act and thus many workers will be without protection. Such fears are unfounded. Although the W. C. A. was passed for the sole benefit of the worker and his family and should be looked upon as a social matter, statistics will show (verified by a public hearing held by our Committee) that approximately 54 per cent of the premiums paid by employers of workmen's compensation insurance went to the injured worker and their families. The other 46 per cent went to padded administration costs and the profits for the insurance companies and rebates to employers. And while the insurance companies were yelling murder when the liberalized 1937 act was passed, the private insurance companies were making bigger profits than ever before. They raised their premiums as high as 43 per cent and in some cases 65 per cent yet the increased benefits paid was only a fraction over 4 per cent—all at the expense of human misery.

About 100,000 workers per year were killed or injured in Pennsylvania as a result of industrial accidents. With the defense program this number will be greatly increased. As wages and employment rise, insurance premiums rise. The insurance premium was based on a certain rate per $100 of payroll. The bigger the payroll the more he pays for insurance. But there is a limit on how much, and for how long, the insurance company must pay the injured victim or his family. Whether the injured received $27 per week, or with full employment and overtime, $50, $75, or $100 per week—he is only entitled to receive the same amount, maximum $18, and if he earns less he receives as low as $5 per week. The result being, that under our present law, passed in 1939, the benefits are so small that Pennsylvania, being the second industrial state in the Union, is now the 29th in workmen's compensation benefits.

The workman who is injured or crippled for life in Pennsylvania, gets less than the workman in the neighboring states of New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, New Jersey, West Virginia.

In Massachusetts he receives $18, New York $25, Ohio $18.75, West Virginia $16, Wisconsin $19.50, for the duration of his life.

If he is killed in Pennsylvania his family receives much less than the families of most injured men in similar jobs in those states.

For permanent injury in Pennsylvania he is limited to a maximum of $7500 and as little as $2500. If he is killed, his widow receives a maximum of $11 per week for 300 weeks or top $3300, and the widow may get as little as $5 a week, or a total of $1500. And if as happens in many cases the worker lingers for a long time before he dies, the widow and children get nothing, because the payments that he receives during his illness would be deducted from the compensation for death benefits.

Although under our present law passed in 1939 the benefits were cut considerably so far as the worker and his family are concerned. As the payments to the crippled and the maimed, to the widows and the orphans went down, private companies' profits went up.

Probably no piece of legislation brought before the 1937 Session or this Session of the Legislature is of greater interest to labor, industry and the general public as workmen's compensation.

When the 1937 Act was passed labor knew from bitter experience the inadequacies of the old law; industry likewise recognized the need for improvement, but did not favor all the features of the bill. And the public was interested because of the social significance of such legislation. The present law passed in 1939 put us back where we were before 1937 and therefore again needs correction.

A thorough study of the operation of the law before 1937 which applies to the present law it was found that two of every three injuries meant hardship or tragedy for the victim or his family. Between two and three million employees face exposure to death or injury at their work every day and as I stated before injury or death in Pennsylvania industry strikes 100,000 or more homes every year and that the present preparedness program that number is bound to increase. Not only a trail of broken bodies, but a trail of broken homes, exhausted savings, unpaid bills, crushing debts, greatly lowered standards of living—yes, public relief—have inevitably resulted from inadequate compensation.

Faced with this tragic records we are attempting to remedy that condition by these bills.

Under these bills, which I urge you to pass, Pennsylvania will join seventeen other states in the union in which compensation laws provide income until recovery—or for life if injury destroys earning power permanently.

As I stated before, I expect to hear the usual cry from the opposition that it will increase the insurance rates to such an extent that industry will not be able to stand it. Well we have provided for that in another bill and further to such argument my answer is industry in Pennsylvania was able to stand it under the 1937 Act. With increase in production at the present time they surely will be able to stand it better. New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, with higher rates and with greater benefits can stand it, Pennsylvania with lesser rates and smaller benefits can stand it. I say to you don't take it out of the worker's life and limb, but take it out of the insurance companies that charge exorbitant rates.

The State Workmen's Insurance Fund of Pennsylvania, which takes the most undesirable risks, that which is turned down by other insurance companies, is able to earn money. Surely the private insurance company can make and are making money when they are able to choose their risks.

Before concluding, I want to call your attention to one more unjust feature of the present law, and which this bill is attempting to correct, and that is denial of compensation for the loss of any or all of the toes, and hearing of one year, which are considered of no value. What those members mean to a painter, roofer, bricklayer, fireman, football player, engineer, auto or truck driver, etc. I will leave to your common sense.

As I stated before, the worker in industry is the first line of defense in this "unlimited national emergency." It is our duty to see to it that he receives a square deal and is satisfied. He is not making unjust demands, he is only asking what is rightfully due him—protection, a reasonable and just amount of security, for himself and his dependents in case he is permanently disabled or loses his life. His demand is just and it is our duty to grant it to him.

I therefore earnestly urge every Member of this House to vote for these bills.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1002 is a reenactment of the entire Workmen's Compensation Act. The Democratic party pledged itself during the 1940 Campaign to substantially restore the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1937. This bill represents the party's effort to fulfill that pledge. Its passage will give us for the second time in the history of Pennsylvania a reasonably liberal law, judged either from the standard of the laws of neighboring states or the adequacy of protection of those injured workers and their families, who must pay the price of the dangerous efficiency of our machine age.

The amendments to the benefit features of the Act are based on a consideration of the minimum needs of the disabled worker and his family. If the employer does not take care of those needs directly through Workmen's Compensation payments, the community will be compelled to do so through higher taxation to support our charity facilities. This omits any consideration of the sound theory of Workmen's Compensation that the full cost of industrial injuries is a legitimate part of the cost of production. We know that the wreckage of machinery is a legitimate cost of production and, by the same token, we must admit that cost of human wreckage should be charged against the cost of the goods produced. In other words, the cost of Workmen's Compensation is paid by the consumer and not by the employer or the workman. This is the premise on which all compensation laws are predicated.

No one can contend successfully that our present Workmen's Compensation Act transfers the cost from the injured employee to the cost of production. For a compensation system under which a considerable number of those injured must, to meet the contingency of disability, resort to such expedients as borrowing, the use of savings, and the accumulation of debts, can hardly be said to have transferred accident costs to industry. When many workers are forced to sacrifice insurance, to give up their homes and seek cheaper living quarters, or to become relief charges, it is evident that the insured and his family, or society, is paying a not inconsiderable share of the charge which compensation should have made a cost of production. House Bill No. 1002 is not suggested as being the ideal bill in this respect, but is proposed as more equitably placing the economic loss sustained where it properly belongs.

This bill is further designed to make the benefits of the Workmen's Compensation Law comparable with those applying in states of equal and lesser industrial importance. Although Pennsylvania ranks second in industrial importance, it ranks twenty-ninth among forty-six states in average liberality of Workmen's Compensation benefits. The present Act places Pennsylvania thirty-sixth in death benefits paid to widows, orphaned children and other dependents, twenty-fourth in permanent disability payments, twenty-ninth in temporary total disability benefits, and forty-second when evaluating how Pennsylvania provides medical and hospital care for the injured workman. These ratings are furnished by the National Council on Compensation Insurance, a private insurance organization. These rankings give a birds eye view of the unenviable position in which Pennsylvania is placed when her progressiveness and liberality is contrasted with that of her sister states.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, it may be argued that Pennsylvania should not adopt this particular bill by reason of the competitive situation with other states. If so, let us look at the rankings of our neighboring industrial states. The National Council on Compensation Insurance, using the same formula as a yardstick, rates New York second, West Virginia tenth, Illinois eleventh, Maryland twelfth, Ohio thirteenth and New Jersey nineteenth. Remembering that Pennsylvania ranks twenty-ninth, I submit to you that at the present time under our Workmen's Compensation Law the employing interests of Pennsylvania enjoy a competitive advantage over the employers in the surrounding industrial states.

Now Mr. Speaker and members of the House, with an apparent and appalling deficiency in our protection of the workmen of our great Commonwealth proven and with the competitive argument removed, what violent reason remains for Pennsylvania not to take its place with the other states with respect to compensation benefits? After all, this is but a security measure to provide security in the home for the injured, for their widows, and the orphans of those fatally injured. I submit to you that security today is as vital and necessary as ever before in the history of this Commonwealth. Security must and should be applied in Workmen's Compensation benefits in the state of Pennsylvania.

I have been talking in generalities with respect to our Workmen's Compensation Law. Perhaps, it would be well to state the proposed changes from existing law, so that everyone within hearing of my voice may judge whether this bill is unreasonable or unfair in its provisions.

Categorically House Bill No. 1002 will:—

Subject individual partners and officers of corporations to the penalties imposed in the penal sections. (Sec. 102)

Provides compensation for injuries sustained by volunteer firemen while performing any duties of their fire company. (Sec. 104-c)

Gives minors power to contract and file claims against employers and a parent employer. (Sec. 108, 205, 301-b, 305, 407)

Provides double damages if the employee's injury was caused or contributed to by his employer's violation of a safety law or regulation. (Sec. 201-d)

Requires insurance by rejecting employers against common law actions unless exempted under the provisions of the Act. (Sec. 205)

Increases the time limit for compensable death from 300 weeks to 500 weeks. (Sec. 301-c)

Changes the period for termination of the acceptance or rejection of the Act from 30 days to 60 days. (Sec. 304)

Requires employers to post a notice setting forth his compensation coverage. (Sec. 305)

Establishes penalty for fraudulent statements to department by employer and lowers penalty for failure to secure compensation liability. (Sec. 305)

Compensation for total disability—raises the absolute minimum from $5 to $9 per week. Provides for compensation for first seven days if disability lasts four weeks or longer. Removes the $7,000 limitation of payments and provides for compensation in a restricted amount for life to permanently and totally disabled workmen. (Sec. 306-a)

Compensation for partial disability—Raises maximum from $15 to $18 per week. Provides for 400 weeks of compensation instead of 300 weeks. Protects employee against loss of partial disability payments through temporary unearned wage payments. (Sec. 306-b)

Specific Losses—Increases number of weeks of compensation paid for specific losses and disfigurement. Provides for loss of binocular vision and for loss of the great toe, first toe and second toe. (Sec. 306-c)

Medical—Increases medical and hospital attention from 60 days to 3 months and authorizes the Workmen's Compensation Board to extend this care. Provides for dental and nursing services as well as artificial appliances. Excuses employee from accepting surgical attention which might jeopardize his life. (Sec. 206-e)

Makes requirement for recovery in hernia cases the same as those of any other type of accident. (Sec. 306-h)

Provides compensation for second injuries.

Death—Increases compensation payments to widows and children. Provides compensation to children until the age of eighteen. Provides restricted compensation payments to widows for life providing remarriage does not intervene. (Sec. 307)

Changes method of calculating average weekly wage. (Sec. 309)

Enlarges time for employee notice of injury to employers from fourteen days to thirty days and deletes bar to compensation claim if notice is not given within 90 days. (Sec. 311) minors illegally employed from 110 per cent to double compensation. (Sec. 320).

Extends time for filing claims from 1 year to 2 years. (Sec. 315)

Imposes penalty for improper commutation payments. (Sec. 316)

Provides penalty for employer taking blank or incomplete agreements, and otherwise tightens the law relating thereto. (Sec. 407)

Increases time for rehearing from 1 year to 2 years. (Sec. 426)

Increases the time in which a final receipt for payment of benefits may be set aside from 2 years to 600 weeks and extends grounds upon which it may be set aside. (Sec. 434)

In short, the major extensions proposed are:—

First—Compensation payments after 500 weeks at the rate of $30 per month for life for permanent total disability. Is there anyone who will say that $360 per year is too much for a workman who has sustained permanent total disability. Sixteen states have a similar provision.

Second—an increase of specific loss compensation payment. Surely, no one will quarrel with the propriety of granting an increase to the maimed by industry of this state.

Third—compensation for the first seven days, if disability lasts four weeks or longer. This will bring Pennsylvania in line with the 30 states which already have a comparable provision.

Fourth—provides medical, dental, nursing and hospital care for the entire period of healing under certain proper restrictions. Eleven states limit neither time nor amount. Eleven states do not limit the amount. Twelve states have no limitation on the time. Thirteen states, of which Pennsylvania is one, limits both time and amount.

Fifth—provides compensation payments to widows for 500 weeks and then thereafter payments at the rate of $5 per week for life or until remarriage intervenes. Six states, including New York and West Virginia, have compensation payments for the entire period of widowhood.

Sixth—compensation payments to children until they reach the age of eighteen, and until twenty-one if the child is disabled. Children should be provided for until the age for graduation from high school; hence the change from sixteen to eighteen.

Seventh—changes method of calculating average weekly wage and, thus, provides those working on a staggered or part time schedule with a minimum subsistence compensation payment.

Eighth—allows the setting aside of the final receipt within 600 weeks under certain restrictions if a recurrence of disability is proven. Today a case cannot be reopened for any reason, regardless of how meritorious, after two years from the signing of the final receipt.

When reading any of these liberalizing provisions, I am sure that the Members of this House will come to the conclusion that there is nothing provided for in this bill except a more equitable transfer of the economic loss from the employe and his family to the cost of producing the commodity or service. It cannot be said to be burdensome to the extent that it will drive industry out of Pennsylvania. It is a matter of fact that the great State of New York, which now has a Compensation Law that is comparable to that proposed in this measure, has never shown any signs of industrial deterioration because of the amount of compensation received by injured employes in that State.

The bill is well drawn. It liberalizes the Compensation Law of Pennsylvania; seeks to bring Pennsylvania up to the schedules provided in other states; and it gives no unfair competitive advantage to other states over Pennsylvania. There is no reason or logic upon which it can be said that Pennsylvania should not measure up to the standards set by other states.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, this measure is the voice of the disabled worker, his wife, children and other dependents pleading with Members of this House for fair treatment and much needed help in their hours of financial distress and anxiety. By your vote tonight, you will give your answer to their plea. I trust that not a single member of this House will answer "NO" to these who only ask for some measure of security in their homes against the economic distress caused by industrial accidents in our machine age.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, we have had Workmen's Compensation in Pennsylvania since 1915. Workmen's Compensation fundamentally no longer is an issue. The only question which faces us here today which has faced legislatures for some years is, what is the best Workmen's Compensation Law for the working men of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, that is the thing with which we are concerned today, and those of us who will vote against these bills will do so believing that these bills are not the best Workmen's Compensation Laws for the people and for the working men of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We will vote against these laws because we believe, sincerely and truly, as a result of the analysis of the situation, that these laws are a detriment to the working men of Pennsylvania and are in no way an improvement over the present law.

I am not going to review the history of Workmen's Compensation in Pennsylvania except to state that for twenty-five years with the exception of 1928, when it practically broke down, we have had effective Workmen's Compensation in Pennsylvania. But what happened when the Act of 1937 was passed? We had an act which was adopted by a Democratic House and Senate and approved by the Democratic party, which was drafted by those who did not know the real problems of Workmen's Compensation and were not thoroughly interested in the real problem of Workmen's Compensation.

Reviewing that bill and reviewing the history that followed, one can come to no other conclusion than it was passed for political purposes primarily, rather than for the best interests of the working men of Pennsylvania.

What happened under the Act of 1937? True you increased the benefits written on the pages of the book, but Mr. Speaker, we don't want a Workmen's Compensation Act which has glittering promises from the pages of the book unless it can be transferred into coin of the realm in the pockets of the injured man. It doesn't matter what we write into the statute books if it doesn't result in benefit to the working man. What is the difference what we put on those books, what is the difference what figures we use in the bills that we adopt in this House of Representatives, if it is not translated into dollars and cents in the pockets of the injured men and women of Pennsylvania and the dependents of those who are killed.

What happened under the Act of 1937? You have had so many rejections that they had to employ girls over in the Department to walk between the files of over 300,000 men in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who were not under the Workmen's Compensation Law.

But even that is not half the story, because among those 300,000 men were the men who were engaged in the most hazardous occupations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and those who suffered the greater part of the injuries. So when you take out 300,000 men, you take out not only a small percentage of the injured men of Pennsylvania, but you take out very nearly half of the injured people of Pennsylvania who are being pulled out from under the Workmen's Compensation Act, as a result of the Act of 1937. Rejection of the act was practically unknown until 1937 and those people were protected by workmen's compensation until that time, and then one after another the industries began to come in and reject, all of your big industries, your hazardous industries rejected the Workmen's Compensation Act. I venture to say that had it remained on the statute books another two years there would not have been one hazardous industry in Pennsylvania whose men would have had Workmen's Compensation. They just waited, hoping that there would be some relief to the situation.

Industry is willing to submit, is anxious to submit to a proper and reasonable Workmen's Compensation Act, but when that act was taken into court it was declared unconstitutional in a number of instances. It was very poorly drawn; it was drawn by those who did not understand or appreciate the problems of the workmen's compensation situation, and the Supreme Court speaking through that now recognized liberal, Justice Maxey, had this to say:

"A Workmen's Compensation Law which meets the test of reasonableness in compensation as between the employe who receives and the employer who pays is one of the most socially beneficent enactments which statesmanship is capable of producing. On the other hand, a Workmen's Compensation Law which places upon any industry a burden so crushing that it makes that industry's existence either impossible or, to its owners, economically undesirable, is a measure which the workmen themselves should emphatically condemn and reject, for it paralyzes the very activities on which their economic well-being depends. Unprofitable industries soon become idle industries; idle industries mean idle capital, and in all ages and countries, idle capital has always meant idle men."

Mr. Speaker, reference has been made here to the interests of the workingmen and in the number of cases which are contested, and I have something here which I think is compelling evidence to illustrate most vividly that the proponents of the 1937 Act were not really the friends of labor that they professed to be.

"In 1935 and 1936, the administration of our competitive State Workmen's Insurance Fund was under the control of those who fostered the 1937 Workmen's Compensation Law, and who held themselves up as the sole friends of labor in Pennsylvania. For these two years, 1935 and 1936, the State Workmen's Insurance Fund contested 1600 claims before the compensation referees. For the period from July 1, 1939 to May 1, 1941, the State Fund contested only 817 claims. By extending this to the full two years for comparison purposes, and using for the months of May and June, 1941, the monthly average for the preceding 12 months, we get a figure of 887 contested cases compared to the 1600 for a comparable period under the Earle Administration. Who is really concerned with the welfare of the injured employe?

"The present Workmen's Compensation Board inherited 624 appeals from the previous Board and has had assigned to it 3,200 appeals making a total of 3,824. Of these appeals only 341 remain to be heard and adjudicated."

This is truly an outstanding achievement and shows how prompt and efficient have been those now looking after the interests of our workingmen, and shows the interest that the present administration has in the Workmen's Compensation law.

Mr. Speaker, there is more to an act than what is merely written on the books. Questions of administration are concerned, and I have here a considerable amount of information which I would like to read concerning the administration of workmen's compensation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania compared particularly to the state of Ohio and the state of West Virginia. Those two states were chosen because at the time of the hearing those two states were injected into it by the proponents of these bills. I venture to say, Mr. Speaker, that if any labor unions, if any laboring man, if any true friend of labor were offered this moment to exchange the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the law of either Ohio or West Virginia it would not take ten seconds for him to answer it and say "No."

I am not going to read all the information concerning this, but I am going to ask permission of the House to insert it into the records because it is a long list of comparative tabulations in connection with that subject.

Mr. Speaker, we have a situation in Pennsylvania that is somewhat different—not somewhat, but entirely different from that of any other state in the Union. We have here a great coal industry; it is a sick industry. Now, Mr. Speaker, we want a Workmen's Compensation law that will be for the best interests of the working men of Pennsylvania, but we do not want a law which will be of slight advantage to some workingmen of this Commonwealth and which will be a tremendous detriment and a tragedy to another large bloc of the workingmen of this Commonwealth, and that is what happened under the act of 1937, and that is what would happen if you would adopt these acts at the present time.

Let us take an example as to whether industry can stand this or not. Well, you have some clerks, some stenographers. Increase their benefits 100 per cent, 200 per cent or even 300 per cent, and you can stand it. The lawyer who employs them or the business man who employs them could stand the increased cost which would amount to a very, very small percentage of the total amount that he has to pay for the combination of wages, and other insurance or the payment of the workmen's compensation if he should be a self insurer. Take some manufacturing concern with a rate as low as thirty-eight cents on $100. You increase it 50 per cent, that is the benefits, and what do you do? Why, if you increase it 100 per cent you only increase it one-third of one per cent of his payroll. That would be no problem. But on the other hand take the coal industry or any of the other hazardous or heavy industries and you increase your compensation costs 100 per cent, and that is approximately what this bill does, and you increase the combination of expense on your payroll and workmen's compensation by as high as 12 per cent, or thirty-six times as much as in the other industries which are far less hazardous.

There is your problem, and that is why your situation in Pennsylvania is so much different than the situation in other states. I cannot help but think of a comparison with a thing that is going on at the present time, and so vital to the welfare of the world; convoys are being organized, taken around Bermuda, from Bermuda over to England, and as those convoys go along they cannot travel faster than the slowest ship in the convoy. Oh yes, they can go on and disrupt the convoy. Probably it would help the faster boats a little bit if they could move a little faster, but it would be a tragedy to the boats that are left behind. And so it is with Workmen's Compensation; you can move along no faster with Workmen's Compensation than the big, heavy, hazardous industries can travel along with you, and that is why in Pennsylvania with our anthracite coal industry, which is a very hazardous industry, we cannot move with as much abandon in Workmen's Compensation rates as we could if we did not have that situation.

We have heard a lot of talk about Pennsylvania being twenty-seventh or twenty-ninth, whatever it is, and being brought up to second place. Well, this group that sets forth that Pennsylvania rates pretty far down the line has this to say concerning the rating:

"The index numbers shown are subject to qualification and limitation because of the many elements entering into the computations which are not subject to exact mathematical valuation. In addition, the index of costs under the "Total", is a weighted average and is correct in a general way only. The distribution of accidents by type of injury varies between states and will therefore be somewhat different in each case from the national distribution or from the distribution of any other set of weights which might be used to obtain an average. For these reasons the index numbers on this table cannot be interpreted as representing without qualification a mathematically exact comparison of the benefits provisions of the various compensation acts. Accordingly when using this table or quoting therefrom, it is essential to realize its limitations."

I made mention a little while ago, Mr. Speaker, that I did not think any working man in Pennsylvania who is familiar with the situation would be willing to trade the Pennsylvania law, which according to the statement of these people, rates about twenty-seventh, for the compensation law of Ohio, which is rated much further up the list, or with the compensation law of West Virginia, which also is rated much further up the list. In Ohio, there are a lot of people who are not covered by workmen's compensation at all. Think of that, Members of the House, people that are not covered at all! Why? Because they happen to be working for some person who is employing less than three people, and they are outside of all workmen's compensation.

Over in West Virginia, they have some rule under which, if the employer does not pay into the fund, the employee does not get paid. There are a lot of examples like that in these various states which limit the amount of compensation, or rather limit the number of worthy people who are entitled to compensation. If you make this law too strict, what will happen? If you make it as it was in the act of 1937, I might mention the fact that there were $00,000 working men who were not under the act because of rejections. And that is not nearly all the story. I know from my own practice, in spite of the fact that I have always made every effort to force or persuade everybody who came to me concerning workmen's compensation to take no steps whatever to avoid the act, yet in spite of that, in my experience in my own little community,—and I am sure you lawyers have had many similar examples of people who formed partnerships in order that they can get out of carrying workmen's compensation, or others who employed one person, and employed that person part-time, or discharge them entirely so that they would not have to pay workmen's compensation, or people who disregarded the law entirely, or people who entered into contractual relationship and tried by all means to make their relationship a contractual one that would not be subject to workmen's compensation.

All those things are the result of the 1937 act. Now, before coming back under it again, there are very few rejections any more, and the people are subjecting themselves to the Workmen's Compensation Act as they should and as we should want them to do.

There is another matter that I think is important in considering Pennsylvania's rating or standing in workmen's compensation, and I repeat that the Workmen's Compensation Law, as it exists today, is the best Workmen's Compensation Law for Pennsylvania that Pennsylvania ever had, and possibly with a few minor amendments, is the best possible Workmen's Compensation Law for the workmen of Pennsylvania that it would be possible for us to enact into law.

Let us look and compare it as to the scope of its coverage. It applies to all employment except domestic, agricultural and casual workers. Many of these compensation laws apply only to hazardous or extra hazardous occupations, and the Ohio law applies only when an employer has three or more employees. Our law stands second to none in the nature of the accidents covered. Most of these laws apply only to accidents which occur in the course of employment and arise out of the employment, and this is so in Ohio. Some will say this is not of great importance, but I tell you it is extremely important to the injured. Our act, under section 301 Class A covers all accidents occurring in the course of employment, unless self inflicted or caused by the employees' violation of the law. The accident need not arise out of the employment. For instance, the employee may leave his work bench temporarily and be injured while visiting his fellow workers or be injured while engaging in horseplay or some sportive act.

Under most of the laws of the country, in these states that are rated high they would not get compensation but in Pennsylvania they do. I could go on and cite a number of examples here, but due to the time of the day I am going to forego that at the present time.

There is something interesting that happened concerning these workmen's compensation bills that are before us. Up until the 24th day of June these bills were not prepared for final passage. Up until that time the Members on that side of the House had these Workmen's Compensation bills on the calendar along with two others which were sent back to the committee, and I think there is something significant in this; I think we can come to no other conclusion than this, that the gentlemen on the other side who were sincerely dealing with this problem realized and understood that they could not go before the people of Pennsylvania with a re-enactment of the 1937 law and convince the workmen that they were doing something for them, so they conceived the idea of having a compulsory fund. They put three bills in this legislature and put them on the floor of the House and held them there for a number of weeks.

It was shown, I think conclusively and to the satisfaction of the majority of the gentlemen on the other side, and if you want to see the record on that I ask you to refer to the Journal where Senator Wade answered the remarks of Senator Shapiro on the floor of the Senate a number of weeks ago. I think you gentlemen realize that the Communistic move you are about to make to compel a compulsory state fund to carry all of the workmen's compensation insurance is not sound and the real problem is not the profits of the Workmen's Compensation insurance companies. I am not going to go into that debate,—it could be argued for hours, but I say again those of you who want to know the answer to that problem should refer to the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro and the answers given to them by the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade in the Senate. But you sent those bills back; you gave up the idea. Just yesterday I think it was, or the day before, you realized that you had to do something else, so then you amended a bill rather, to provide for compulsory workmen's compensation. Then you say, "Oh, everything you say about rejection is out the window. This is now a compulsory fund, and it cannot be rejected." Gentlemen, I have read you a part of the Supreme Court's decision relative to workmen's compensation. I should not have to read that to you in order to convince you that a workmen's compensation law must be reasonable. If you pass a law which means extended litigation by each particular type concerned to determine whether the law is reasonable to them or not, you are creating chaos in Pennsylvania that will be much worse than that which was created by the Act of 1937.

That is the thing, Mr. Speaker, which you are doing if you adopt the present bill which is now before us, as well as House Bill 1002, on which we will vote in a few minutes. Mr. Speaker, I think the best evidence of the real feeling of the gentlemen on the other side is if they thought that the Senate would pass this bill, they would not send it to them. I do not feel that you gentlemen on the other side would take this chance of having this compulsory bill enacted into law. Why? You wouldn't do it in 1937 when you had control of the House and the Senate and the Governorship. You talked about it, you mentioned it, you discussed it, you had conferences about it, but you would not do it, because you were afraid to take the chance. You realized then that it was not for the best interests of the workmen of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Speaker, I sincerely believe you realize today that it is not for the best interests of the workmen of Pennsylvania and you would not enact it into law if you felt it were to be passed by the Senate.

We should have been out of here two months ago, but here we are with these bills on the twenty-fourth day of June,—you are submitting a workmen's compensation program which is not in satisfactory form for enactment into law at the present time.

Mr. Speaker, there is a lot in connection with this workmen's compensation that I would like to debate and discuss, but the hour is late and I apologize for taking as much time as I have. I will ask permission to insert in the record some of the comparisons which I have here but have not read.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, to extend his remarks on the record? The Chair hears no objection.

EXTENDED REMARKS OF MR. WOODSIDE

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I want to make a few observations of the operations of the West Virginia Law and its Fund. There, if the employer is delinquent for as much as thirty (30) days in the payment of the premium, he and his employees are automatically removed from the protection of the Compensation Law and the Fund is not responsible for payment of injuries that occur after this delinquency. And, if you please, the employer is not responsible. If the employer fails to pay the premium it is his injured workers who suffer. Needless to say, under the Pennsylvania system the payment of the premium to the carrier has never been a precedent to the carrier's liability for the payment of compensation benefits. Under our Law, the employer is subject to penalties of fine and imprisonment for failure to insure or self-insure. While the Ohio benefits are in some respects higher and in other lower than those in Pennsylvania, the West Virginia benefits are distinctly less. I heard it said before the Committee on Workmen's Compensation at the public hearing that the death benefits to a widow and three children in Pennsylvania payable over a period of eight years, would pay the benefits under the West Virginia Law for a period of twelve years; and I shall later prove it. Yet, some people have the gall to hold up these Ohio and West Virginia Laws as models and ask us to sell the Pennsylvania workers 'down the river' by adopting a similar communistic or totalitarian law.

It was stated at the public hearing on this bill that the Pennsylvania Law stands twenty-ninth on the list in liberality when compared with the other States. I say to you that these laws differ so widely in their provisions that there is no adequate basis of comparison. You can place Pennsylvania first or twenty-ninth depending upon the yardstick used; the same is true of any other state statute. At the public hearing, some of the provisions of the Ohio Compensation Law were stressed and I got the impression that this was intended to influence the Committee to use that law as a pattern. That law was held up as being more liberal than our present statute. It is more liberal in some respects and more restricted in other respects and that same statement can be made with reference to West Virginia and any other state compensation law.

Our Law would certainly be near the top in any comparison of the scope of its coverage, for it applies to all employments except domestic, agriculture and casual workers. Many of these compensation laws apply only to hazardous or extra-hazardous occupations, and the Ohio Law applies only when an employer has three or more employees.

Our Law stands second to none in the nature of the accidents covered. Most of these laws apply only to accidents which occur both in the course of employment and arise out of the employment; and this is so in Ohio. Some will say that this is not of great importance, but I tell you it is extremely important to the injured. Our Act, under Section 301 (a), covers all accidents occurring in the course of employment, unless self-inflicted or caused by the employes' violation of the law. The accident need not arise out of the employment. For instance, the employe may leave his workbench temporarily and be injured while visiting his fellow-worker, or be injured while engaging in horseplay or some sportive act. Under such instances he would in Pennsylvania be compensated, while in Ohio there would immediately arise a question whether or not the accident arose out of the employment. That limited definition in Ohio and some forty other state laws encourages controversy and many thousand Appellate Court decisions are reported—all on the question of whether the accident arose out of the employment. The Pennsylvania Act, in this respect, carries a broad definition of the accidents covered in order to eliminate controversy and assure compensation for injuries occurring, "in the course of employment." Therefore, our law covers accidents which are unexplained; those resulting from dog or insect bites; heat stroke; sun stroke, and thousands of others which do not arise out of the employment.

Why, under the Ohio Law, police and firemen are covered only to the extent that municipal pension does not equal the compensation payable (Sections 1465-61). The Pennsylvania Act, under Section 204, specifically provides that the receipt of benefits from any association, society or fund shall not bar the recovery of compensation and any releases executed in consideration of such benefits shall be void.

The Pennsylvania Act has a simple and forthright definition of the term "injury" in Section 301 (c). It is defined to mean, "violence to the physical structure of the body, and such disease or infection as naturally results therefrom." The definition of "injury" in the Ohio Law is comparable to that of the Pennsylvania Law, but examine some of the other state laws which have been classed as more liberal than Pennsylvania and see what limitations they place on the injuries covered. The statutes of the State of Washington, with its Monopolistic State Fund, which is supposed to be near the top in point of liberality, applies only to hazardous employments and defines the term "injury" to mean, "a sudden and tangible happening, of a traumatic nature, producing an immediate or prompt result, and occurring from without, and such physical condition as results therefrom." As our Supreme Court observed in one case, you don't need a battery to suffer a compensable injury in Pennsylvania as you do under some of these so-called liberal compensation statutes.

We have heard a good deal about the method of computing the average weekly wage for compensation purposes. Do you know that in Ohio, compensation for temporary disability is based on the full weekly wage at the time of the injury, but for death and permanent disability claims, the average wage for the year preceding the injury is used (Section 1465-84). Now, under the Pennsylvania Law the employe is given the advantage of a weekly wage based on his greatest earnings in any quarter of the year preceding the date of injury (Section 309).

The maximum weekly disability benefits under the Ohio Law is $18.75; West Virginia, $16.00 and Pennsylvania, $18.00. In this respect, there is not a great deal of difference between the Ohio and Pennsylvania statutes. The benefits for total permanent disability in Ohio continue for life; while in Pennsylvania they continue for 500 weeks, approximately 10 years with a maximum of $7500. However, benefits in Ohio for some other types of injuries are less than in Pennsylvania. For instance, in Ohio the maximum compensation payable for temporary total disability is $3750 (Sections 1465-79), the period over which this compensation is payable is limited to six years. Compensation for such disability in Pennsylvania may continue for any part of the 500 weeks not to exceed $7500.

There are, of course, many more cases of permanent injury to the members of the body than there are injuries resulting in permanent total disability. The Compensation Acts of Ohio and Pennsylvania compare favorably with each other for specific injuries. The Pennsylvania Laws, perhaps, are a little more liberal than the Ohio Act in this respect. I will try to give you a fair appraisal of these two Acts. For injuries resulting in the loss of members, the period specified by Ohio begins to run after the healing period or the temporary disability allowed. With this qualification, here is a comparison of the specific losses:

Loss of a Hand	Pennsylvania	175 weeks
	Ohio	165 "
Loss of an Arm	Pennsylvania	215 "
	Ohio	215 "
Loss of a Foot	Pennsylvania	150 "
	Ohio	150 "
Loss of a Leg	Pennsylvania	215 "
	Ohio	190 "
Loss of Index Finger	Pennsylvania	35 "
	Ohio	35 "
Loss of a Thumb	Pennsylvania	60 "
	Ohio	60 "

Under the Ohio Law, the loss of the distal or third phalange of a finger shall be considered as the loss of one-third of the finger; in Pennsylvania, it is considered the loss of one-half the finger. The loss of the middle and distal phalanges of any finger is considered equivalent to the loss of two-thirds of such finger, under the Ohio Law; while under the Pennsylvania Act, the loss of the distal phalange and any part of the middle phalange is equivalent to the loss of the whole finger (Sections 1465-80 of the Ohio Law and Section 306 (c) of the Pennsylvania Law).

At the public hearing on this bill, it seems that one member of the Committee was under the impression that in Pennsylvania an employe is obliged to have an amputation at the elbow before he could be compensated for the loss of a hand. Our Act provides, under Section 306 (c), that any amputation between the wrist and the elbow shall be compensated for a period of 175 weeks, and it goes further and provides that the permanent loss of use of a member shall be considered as the equivalent to the loss of such member. There is no such comparable provision in the Ohio Law. Under this provision of the Pennsylvania Act, because of amputation of some of the fingers or other serious permanent impairment of the hand, compensation is frequently given for the loss of use of the hand or other injured member when there has, in fact, been no actual amputation.

Under our Law, the question of whether or not an injury to the hand or fingers has resulted in the permanent loss of use of the hand is a matter for determination by the Compensation Board. Compensation has been awarded for the loss of use of the hand where the injury was confined to amputation of thumb, index and middle fingers (Jones v. Heintz Mfg., 104 Superior 30). So, that under our Law there need be no injury to the palm of the hand, the metacarpal bones or wrist for the claimant to secure compensation for a period of 175 weeks for the loss of use of the hand.

Continuing the comparison of our present Law with the Ohio Law a little further, let us consider the benefits provided for fatal injuries. Under Section 1465-82 of the Ohio Law, death must follow within two years from the date of injury unless disability has been continuous from the injury to the time of death; whereas, under the Pennsylvania Law, if death results from the injury at any time within 300 weeks thereafter, death benefits must be paid. The maximum compensation payable in any death case in Ohio is $6500 including the compensation that might have been paid during the period of disability. Under the Ohio Act, this is paid over a period not to exceed 8 years, but this 8 year period does not mean 8 years following the death, for the 8 years must be calculated from the "date of injury." Under the Pennsylvania Law, where there is a surviving widow and no minor children, compensation is payable for a period of 300 weeks and if there are minor children, compensation continues on behalf of the minors until they reach the age of 16 years; the Ohio Law has no comparable provision for the payment of compensation until the minors reach the age of 16. There, all compensation for death ceases 8 years after the date of the accident. The maximum weekly rate for death in Ohio is $18.75; while the maximum in Pennsylvania for a widow and three or more children is $18 per week. The maximum to a widow with no minor children is $11 per week.

Since West Virginia compensates dependent widows for life or until remarriage, and inasmuch as the representative from West Virginia testified before the House Committee, it would be interesting, I think, to make a comparison of the death benefits in Pennsylvania with those of West Virginia. Under Article 4, Section 10-D of the West Virginia Law, the dependent widow receives $30 per month and $5 per month for each child while under the age of 16. Let us take for example the case of a widow and three children ages 8, 9 and 10 years at the time of death. The compensation in West Virginia would be $45 per month, or $10.39 per week. At the end of 6 years, when the oldest child reached the age of 16, these dependents would collect a total of $3,240. Under Section 307-4½ of the Pennsylvania Act, these same dependents would collect during that period of 300 weeks, $18 per week or $5,400; that is $2,360 more than was paid in West Virginia. After an elapse of 8 years, at which time the youngest child would be 16, the total compensation paid in Pennsylvania would amount to $6,016.21; while in West Virginia it would be $4,095.00. This excess of $1,921 paid in Pennsylvania would continue to pay the widow's death benefits in West Virginia at the rate of $30 per month for an additional 64 months, or 5 years and 4 months. In Pennsylvania, payments on this case over a period of 8 years would take care of the full West Virginia liability for a period of 13 years and 4 months. I wonder if the payments to the average widow in West Virginia exceeds 13 years. I am informed that throughout the years of the West Virginia Law, payments have terminated to some 3500 widows on account of death or remarriage and that the average duration of the payments was 9 years.

Continuing the comparison of death benefits of Pennsylvania with those of West Virginia; under Article 4, Section 10 of the West Virginia Law, where there is no surviving widow but a dependent child, this child would get $10 per month until 16 years of age. If the child were aged 10 at the time of death, the compensation payable until 16 would be 72 months at $10 per month, or $720. In Pennsylvania, under Section 307-1 (a), this minor child would be paid $6 per week or $312 per year, a total of $1872—about 2½ times as much as the West Virginia benefits.

Now, look at the situation of dependent parents under the West Virginia Law. Where there is neither widow nor child, a wholly dependent parent may receive 50 per cent of the average monthly support actually received from the deceased employe during the preceding 12 months not to exceed $20 per month (Article 4, Section 10). If wholly dependent, this is paid for 6 years, and if partially dependent, for such portion of 6 years as the Commission shall determine. You will observe that the dependent does not receive a percentage of the employe's wage, but only a percentage of the actual support received. Awards under this provision cannot be other than niggardly. Under the most favorable circumstances, a wholly dependent parent could not collect more than $1440, compared to the maximum $3,000 for a similar case in Pennsylvania. A partially dependent parent in Pennsylvania receives 25 per cent of the wage not to exceed $5 per week or $1500; while in West Virginia, the compensation is 50 per cent of the actual support received. The Commission has authority to award this compensation for any part of 6 years that the facts seem to warrant not to exceed, however, $1440 (Article 4, Section 10-f). For example, assume that the parent received from the deceased $20 per month during the year preceding the accident, the Commission could award 50 per cent of this, or $10 per month and if they awarded it for the full 6 years, it would amount to only $720. The minimum for such a case in Pennsylvania is $1500.

In the charts which were exhibited at the hearing, Pennsylvania was listed twenty-ninth, we find the West Virginia Law is supposed to be tenth in the liberality of this legislation. Ohio seems to be fourteenth. Ohio, according to Mr. Evans of the Ohio Fund, who testified before the Committee, requires a premium rate of $8.50 per hundred dollars of payroll for electric mining and $11 for non-electric mining to pay the compensation benefits for coal mining accidents. I think he said about 98 per cent of this premium was used for the payment of losses. Pennsylvania requires $7.50 in bituminous mining and $13.50 for anthracite mining, and the experience over the last ten years indicates that substantially all of this premium was used for payment of actual benefits excluding overhead. Now, West Virginia requires only $3.50 per hundred dollars of payroll to pay their mine accident cases. When you examine the West Virginia Law, it is quite apparent why the premium rate is low. Of course, their maximum weekly rate if but $16 compared to $18 in Pennsylvania and $18.75 in Ohio, but that tells only a small part of the story.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin has covered so much territory relative to workmen's compensation that I was not at all surprised in his closing remarks that he reached as far as Communist Russia. I want to say to the gentleman on the other side it almost becomes a tribute to the Democratic party, in the majority in the House of Representatives, if we can say conscientiously to the people of Pennsylvania that we labored for five months on a workmen's compensation plan. Further, Mr. Speaker, I want to warn the members of the House not to be misled by the contradictory remarks of the minority floor-leader or by the quotations from the Honorable Justice of the Supreme Court in 1937 or 1938.

Why did he not, gentlemen of the House, stick to his question which he put originally when he opened his remarks? The gentleman said we are not concerned with a workmen's compensation law because we have such a law enacted in 1915, and he further adds that it naturally follows that the only question that is left before the Legislature is what is the best workmen's compensation law for the working men of Pennsylvania.

I believe that the minority leader should have followed that question and answered it. Certainly he didn't mean to infer to the membership of this House that the 1939 Act was the best Workmen's Compensation Act for the working men of Pennsylvania. And when he infers that thousands upon thousands of working people are satisfied under the 1939 Act, that statement is not true. Thousands upon thousands of the working people in Pennsylvania detest the Act of 1939. Many of the men in the House of Representatives and in the entire General Assembly know that that was written by the former chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Committee in this House who at the same time was counsel for self-insurers in Pennsylvania.

I ask you then, Mr. Speaker, with this knowledge in mind, how can the minority floor-leader say that the 1939 Act was the answer for the working people of Pennsylvania? On the contrary, in 1937, we of the Democratic party wrote into law a liberal workmen's compensation bill, and I, as a member of this House, and a member in the session today, am not ashamed to say that I voted for the act then and I am willing to vote for House Bill 1002 now, and contrary to what the minority floor-leader said, the Supreme Court never decided on the reasonableness of rates, and today in Pennsylvania the workingman in the Commonwealth does not yet know what rates are reasonable and what rates are not.

In that case before the Supreme Court, they struck certain sections out of the bill which they declared to be unconstitutional, but if the gentleman from Dauphin will recall, and I know he will, the Supreme Court then sent the entire bill back to the lower court in Dauphin County to be reviewed on the question of fact as to whether or not those rates were reasonable.

But, Mr. Speaker, what happened? Just as soon as the bill went back to the lower court—and the bill lay there dormant for many months—the Republican controlled legislature in 1939 passed the 1939 amendments to the 1937 bill materially reducing the benefits in Pennsylvania, and naturally reducing the rates, and as a consequence the bill from the Supreme Court still nestles in the arms of the lower court.

I say to the minority floor-leader that neither he nor anyone else in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can determine whether those rates today are reasonable or unreasonable because the court has not acted upon it. It naturally follows, Mr. Speaker, what then is the difference in opinion between the Republican party and the Democratic party on workmen's compensation? The minority floor-leader challenged the Democratic party. In effect he said "You are not acting in the best interest of the laboring men of Pennsylvania by the introduction of bills of this kind." I say to him and I say to the Republican membership of this House that if the introduction and passage of House Bill 1002 is not giving the workman back what he legitimately deserves then I don't know how to write a piece of legislation. The minority floor-leader says the rates were too high, that industry could not cope with the new liberal law. We have debated that subject in our party and we have finally determined that the way to remedy that situation, if such a situation is true, is the bill on second reading in the House today, which I hope will finally be passed this week, a bill which will give to the workmen's compensation law a reduction in rates through a normal and legitimate procedure, and I refer to Senate Bill 236 introduced by the honorable gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, in the Senate and which was reported out on this floor and is today in position for second reading as amended.

Now, what can be the answer of the minority floor-leader, when you not only have given to the working people of Pennsylvania a revised and increased benefit in the form of House Bill 1002, and we say in the same breath that this bill is workable, this bill is practical, because we give you along with it Senate Bill 236 which will drive rates under an increased benefit act down to where industry can afford to pay.

I would then ask the gentleman from Dauphin whether he has caucused with his party, and whether they intend to vote for a plan by which rates will be reduced. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that in these two bills at least we have a plan and a policy which we can forward to the working people of Pennsylvania as a forthright and legitimate plan to get better compensation for the working people.

I also want to say to the members of the House that House Bill 1002, notwithstanding the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin, is a good piece of legislation, and I cannot agree with him when he says it is just a difference in figures. The 1939 act and the act which we intend to pass in this House today is not a difference in figures; it is a difference between looking at this problem in a business-like manner, a cold hard one of looking at figures, and a social problem in which direction this bill should be looked at. I say to the gentleman from Dauphin he certainly would not call unemployment compensation and social security matters for insurance companies to make thousands and thousands of dollars out of in the ensuing years. I say in the same breath that workmen's compensation as created in 1935 in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was created as a social problem, as a social betterment for the hard working laboring man who uses his hands every day of the week and is in jeopardy of loss of life and limb.

So I say to the men on the other side of the House it is time you woke up to the fact that this Workmen's Compensation bill is a social bill; it is an economic bill; it is a bill that requires a little of human heart rather than cold figures. I ask every member of the House to vote for House Bill 1002.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, are we not now proceeding under the motion to make House Bill 1639, House Bill 1002, and House Bill 990 a special order of business in their separate order?

The SPEAKER. That motion has been agreed to.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, is not then the only question before the House whether or not we should pass finally on House Bill 1639, Printer's No. 1055?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, there has been an understanding between the floor leaders that we would debate the three bills at one time.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the reason I raised the question was because the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, made an urgent request for us to vote for House Bill 1002. We are actually voting on House Bill 1639.

I would like to raise a question on House Bill 1639 and I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the same privilege as the gentlemen who proceeded him and as extended to the other gentlemen.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the gentleman whether or not this bill, House Bill 1639, affects self insurers in any way.

Mr. HERMAN. No different than the old act, Mr. Speaker. It just makes compensation insurance compulsory.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, then in the gentleman's opinion any self insurer would still be permitted to operate?

Mr. HERMAN. If they come under the compensation law, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to be very brief—I have only four or five pages here. I desire to talk about workmen's compensation in relation to the bill before the House.

In every corner of the globe today war is being waged for the preservation of democracy. Across the seas blood is being spilt to protect the institution of democracy from the horrors of totalitarianism.

We who have lived in a democratic nation appreciate the value of democracy in the attainment of a fuller life. The power of a democracy springs from the protection it affords the humblest citizen from the injustice of a political or an industrial system. In protecting the lowly toiler from the abuses of an unjust industrial system, the people of Pennsylvania and the United States during the past decade have made wondrous strides but we still have far to go.

It is my studied opinion that one of the most effective ways of demonstrating the value of democracy is the progress that has been made in the country in the development of workmen's compensation. I contend that we can strengthen the average American's love for and his interest in democracy by strengthening and advancing the principle of workmen's compensation.

Now is the time for the industrial giants of the country, while they are rallying to the program to defend democracy, to also join the never-ending drive to expand democracy.

No industrialist fails to set aside a part of his profit against wear and tear and accidents that decrease the efficiency or necessitate the replacement of his machinery.

But what howls arise when some industrialists are asked to set aside a sum to pay decent compensation for the accidents that happen to their workers?

The reason for the distinction is rather brutal:

Machines cost more than men.

An injured workman can be replaced by another workman at the same wages. The industrialist loses nothing, but society loses the services of a worker—perhaps permanently—through an injury sustained while in the employ of a certain employer.

Someone must take care of that injured worker.

Such cases should not be a charge upon the public at large any more than a broken machine in a factory should be replaced out of tax funds or private charity.

The cost of industrial accidents to human beings belongs in the same place as industrial accidents to machines—on the shoulders of the employers in whose services those accidents occur.

Some employers fought ANY State laws for workmen's compensation. The same type today fights legislation to make them pay something approaching the whole cost of such accidents.

The workmen's compensation law of Pennsylvania was finally passed 27 years ago, after many squabbles over whether to have any such statute. This law was only "luke warm" as to the rights and protection of the working men. It was so out of date that this great industrial State ranked thirty-fifth in a list of how well States provide for the care of injured workmen. Pennsylvania was even behind the Philippine Islands.

There was simply no excuse for that—although there is an explanation.

As long as the Pennsylvania Legislature was dominated by servants of the reactionary type of employer, there was little hope of bringing the workmen's compensation law up to date.

However, in 1937 the democratic party liberal in its policy and with the purpose of giving a square deal to the workingmen past the law which placed this Commonwealth third in compensation and protection to the worker, only to have the Republican majority in the legislature in 1939 wreck the act to such extent that Pennsylvania's rank among the states of this nation as to how well they take care of injured workers was 29th.

It is not merely House Bill No. 1002 that is before you. There are four bills, Senate Bill 236, which is House Bill 1481, House Bill 990, House Bill 1002 and House Bill 1639. These are the bills that affect Workmen's Compensation.

One of those bills is on second reading and the others on third reading. These bills will restore Pennsylvania to its proper place in the ranks of the forty-eight states, and I honestly request your support for these bills, regardless of whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, in order that labor will get a square deal in Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken. Messrs. Levy, O'Mullen and Lovett asked for a verification of the roll. The roll was verified and was as follows:

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Mifflin will state his point of information.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Speaker, we listened to a speech that consumed thirty or thirty-five minutes a few minutes ago from a certain gentleman on the floor and he voted "aye" on this bill but I now point to the fact that he changed his vote and voted "no."

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman will come to the desk the Chair will explain to him why he changed his vote.

[(b) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the month the average weekly wage shall be the monthly wage so fixed multiplied by twelve and divided by fifty-two]

[(c) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the year the average weekly wage shall be the yearly wage so fixed divided by fifty-two]

[(d) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the day hour or by the output of the employee the average weekly wage shall be the wage most favorable to the employee computed by dividing by [thirteen] the total wages of said employee earned in the employe of the employer in the first second third or fourth period of thirteen consecutive calendar weeks in the fifty-two weeks immediately preceding the accident or in case the employee receives wages monthly or semi-monthly by dividing by thirteen the total wages of said employee earned in the employ of the employer in the first second third or fourth period of three consecutive calendar months in the year immediately preceding the accident]

[If the employee has been in the employ of employer less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if the employee receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident his average weekly wage shall be computed under the foregoing paragraph taking "total wages" for such purpose to be the amount he would have earned had he been so employed by employer the full thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months) immediately preceding the accident and had worked when work was available to other employes in a similar occupation unless it be conclusively shown that by reason of exceptional causes such methods of computation does not ascertain fairly the "total wages" of employee so employed less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months)]

[(e) In occupations which are exclusively seasonal and therefore cannot be carried on throughout the year the average weekly wage shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of [the total wages which the employee has earned from all occupations during the twelve calendar months immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employee in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings]

[The terms "average weekly wage" and "total wages" as used in this section shall include board and lodging received from the employer and when so received the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day but such terms shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall such terms include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employee nor shall such terms include deductions from wages due the employer for rent and supplies necessary for the employee's use in the performance of his labor]

[Where the employee is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers and the defendant employer has knowledge of such employment prior to the accident his wages from all such employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation] the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident except that if the injured employee was at the time of the injury a minor and his disability shall continue after he shall have reached the age of twenty-one years his average weekly wage for the purpose of determining the compensation payable under this act shall be determined on the basis of the earnings that such minor if not disabled probably would earn at the age of twenty-one (21) years In determining such probable earnings due consideration shall be given to the employee's aptitude education and experience fitting him for any employment not only in the trade or business in which he was engaged at the time of the injury but in any other trade or business In determining such probable earnings the referee and the board shall have the right to receive into evidence as competent testimony the earnings of other employes of similar aptitude education and experience engaged in a similar trade or business and findings based upon such testimony shall be final The term "wages" shall include board and lodging received from the employer Whenever the employee receives board and lodging as a part of his wages the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages In seasonable occupations the employee's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employee in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employee his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Provided however That if the employee regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade Where the employee is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

In cases where the employee has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employee has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employee

Section 415 At any time before an award or disallowance of compensation or order has been made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned the board may order such petition heard before it or one or more of its members or any reassign it to any other referee. Unless the board shall otherwise order the testimony taken before the original referee shall be considered as though taken before the board or substituted referee.

Section 416 Within ten days after a copy of any petition has been served upon any adverse party he may file with the secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or with the referee if the petition has been assigned to a referee an answer in the form prescribed by the board.

Every fact alleged in a petition not specifically denied by an answer so filed by an adverse party shall be deemed to be admitted by him. But the failure of any adverse party or of all of them to deny a fact so alleged shall not preclude the board or referee before whom the petition is heard from requiring of its or his own motion proof of such fact.

Section 417 As soon as may be after the twelfth day after notice that a petition has been directed to be heard by the board has been served upon the adverse parties thereof the board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition. If a petition be assigned to a referee he shall twelve days after notice that such petition has been assigned to him has been served upon the adverse parties fix a time and a place for hearing the petition. Such hearing shall not be less than [seven] five nor more than fourteen days after the mailing of notice thereof by the referee. The secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom the petition has been assigned shall serve upon all parties in interest a notice of the time and place of hearing and shall serve upon the petitioner a copy of any answer of any adverse party.

Section 418 The board if a petition is directed to be heard by it or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom a petition is assigned for hearing may subpoena witnesses order the production of books and other writings and hear evidence and shall make in writing and as soon as may be after the conclusion of the hearings such findings of fact conclusions of law and award or disallowance of compensation or other order as the petition and answers and the evidence produced before it or him and the provisions of this act shall in its or his judgment require. The findings of fact made by the board in any petition heard by it or by one or more of its members or upon a hearing de novo shall be final except as hereinafter provided and the findings of fact made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned or any question of fact has been referred under the provisions of section four hundred and nineteen shall be final unless an appeal is taken as provided in this act or unless the board shall under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-five of this article grant a hearing de novo or a rehearing.

Section 419 The board may refer any question of fact arising under any petition including a petition for commutation heard by it to a referee to hear evidence and report to the board the testimony taken before him or such testimony and findings of fact thereon as the board may order. The board may refer any question of fact arising out of any petition assigned to a referee to any other referee to hear evidence and report the testimony so taken thereon to the original referee.

Section 420 The board or a referee if it or he deem it necessary may of its or his own motion either before during or after any hearing make an investigation of the facts set forth in the petition or answer. The board or referee with the consent of the board [may] shall whenever it shall be deemed in the interest of justice to do so appoint one or more impartial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the plaintiff and report thereon or he may employ the services of such other experts as shall appear necessary to ascertain the facts. The report of any physician surgeon or expert appointed by the board or by a referee shall be filed with the board or referee as the case may be and shall be a part of the record and open to inspection as such. The board shall fix the compensation of such physicians surgeons and experts which when so fixed shall be paid [out of the sum appropriated to the Department of Labor and Industry for the maintenance of the department and shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings to be repaid to such department by either party or both as the board may direct. If any sum so taxed shall not be paid by the party directed to repay the same may be collected as costs are now collectible] by the employer to the physician surgeon or expert. If any employer shall fail to pay such cost promptly the physician surgeon or expert may proceed to collect the same in the manner provided in this act for the collection of awards of compensation.

The claimant shall be permitted to engage the services of medical surgical or other experts of his own choosing to examine his injuries and to testify with regard thereto before the referee. The compensation of such experts totaling up to one hundred dollars ($100) shall be paid by the employer upon petition to the referee filed by the claimant when in the opinion of such referee it shall appear to be reasonably necessary that such services are required by the claimant for the proper presentation of his claim.

Section 421 All hearings before the board or one or more members thereof or before a referee shall be public.

Section 422 Neither the board nor any of its members nor any referee shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting any hearing or investigation but all findings of fact shall be based only upon [sufficient] competent evidence [to justify same].

If any party or witness resides outside of the Commonwealth or through illness or other cause is unable to testify before the board or a referee his or her testimony or deposition may be taken within or without this Commonwealth in such manner and in such form as the board may by special order or general rule prescribe. The records kept by a hospital of the medical or surgical treatment given to an employee in such hospital shall be admissible as evidence of the medical and surgical matters stated therein but shall not be conclusive proof of such matters.

Section 423 Any party in interest may within twenty days after notice of a referee's award or disallowance of compensation shall have been served upon him take an appeal to the board on the ground (1) that the award or disallowance of compensation is not in conformity with the terms of this act or that the referee committed any other error of law (2) that the findings of fact and award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted.

by [sufficient competent] the evidence or was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of any party in interest. The board may upon cause shown extend the time provided in this article for taking such appeal or for the filing of an answer or other pleading.

In any such appeal the board may disregard the findings of fact of the referee and may examine the testimony taken before such referee and if it deem proper may hear other evidence and may substitute for the findings of the referee such findings of fact as the evidence taken before the referee and the board as hereinbefore provided may in the judgment of the board require and may make such disallowance or award of compensation or other order as the facts so founded by it may require.

Section 424 Whenever an appeal shall be based upon an alleged error of law it shall be the duty of the board to grant a hearing thereon. The board shall fix a time and place for such hearing and shall serve notice thereof on all parties in interest.

As soon as may be after such hearing the board shall either sustain or reverse the referee's award or disallowance of compensation or make such modification thereof as it shall deem proper.

Section 425 Whenever an appeal shall be taken on the ground that the referee's award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or because of fraud coercion or other improper conduct by any party in interest the board may in its discretion grant a hearing de novo before the board or one or more of its members or assign the petition for rehearing to any referee designated by it or sustain the referee's award or disallowance of compensation. If the board shall grant a hearing de novo it shall fix a time and place for same and shall notify all parties in interest.

As soon as may be after any hearing de novo by the board it shall in writing state its findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Section 426 The board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth to which an appeal has been taken under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the board or referee has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or upon which the board has sustained or reversed any action of a referee. The time for taking appeals shall be suspended pending the determination of the first petition for rehearing in those cases in which such petition is filed within twenty days from notice of decision of the Workmen's Compensation Board but such rehearing shall not be granted more than [one year] two years after the board has made such award disallowance or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of the referee. If the board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from [the board's] its action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article the board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the board. Provided however That nothing contained in this section shall limit or restrict the right of the board or a referee designated by the board to review modify set aside reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred thirteen of this article.

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the board on matters of the law to the court of common pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the court of common pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth. Such appeal must be brought within twenty days after notice of the action of the board has been served upon such party unless any court of common pleas to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal. The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file either with his notice of appeal or within thirty days thereafter such exceptions to the action of the board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the board or of the referee sustained by the board which he alleges to be unsupported by competent evidence.

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the court of common pleas to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken. The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary to the department at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions. The board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony.

Any court before whom an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal.

If the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments. If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the board may order that any part of the testimony taken in the original proceedings [shall] may be considered as though taken in such further hearing.

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date thereof by registered mail to each attorney-at-law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney-at-law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel. At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided. If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the appellate court.

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved. Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas. Any appeal from the action of the board to a court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions. The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed by the Supreme Court as in the case of other judgments of [that tribunal] the Superior Court.

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a com-

compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee the department the employee or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employee or his dependents when then due and accrued or payable in future installments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award. Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith.

Wherever after an accident any employee or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with his employer or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county. The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer. If the agreement be approved by the department or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary. Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition.

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment.

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed. In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate.

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the department or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which the judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreement award or order.

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved by the department or such award made as evidenced by the approval of the board of the award or by a certified copy thereof.

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid.

Section 429 If any party against whom a compensation agreement award or other order fixing the compensation payable under this act has been filed of record in any county of this Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-eight of this article or against whom judgment has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas or any county on any award or order of the board or a referee shall at any time present to the board receipts or copies thereof certified by any referee showing the payment of compensation as required by the agreement or award in full to the date of presentation to the referee the board shall issue a certificate to such party in the form prescribed stating the extent to which the judgment on the agreement or award has been reduced. Upon the presentation of such certificate to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such agreement or award has been filed of record as a judgment or in which judgment on an award has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas it shall be the prothonotary's duty to mark such judgment satisfied to the extent of the payment so certified and upon the presentation to such prothonotary of a certificate issued by the board under the provisions of section three hundred and seventeen of this act it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to mark such judgment fully satisfied.

Section 430 The lien of any judgment entered upon any award shall not be divested by any appeal. If however the party appealing from the award shall file with the board a bond in such amount and in such form as the rules and regulations of the board shall direct the appeal shall pending its decision excuse the payment of so much of the compensation as is contested therein but if the final decision on appeal shall sustain the award it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such award is payable to make payments of compensation as from the date of the original award. If on appeal the award is sustained as to a part it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such part is payable to make payments as from the date of the original award. In case the award is annulled on appeal it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of any county in which such award has been entered as a judgment to mark it satisfied.

Section 431 The cost of the prothonotary for entering the amount of compensation as provided in this act or making a modification of the record or marking the judgment satisfied shall be allowed taxed and collected as upon a confession of judgment on a judgment note.

Section 432 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each court of common pleas and of the Supreme and Superior Court of the Commonwealth to make a monthly report to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to such court under the provisions of this article.

Section 433 A document on file in the department or with the board or any referee or part of the record of any proceedings taken under Article III and IV of this act shall be proved by a copy thereof certified by the department under the seal of the department or certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the secretary of the board under seal of the board as the case may be.

Section 434 A final receipt given by an employee or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award. Provided however That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time within [two years from the date to which payment is made as evidenced by such final receipt] six hundred weeks from the date of the injury set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be [conclusively] proved that [such receipt was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact] at the time of the execution of the receipt the injured employee was not in fact able to return to work without loss of earning power or that the employee had a condition which resulted from the accident which condition existed at the time the compensation agreement was executed and which was not covered by such agreement or that the employee had an existing disability at the time the final receipt was taken

Payments shall be made by the employer or insurance carrier on every agreement or award other than for a definite period until a final receipt has been filed with and approved by the department or until a petition to terminate or modify has been filed under section four hundred and thirteen

Section 435 Any hospital institution physician surgeon or other person who has furnished surgical medical dental or nursing services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines or supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing with consent of the claimant before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicine and supplies and have the same heard and determined and shall be entitled to receive an award for such remunerations Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation

Section 436 The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employee or his dependents or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment expert's fees if any rendered in any such proceeding payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act

Section 437 Any claimant may appear in person or be represented by a counsel learned in the law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, just a word. Confusion confounded among the gentlemen on their program on the other side on this bill, not because the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy changed his vote, because maybe I had a sneaking suspicion about why he did that, but here we started out with a workmen's compensation act in order to give some foundation for its passage and to overcome the arguments that lead to the same confusion and the same things that occurred and happened in 1937. We started out with a Communistic program, and then we turned around and abandoned that,—and I think wisely. Then we started out with a compulsory program, and we defeated that,—you haven't abandoned it—some of you must have some idea that there must be some other excuse, there must be some other reason or some other bill on second reading.

The answer was given two months ago on the floor of the Senate. There is only one other thing that I am going to point out, and that is if you are going to get number 1639 back again,—and there is some indication of intent on the part of some of the people on the other side to do that, we now have the situation in which you would re-enact the 1937 act and amend it as to compensation, and we just voted down an act which would repeal those articles and would repeal a large part of this provision of articles three which we are now voting on to reenact.

In other words, these bills, either separately or jointly are not in position to carry out any sort of program and should not even be voted on today.

I realize, Mr. Speaker, that the gentlemen on the other side cannot justify this to the workingmen of Pennsylvania by passing House Bill 1002 unless they have some answer to what might happen again, and so they floundered around. They have three different offerings on three different days, one yesterday, one today and still another tomorrow, and I submit, Mr. Speaker, that none of them is sound.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HARE filed the following reasons for his vote:

I voted against this bill for the reason that it increases the maximum rates to the point where many of the coal operators would have to reject the measure and thus leave thousands of the miners in Somerset County and the Commonwealth without protection. We would have a repetition of the chaos of 1937 were this bill to become a law.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 448, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (e) of section seven and to amend the first paragraph of section nine of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" by redefining eligibility for assistance providing for appeals from certain decisions of the Department of Public Assistance to common pleas courts and imposing powers and duties on common pleas court

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 to 6, by striking out the following: "whose philosophy doctrine or" in line 1, and all of lines 2 to 6, both inclusive.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out the words "or the overthrow thereof" and inserting in lieu thereof: "who hereafter advocates and actively participates by an overt act or acts in a movement proposing a change in the form of Government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States."

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 8, by inserting after the word "causes" the following: "Provided, That all employees, not having the right to be heard, under any civil service or tenure law, on the question of his dismissal, shall have the right to appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of the county where he resides, which court, after hearing, on such notice to the petitioner and to the persons in charge of the agency by which he is employed, as the court shall designate, shall have power to affirm or reverse the action of such agency, as it shall deem proper. The decision of the court of common pleas shall be final. Said appeal as aforesaid shall operate as a supersedeas of any order. At such hearing, the burden of proof shall be on the Commonwealth or any political subdivision or authority or institution thereof as aforesaid."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me these amendments and the amendments that I understand will be submitted to the bills to be called up next, provide particularly as follows:

"Those who advocate and actively participate in a movement proposing a change in the form of government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States—",—it seems to me that those amendments merely say, "You cannot commit treason." You can not commit treason now. If you are going to do an overt act or acts in a movement proposing a change in the form of the government in a manner not provided in the Constitution, it seems to me you are committing an act of treason, and if your bill doesn't mean anything more than that, I don't think it's worth the paper it is written on.

Mr. BROWN. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Dauphin is somewhat excited. I think this language is perfectly clear. May I read it, Mr. Speaker, so that I may try to give the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, the interpretation that I think the court may give to it. I quote:

"Those persons who hereafter advocate and actively participate by an overt act or acts, in a movement proposing a change in the form of the government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States."

I think, first of all, the court would have to find that the movement proposed a change in the form of government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States. If the court should find that to be a fact, the court then would move to find out whether or not the person advocated and actively participated by an overt act or acts. It doesn't necessarily mean treason. It may mean treason, but under the interpretation here I think the court could very well find that a person who lent aid and assistance by financial help or participated by an overt act in any manner, shape or form in this movement could be found under this act not to be entitled to employment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I do not think the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, has given the amendment careful consideration. I would be glad to answer any interrogation, but I think it is broad, it is sweeping, and I think most assuredly it will meet all of the requirements that we have in mind concerning this type of legislation.

I should like to say that this is dangerous legislation to begin with, and of course, the original bill had something to do with trying to find out a man's philosophy, which was in my opinion absurd,—we never could find that out. We have come down to this act now and say certain "overt act or acts" of certain people,—and we judge people by their acts instead of their thoughts. If the gentleman from Dauphin has better words for it or better English, I certainly, as one of the originators of this amendment would be very, very happy to receive it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have great respect for the gentleman's ability, and I will admit that I only received this amendment two or three minutes ago, and therefore, have not had time to give it as serious consideration as I would like to have given it.

However, it seems to me that what the gentleman says about the language being broad is correct in a sense. I think, however, the language is of such a nature that the courts might very well properly interpret, and would properly interpret it to include only those cases in which the person was actively engaged by overt act in a movement to overthrow the government, and I call your particular attention to the fact that there is an "and" instead of an "or" in this provision: "Who hereafter advocates and actively participates—." One who advocates or actively participates could not be held responsible but one who advocates must also actively participate,—they must not only actively participate but they must actively participate by an overt act or acts in a movement causing a change in the form of government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States. I myself cannot see how that language could cover any situation which would amount to less than treason.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if a person participates in a movement, he participates by acts, does he not?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is one of the things that I was especially wondering about, why there was written into this bill, the term "overt act". It seems to me that the bill without the term "overt act" in it would be sufficient, and it seems to me the court in interpreting that language might try to find some reason for the use of the expression "overt act", that they might read into that that the man had to take a certain active part in the movement other than mere participation in it. I would like the gentleman to explain to me the reason for it. Maybe he has a reason why he used the expression "overt act", why it wouldn't mean exactly the same thing if those words were crossed out; and if it would, why have they been placed there. It seems to me it might lead to certain interpretations that might cause confusion in the mind of the court in arriving at a conclusion, and it is more likely to be confusing with those words in than it would be with those words out.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I won't press the gentleman for an answer to the inquiry I proposed to him.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, maybe I jumped the gun on him by firing a question back on the gentleman. I think perhaps what the gentleman had in mind is possibly true.

Mr. BROWN. If that is true, then the person who participates in a movement must do it by some act. He cannot do it by some long range synthetic proposition. He must do it by an act and he must do it by an overt act. He may sit in his house and think; that is not an overt act. I think the gentleman is sufficiently versed in the language of the law to know what an overt act is as distinguished from a passive act. I think the word overt is clear; it has a very technical meaning. It means any outward act that can be noticed. We are accusing people here of certain tendencies, we are seeking to find out whether they are guilty. To prove certain things you must have some kind of act in order to have proof. That is the only reason for putting it in, Mr. Speaker. If the gentleman sees any objection to that then I don't see how you are going to condemn a person excepting by some act which we can see and which we can notice. That is an overt act, which the gentleman well knows.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has argued my case to some extent, but at least this is the point which bothers me on this provision, I cannot see why the provision was put in "overt act". I think the court may well ask "Why do they put in 'by an overt act'?" Now, if you say "Actively participating in a movement" the gentleman has argued that you cannot actively participate in a movement except by an overt act; is that not true?

Mr. BROWN. That is not true, Mr. Speaker. I said you could actively participate by sitting home thinking about something. That is exactly what I said. I can participate in the war by staying home and trying to calculate and figure out the next step. I participate as far as my own conscience is concerned, but I do not become actively engaged until I get into the army. That is just the trouble, Mr. Woodside.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot agree with the gentleman on that proposition, because we have many examples in the law whereby a man must commit an overt act before he can be guilty of any crime or any violation, but we do not use the expression, "by an overt act" in the law. That is a common law appellation, but in this case I cannot see how a man can participate in a movement by just sitting and thinking about it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, has not the gentleman from Dauphin in many cases participated in certain movements in which he committed no particular acts on his part?

Mr. WOODSIDE. If I did, Mr. Speaker, participate in any movement without any act, then it would seem to me that a person who participated in these movements would not be guilty of this crime. If the gentleman from Allegheny means that I thought about things,—why I have on occasions, and I have thought about things that I have not expressed. In fact I wouldn't dare express everything I think on the floor of this House.

Mr. BROWN. But the gentleman does a lot of participating, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. By overt acts, Mr. Speaker, I do not consider that I am participating, when I am merely thinking about debate, for instance. If I sit down here and think about this debate, I don't think anybody could go out and say I participated in it by just thinking about it.

The SPEAKER. You have something there, Mr. Woodside.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, may I have a copy of the amendment? I have a question which I wish to ask the gentleman from Allegheny on the second amendment.

Mr. Speaker I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I refer to the amendment on page two, line 8, by inserting after the word, "causes" the following: "Provided that all employes not having the right to be heard under any civil service or tenure law on the question of dismissal shall have the right to appeal —" and so forth. I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether this takes in all employes not having the right to be heard under the civil service act under which their positions are created.

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Brown, if to his knowledge for example in the Department of Public Assistance, I understand that in the act creating the personnel of the Department of Public Assistance there is no appeal to the courts upon dismissal. In that particular case, Mr. Speaker, you have a civil service set-up where it is not stipulated in the law as to appeal, would that then take in this amendment, Mr. Speaker? Would these amendments take care of that situation.

Mr. BROWN. They would not. We do not attempt to disturb or take care of the manner of appeals of those who hold office by civil service or tenure. This provision only applies to appeals that may be taken by non-civil service employes.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, whether it is his intention by these amendments to protect the non-civil service employe in regard to the right of appeal and also the civil service employe where the civil service law creating the position does not make mention of the right to appeal from a board of the department?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would say no. The right of appeal under civil service and under tenure varies in many of the acts of the Commonwealth. It was not our intention to disturb the right of appeal as now given in any civil service act or tenure act. Therefore this provision, as you see in the beginning provides that "all employes not having the right to be heard on civil service or tenure regarding the question of dismissal ---" You will see that this provision is only as to persons who have a non-civil service status.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHEPPARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHEPPARD. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not this law in any way affects the rights of a person who is and has been denied employment because of subversive activity? That is, he does not have a job, he is applying for a job and he is refused employment because it is charged that he has participated in some manner or thought about Communism in some manner.

Mr. BROWN. I might say, Mr. Speaker, that we are dealing, as I understand it, with House Bill No. 448, Printer's No. 1033. I think the gentleman is confused, and if that is correct, it has nothing to do with these amendments. I think the gentleman is confusing this with House Bill 413, Printer's No. 1034.

Mr. SHEPPARD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that the bill applies to persons in civil service; does that include all of the persons in civil service in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, whether it is Public Assistance or Unemployment Compensation or any other law?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, might I say that I think we are somewhat confused here. I think I presented the amendment to House Bill 413 inadvertently. The amendment should be to House Bill No. 448. I have quite a number of amendments here on my desk. I think I have submitted the wrong amendment, and I would like to have those amendments returned. Mr. Speaker, I should like to withdraw the amendments that I submitted to House Bill 413 and offer instead the following amendment to House Bill 448.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 7), page 4, line 2, by striking out the words "and the" and inserting in lieu thereof: "at such hearing, the burden of proof shall be on the department. The"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BROWN. May I say, Mr. Speaker, that insofar as the language is concerned, the language in House Bill 413 and House Bill 448 is identical, with the exception of the question of the rights of employes under civil service and tenure law, so that we do not lose any time there. That is, the same argument that the gentleman from Dauphin Mr. Woodside engaged in, would apply also to House Bill 413.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I notice now that the amendment to the section which we have been debating is only by adding the words, "by an overt act or acts."

The SPEAKER. That is in section two.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Maybe I am a little ahead of time again, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I want the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, to tell me what case would be covered by participation that would not be covered if the clause, "by an overt act or acts" is added.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, there could be many, many instances that could be brought up covering the point on which the gentleman is speaking. A person could be standing in a crowd, a person could be watching a parade, a person might be in a hall participating in a movement. So far as the act of participation is concerned, he is present, he is there, but I do not believe we intend to make the act so broad that that would be the basis of ineligibility for relief.

I think the meaning here is that that person must not only be a participant, but he must be a participant doing an overt act of his own volition. So I think it must be perfectly clear in the participation that it is the person who is actively participating by his acts, that the acts are connected with the movement. Participation may follow. The participation may be only the physical presence at the hall or place of assemblage.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, then do I understand the gentleman that if a person attends a Communistic meeting, for example, in which there are some speeches about overthrowing the government, in which there is a regular organization of Communists present, that he would then of course not be guilty of any crime unless he happened to make one of the speeches or got up and made some comment on it, is that correct?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I wouldn't say that. If he were a member and had nothing to say, he would be committing an overt act by membership. Suppose he gave financial aid; he would thereby be participating by so doing, but if he participated by just appearing there, I would say that no one could find a man guilty for just being present, because otherwise all of us would be penalized beyond our power to pay. I have been present myself in different movements, but I did not actively participate by any overt acts in the movement going on.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will admit that we can speak at times without committing an overt act; the speaking is not always an overt act. Will the gentleman concede that speaking is not always an overt act?

Mr. BROWN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I should say yes, I will admit that. After having served here for seven years, I think I can very well admit that.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if thinking is not an overt act, I think that is another reason why we should not include it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, suppose I should speak to my friend there, suppose I should speak to Mr. Woodside; I am not participating in the movement. I am speaking—

Mr. WOODSIDE. That is the question of participation; that is not the question of the overt act, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. The overt act, Mr. Speaker, is in connection with the movement. The question of the participation was by my presence there.

Mr. WOODSIDE. The gentleman's defense is on the ground that he was not participating, and did not commit an overt act if we talked about the weather. If speaking is not an overt act maybe the gentleman would not be participating by putting in the amendment to the act. That is the thing that I think is really dangerous, putting those words in. May I suggest this, if a man attends a communistic meeting you say he is not committing an overt act and should not be found guilty. Suppose you had a Communistic parade of an organization which proposed to overthrow the government; would he be guilty of an overt act by parading if he would not be guilty by attending a meeting?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if his parading is simply the marching down the street, I would say that he would not be guilty. I can tell the gentleman exactly what I mean. There are many youngsters who march down the street with a parade. There are many people along the street who might join or march along with a parade. I think we are getting rather facetious, and I think the gentleman from Dauphin certainly knows the distinction between an overt act which has to do with a definite movement by being present and an act in furtherance of that activity.

Mr. WOODSIDE. That again, Mr. Speaker, is the question of participation in it, but I do not think that is a matter of the overt act. I think we could probably argue this all night, and I don't want to push it any further. I think the putting in of the words "by an overt act or acts" very substantially weakens the act, as the gentleman has admitted.

Mr. BROWN. We did not weaken the act, Mr. Speaker. We tried to extend the act and tried to get before the court something upon which the court could act, and that is the action in furtherance of the movement.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, we propose to vote against the amendments on this bill because it weakens the act rather than strengthens it in our opinion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 9), page 4, line 14, by inserting after the word "who" the following: "hereafter".

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 9), page 4, line 15, by inserting after the word "participate" the following: "by an overt act or acts."

The amendments were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the employment by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof of persons whose philosophy proposes the change of the government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States declaring inoperative any contract or civil service law or regulation providing for tenure in employment and repealing inconsistent acts

The first section was read

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 to 6, by striking out the following: "whose philosophy doctrine or" on line 1, and all of lines 2 to 6, both inclusive.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out the words "or the overthrow thereof" and inserting in lieu thereof: "who hereafter advocates and actively participates by an overt act or acts in a movement proposing a change in the form of Government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 8, by inserting after the word "causes" the following: "Provided, That all employees, not having the right to be heard, under any civil service or tenure law, on the question of his dismissal, shall have the right to appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of the county where he resides, which court, after hearing, on such notice to the petitioner and to the persons in charge of the agency by which he is employed, as the court shall designate, shall have power to affirm or reverse the action of such agency, as it shall deem proper. The decision of the court of common pleas shall be final. Said appeal as aforesaid shall operate as a supersedeas of any order. At such hearing, the burden of proof shall be on the Commonwealth or any political subdivision or authority or institution thereof as aforesaid."

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1, 2 and 3, by striking out the words "No person whose philosophy, doctrine or object or who is a member of any organization or group whose philosophy, doctrine or object proposes" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Any person who advocates, promotes, or teaches doctrines or principles other than the democratic ideals and principals as outlined or contained in the Constitution of the United States or who participates in any un-American or subversive activity or holds membership in or aids or supports any party, organization or group advocating"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out the words "be permitted to" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "not"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by inserting after the word "funds" the following: "or is supported thereby"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire that the Members vote for the amendment I offered and vote down the amendment offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner. I think the amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, so far as I have had the opportunity to peruse them, are vague, indefinite, and as the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, said not worth the paper they are written on.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in spite of the admonition placed upon me by the newspapermen who are trying to get away to a picnic, and in spite of the threat that my name will not be given one line in the newspapers, nevertheless I cannot accept the indictment of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, because I feel very sincerely that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, which I discussed before, merely mean that you must, as the gentleman from Dauphin said, commit treason before you could be dismissed.

Now, we are after the person who is going out and openly advocating and actively participating in overt acts against the government, of course, but the person that we fear and the person that we want to reach is not the person who will stand up and openly advocate the overthrow of the government, but as I said before in a speech in this House, it is the person who advocates or promotes or teaches, and if you permit this session of the Legislature to close with the amendments made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, you won't catch one of those skunks during the next two years. If that means that what I have stated here and what I propose here is not worth the paper it is written on, then I don't know anything about the American system of government nor do I know anything about protecting that system of government, protecting our children and protecting our people from that group who so insidiously undertake to undermine confidence in our government and are promoting a philosophy contrary to our government.
